Grooming Is Optional Until Nov. 3 Report

By ALAN JONES

Redwood High School athletics will have more hair and fewer coaches during the next month.

Through a din of shouted protests and roared threats of recall, the Tamalpais High School District board last night ordered a 30-day continuance of Supt. Robert D. Torrey's suspension of haircut rules laid down by the Redwood athletic department.

In another vote that fought its way through a welter of objections from the handful left of an audience that earlier numbered 700, the board ordered two committees to study the grooming rules and report to the board at its Nov. 3 meeting. (See another Tamalpais district story, page 39.)

Key questions to be answered, Trustee David D. Ring said, are who makes the grooming rules — individual coaches or athletic departments — and what constitutes a reasonable rule?

The board acted moments after Redwood track coach Stanley W. Tobiason took his stand on the side of ex-athletic director Robert J. Troppmann, who quit the Redwood directorship when Torrey suspended the hair rule. Tobiason said some of the coaches would not coach unless the grooming rule is restored. Tobiason said the coaches signed contracts under one set of rules which now have been changed, and "I for one will not work under the rule Mr. Torrey has passed."

It took nearly an hour for the mammoth hearing to get started. The board quickly found the Redwood little theater too little for the crowd, and ticked off some routine agenda matters while seats and microphones were set up in the gymnasium across the campus.

The audience split itself into factions in the bleachers like basketball fans, but a clear majority supported Troppmann.

The emotion cramming the issue was evident from the start as several booed and muttered at a presentation of the dispute's background by James L. Pierce, district director of instruction. Some

Courthouse Pact Gets Partial Nod

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

San Rafael City Council last night refused to lift zoning controls on the courthouse square or to commit the city to a quarter-million-dollar one-way streets program — two of the proposals in a "memorandum of agreement" in the courthouse property worked out by Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown and County Administrator Alan Bruce. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 9.)

Councilmen boggled also at wording of the memorandum which appeared to abandon the plan for providing underground parking on the property.

Result was that the memorandum, somewhat riddled, was referred to McCown and City Atty. David Menary Jr. for reworking. Menary said he would wait to see what county supervisors said about the same memorandum at their meeting today before starting revisions.

The McCown-Bruce agreement proposed:

1. The city would demolish the courthouse and fill the area to ground level, with its outlay for this (listed as item 4) to be repaid by the county after the square is sold to a developer. (Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles estimated demolition cost at $74,000 or less.)

2. The city could install a metered parking area in the property, not disturbing any of the present plantings.

3. The city would pay all maintenance costs.

5. The county would keep the courthouse annex for its own use or rental.

To "facilitate ultimate disposition of the property" the city would:

Remove all detailed zoning from the property; agree to seek solution elsewhere to its need for additional downtown parking; agree to close Court Street; agree to a one-way street pattern as proposed by traffic consultant D. Jackson Faustman; agree to cooperate with the county on lease or sale "with reasonable planning requirements."

Removal of the zoning promptly brought objections from Councilmen Frederick C. Robbins Jr. and John A. Miskimen, the latter saying he thought this was "a holdover from a former supervisor who never did understand" the zoning. He pointed out that the square is zoned for planned development, which permits a proposal differing from the precise zoning enacted by the city.

City Attorney Menary and David Fyfe, attorney for the Cheda estate, both warned against a commitment to close Court Street without making sure the underlying fee title belongs to the city.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that leaving the annex in county control would give the city no decision as to what kind of use a renter might make of it, and the council

Why Nixon Will Ignore Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today no one is more for peace than President Richard M. Nixon and that explains Nixon's comment that he would not be affected by the Oct. 15 antiwar demonstrations.

Nixon has come under criticism for his recent news conference comment that under no circumstances would he be affected by the student-called nation-wide demonstration to protest Vietnam War policy. The statement has irked many students.

Scott sought to explain the President's viewpoint after a leadership meeting at the White House.

The Pennsylvania senator commented he would like to hand the demonstrators a hand-lettered sign reading "Hurry up Hanoi" because he said "that's the problem."

Scott has been among Republican leaders appealing for a moratorium of 60 to 90 days on war policy criticism. He has said that there might be some chance of movement during such a period of time.

Scott was asked about the chances for some move towards peace and whether he was pulling back some from his forecast of possibly a better picture on the war situation.

"I have the hope of movement. I have the feeling that there will be movement," Scott said. "And I have the caution that I ought not to say anything more."

He said he added that caution "because I don't want to indicate I know more than I do."

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan added his comment that it is the administration's view the whole matter could be solved very quickly if Hanoi would agree to peace in Paris. Paris is where Hanoi could end the war most quickly and that's where they have not taken any moves, he added.

Adolph Eberhart, the first man to hold the title of mayor of Mill Valley and once Marin's oldest commuter, died today at the age of 102.

Eberhart, who had been declared one of California's 200 oldest citizens in August, died at the Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield where he had lived for the past three years.

Son of a 49er, Eberhart was born in San Francisco in the house his Swiss-born father built, the first brick one on Telegraph Hill.

He recalled his childhood for the Independent-Journal in his 100th birthday, maintainings, "We had a lot of fun, maybe more than boys do nowadays."

In 1889, Eberhart went to work for the White House department store in San Francisco and held that job until the store went out of business in January of 1965.

He was paymaster and had had no intention of quitting, commuting by bus from Mill Valley to San Francisco when he was 97.

For more than 50 years, he lived at 185 Molino Avenue in Mill Valley, in the house he and his late wife built in 1911.

From 1924 to 1936, he served on Mill Valley's governing body, becoming the first mayor in 1926 when the city changed from a board of trustees to the council form of government.

He was a member of Gate Parlor No. 29, Native Sons of the Golden West for more than three-quarters of a century and had served as secretary for 55 years.

He was also a member of Mount Moriah Lodge 4 of the Free and Accepted Masons which will direct his funeral.

Survivors are a son, Adolph J. Eberhart of Mill Valley; eight grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. William Ely, Kentfield.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

NEW ROLE FOR COURTHOUSE

Television Movie Crew Makes Marin Into 'Madison County'

For this week at least, the courthouse in San Rafael is not the Marin County Courthouse at all, but rather the Madison County Courthouse — erected in 1917, according to the sign over the main door. And the sheriff is not Louis P. Mountanos, but a mythical crimefighter named Rex Brandon.

The changes are the work of a movie crew which is in Marin filming a pilot feature for a 90-minute television series planned for next fall entitled, "Doug Selby, D.A." Doug Selby is the creation of mystery author Earl Stanley Gardner.

The film crew began shooting yesterday at the Marin Civic Center, which will be a rest home in the pilot. Shooting moved to downtown San Rafael today, as stars and extras in the proposed series worked outside the courthouse.

A large crowd gathered as actor Jim Hutton, who portrays Doug Selby, and costar JoAnn Pflug, who plays a newspaper reporter, worked in front of the camera.

One of the extras, a blond youngster, who steered his bicycle through a crowd of extras, scattering them as his role required, is Bill Hanks, 13, of Livermore, who said he works part time as a model and was called by the producers of the proposed series, Paisano Co. and 20th Century Fox, to come to San Rafael and bring his bike.

He said they had not told him how much he would be paid.

The extras — many of whom were wigged blondes in miniskirts — milled about the grounds. Some flopped on the grass between takes. Crew members bellowed instructions as San Rafael police kept away the curious.

Inside the courthouse, props had sprung up in the normally barren corridors. There was a phone booth with no phone. Bulletin boards had been put up. Old Red Cross and World War II recruiting posters decorated the walls.

One door said, "County Medical Examiner. Dr. Henry Marshall." He's imaginary, too.

Jeralyn Badgley, in charge of publicity, said Selby is a big city lawyer who becomes fed up with urbania and heads home to Madison County. He subsequently runs for district attorney and is elected — on a reform ticket, of course.

This afternoon's shooting was to feature a harrowing trip by guest star Leslie Nielsen (or a stunt man) down a ramp in front of the courthouse in a wheelchair.

Laird Says Vietnam Timetable Is Unwise

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today any unilateral timetable for withdrawing U.S. troops from Vietnam would hurt President Richard M. Nixon's efforts to negotiate peace.

"Knowing that American troops would be removed by a certain day, the Communist negotiators would be even more inclined to yield nothing, and even more encouraged to wait us out," Laird told the AFL-CIO convention.

He said Nixon's peace efforts —endorsed a few minutes earlier by the labor convention— were based on shifting more of the war burden to the South Vietnamese while continuing peace talks in Paris.

Any timetable for withdrawing more troops, Laird said, must be negotiated with the North Vietnamese in the Paris talks.

Laird thanked the approximately 1,000 labor delegates for their resolution supporting Nixon's peace efforts, and for AFL-CIO President George Meany's comment supporting Vietnamization of the war.

A young California delegate, Art Carter, 28, staged a losing one-man battle with the 75-year-old Meany over the Vietnam resolution.

Laird said Nixon's Vietnam policy offers the best hope of ending "heavy American involvement within a reasonable time."

Meat Boycott Leader Chides Panel For Muzzling Price Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife leader of a burgeoning meat boycott tangled with a House subcommittee today on just how to go about pinning the blame for the price rise.

Mrs. Ross De Lorenzo of Levittown, N.Y., said "the housewife is angry, confused and helpless in the face of all the statistics the experts throw around," and she was not convinced the subcommittee was interested in answering the housewife's questions.

She accused Chairman John S. Monagan, D-Conn., of refusing to let "experts" testify and said the hearing list was heavy with cattle organization representatives and congressmen from cattle-raising states.

Monagan appeared dumbfounded by the assault and said the main purpose of the three-day hearing is to find out why choice beef went up 10 cents a pound in the three-month period ending last June.

Monagan turned to the committee's staff administrator, Louis I. Freed, who angrily denied any group had complained to him about getting a chance to be heard.

That exchange was hardly over before Mrs. De Lorenzo found at least one committee member, livestockman Rep. John T. Myers, D-Ind., had some protests of his own.

"I'll tell you who you're hurting," he told the boycott leader. "You're hurting the farmer out there who raises this beef. You're not hurting the chain stores.

"Today your boycott is by choice," Myers said. "Next week you may not have that choice because the meat won't be there."

Mrs. De Lorenzo said she is convinced the farmer is not getting the extra money but wants to know who is.

She said the meat boycott she started on Long Island succeeded in bringing prices down 20 to 30 cents a pound in some local stores without a corresponding decrease in wholesale prices.

Mrs. De Lorenzo told newsmen later the boycott has spread to parts of Connecticut, Colorado and Virginia and has

Montreal Police Out On Strike

They are demanding a two-year wage hike of $1,900, $800 more than has been offered.

Sea Bed Nuclear Pact Worked Out

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union presented today a draft treaty to ban nuclear arms and other weapons of mass destruction from the sea bed.

The two superpowers agreed on a compromise joint draft after seven months of bargaining and submitted it to the 25-nation disarmament conference.

The draft of the treaty which the Soviet Union put before the conference on March 18 called for a ban on all types of weapons and military installations from the sea bed. The United States refused to accept this because it would ban such defensive devices as submarine tracking stations.

The Russians gave way on this point and accepted the provision of a draft submitted by the United States May 22 in which the ban would be restricted to nuclear arms and weapons of mass destruction.

In return, the United States dropped its proposal that the ban come into force at the three-mile limit and accepted the Soviet 12-mile limit. This was favored also by most other delegations at the conference.

The United States also agreed to a Soviet paragraph in the preamble saying the two nations are "convinced that this treaty constitutes a step towards the exclusion of the sea bed, the ocean floor and the subsoil there of from the arms race, and (are) determined to continue negotiations concerning further measures leading to this end."

The treaty would come into force after ratification by the United States, the Soviet Union and 20 other nations.

States ratifying the treaty would have the right to verify the activities of other participating countries on the ocean floor, beyond the 12-mile limit, but "without interfering with such activities or otherwise infringing rights recognized under international law, including the freedoms of the high seas."

To soothe fears expressed by some countries which claim sovereignty beyond the 12-mile limit, the draft stressed that "nothing in this treaty shall be interpreted as supporting or prejudicing the position of any state party with respects to rights or claims which such state party may assert . . . related to waters off its coasts, or to the sea bed and ocean floor."

Japan, Detroit Cut Volkswagen's Market

DETROIT (AP) — Germany's Volkswagen, still easily the best selling foreign car in the United States, has had a sales slump and faces stiffer competition from automakers in Japan and Detroit.

During the first nine months of 1969, Japan's Toyota has increased its U.S. sales by 94 per cent over the same period in 1968. With 93,427 sales, it leaped into the No. 2 position among imports, replacing General Motors' German-made Opel.

Another Japanese make, Datsun, had an estimated 58 per cent increase to 63,709 sales and took over the No. 4 spot, which had belonged to British Leyland, marketers of MG, Austin, Jaguar, Rover and Triumph.

James Ryan, Toyota's assistant national sales manager in the United States, said the number of dealers handling Toyotas has increased from 728 on Oct. 1, 1968, to 752 on Oct. 1, 1969. More important, he adds, the number of dealers handling Volkswagens only has gone from 329 to 406.

Two American automakers are now marketing cars priced under $2,000. Ford's Maverick has a manufacturer's suggested retail price of $1,995 and American Motors' Hornet is priced at $1,994.

Toyota's Corolla four-door sedan has an average U.S. price of $1,790.

The average manufacturer's price for a four-door sedan in Toyota's bread-and-butter series, the Corona, is $2,066.

Volkswagen sales slipped by 9.2 per cent during the first nine months of the year to 396,993 compared with 437,208 in 1968. Arthur Railton, vice president of Volkswagen of America, said the firm's share of total U.S. car sales has since been steadily increasing.

Haynsworth Willing To Form Trust Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth says he would be willing to put his financial holdings under a trusteeship to "avoid any further suggestion of conflict of interest" if the Senate approves his appointment to the Supreme Court.

This word from the White House yesterday came as both supporters and critics of the nomination worked to ready reports on Haynsworth's fitness to sit on the high court.

Haynsworth's leading opponent, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., had been going through a stack of financial records. He said a preliminary look had led him to actively fight the nomination.

On the other side, nomination backers had prepared their defense of Haynsworth's civil rights decisions while a judge on the Fourth U.S. Court of Appeals.

In making the trust announcement, the White House said the idea came from the wealthy South Carolina jurist himself and not from President Richard M. Nixon who is fighting to win Senate confirmation of the nomination.

Haynsworth, contacted in South Carolina, confirmed he had made the suggestion to the administration last week. He said he had not thought out how the trust would work.

"But I'm agreeable to any agreement that would avoid any further suggestion of conflict of interest," he said.

Haynsworth has been attacked for ruling on cases involving firms in which he had financial connections.

In the past some executive appointees have established trusteeships while they have been in office, turning management of their financial affairs over to a trustee to avoid conflict of interest situations.

Joint Chiefs Boss Sees No Peace Break

SAIGON (AP) — The chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff indicated today that he doesn't share Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott's expectation of major military developments in Vietnam soon.

The Pennsylvania senator said yesterday there may be a breakthrough in the war in the next 60 to 90 days. He said the breakthrough could occur in either the diplomatic or military area but he "would shade it a little toward the military."

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, ending a four-day visit to Vietnam, was asked at a news conference if any major military developments can be expected in the next 60 days.

MAKES REFERRAL

"Well, you'd have to ask General Giap that question," he replied. "I'm not in a position to answer it." He referred to Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister.

Wheeler also indicated there had been no major shift in American battlefield tactics.

Asked whether the recent low level of enemy activity had resulted in a scaling down of U.S. offensive operations and a shift toward a defensive posture, he replied that Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of American forces in Vietnam, is "following the policy that he was following when I was here in July."

Wheeler said this is not so much a "defensive" policy as a "pre-emptive, protective course of action in line with the change in the enemy's tactics which have been quite marked."

PREVENTS BUILDUPS

U.S. military experts say this "pre-emptive" policy of widespread patrolling by small units has prevented enemy buildups for large-scale ground attacks and that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are now relying to a great extent on rocket and mortar attacks which keep their own casualties to a minimum.

The U.S. Command reported 14 enemy shelling attacks during the night, a sharp drop from the two-night total of 72 reported Saturday and Sunday nights.

South Vietnamese headquarters said four civilians were killed and 18 were wounded.

Only light ground skirmishes were reported, with U.S. forces claiming 31 enemy dead, most of them killed by helicopter gunships.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower has received the highest award of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, a bronze chest.

In one of her infrequent public appearances, the widow of Dwight D. Wisenhower attended an awards dinner sopnsored by the central Pennsylvania chapter of the society at nearby Camp Hill yesterday.

She also received a gavel, a plaque and a leather bound album.

Statue Bombed

CHICAGO (AP) — A bomb late last night damaged the statue of a policeman that marked the site of the 1886 Haymarket Square riot in which seven policemen were killed and scores of persons injures.

No one was reported injured in yesterday's explosion.

The bomb ripped the 10-foot statue off a 12-foot pedestal, broke windows on both sides of the street and hurled debris of the statue over the area.

Anti-Maoists Act

HONG KONG (AP) — Anti-Maoists burned a police station in Canton and blew up a trade union building and a factory last week during Communist China's 20th anniversary celebrations, Chinese arriving from the South China metropolis reported today.

A large quantity of anti-Mao pamphlets was also found near the trade union building, they said.

Beret Is Confident Of Acquittal

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Green Beret Capt. John J. McCarthy Jr. says he is "confident I will be acquitted" of the murder of a Cambodian aide in Vietnam, for which he spent nearly two years in confinement.

McCarthy started a month-long home leave with his family yesterday after his release by the Army pending his appeal to the Court of Military Review. He had been held at the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., since January 1968.

Asked whether the dropping of charges against eight other Green Berets accused of slaying a South Vietnamese agent might have led to his release, McCarthy said, "The only parallel is that we all belong to the same unit."

McCarthy, 26, flew to Phoenix and was met by his wife, his three children and his parents.

"It's good to be home," he said. "I've been assigned to Fort Huachuca, (in Arizona) but I haven't been told yet what my duty station will be."

One of the newest additions to the Independent-Journal's staff is an International Business Machines computer — to gobble up long lines and turn them into short ones.

The computer justifies lines to fit newspaper columns, making its own decisions on where to divide words.

It handles about 1,100 characters of key strokes a minute, spewing out about twice as much as a good operator on a linotype machine, according to Ernest H. Fingerlos, chief machinist.

The computer's work was formerly done by operators, who perforated tape for automatic typesetting machines. However, it took a significant portion of the operator's time.

The computer can also reprocess wire service tape, turning it into wider settings if desired.

It keeps track of the number of lines an operator has set in a day; the number of key strokes, and the average.

Currently it is using only a small portion of its capacity, but is expected to begin added duties soon for the advertising department.

Adapting complex devices, such as a computer, to newspaper use is just one example of new gains cited each year during National Newspaper Week, which began yesterday.

A SAD CRUSADE

Linkletter To Use Family Example

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Art Linkletter says parents should learn the truth about drugs, alcohol and narcotics— "and get this information to their children in a rememberable, sensible, nonpanic way. Repetitively."

Today, in private, graveside services at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, the Linkletter family buried daughter Diane, 20, whose death plunge Saturday he blames on LSD—"a tiger in her bloodstream."

From the fifth grade up, the entertainer says, children "should be grounded as thoroughly in the dangers of putting chemicals into your system as they are in walking across a superhighway with their eyes shut."

The television star and businessman, already a lecturer to college and other groups on "the permissiveness of this society," said:

"I intend now to step that up and give it more more point. I think my daughter's death is going to be paid for many, many times by the kinds of things I can say and get done, using this as an example."

Diane, youngest of five Linkletter children, plunged from the kitchen window of a sixth-floor apartment where she had lived about eight months. By phone, from seclusion with his wife Lois and son Robert, 24, in their Lake Tahoe cabin, Linkletter said:

"Since this has happened to Diane, you cannot imagine the number of people who have called, wired, written me—important people, well known, who have daughters in sanitariums, sons in sanitariums, children who have killed themselves. They have hushed this up as a terrible family secret.

"All of a sudden they're coming out and telling me"... his voice choked and halted ... "They'll join me—"

In publicizing these evils?

"Yes," he said.

Linkletter, 57, said he doesn't have all the answers, but "I've been as good a parent as I could possibly be, I think . . .

"We have tried to keep our children up to date on what the dangerous things are, but perhaps we did not bear down as hard as we should have.

"Diane, of all the children, was always the most daring. She was the most emotionally up and down.

"Of course, becoming an actress, as she was training to be, was absolutely perfect for her because she had the emotional highs and emotional lows that could have done a lot for her as a career actress. She would charm the birds right out of the trees.

"So when I heard, indirectly, that she might be going with a group that was experimenting around, I brought it out, as I do everything

"I pointed out to her the obvious dangers. She agreed and with consummate skill acted out the part that she would never do it again. Obviously she did it again.

"Her mother would have talks with her, good long talks about what was going on among the children of today. My daughter would tell Lois what some of the other girls were doing and how worried she was.

"We now know that she probably was voicing worries about herself, worries that began to gnaw at her. She was concerned that she had quit and was having recurring highs she couldn't control.

"Over the months she found she had a tiger in her bloodstream.

"Apparently what finally happened was she was despondent over a spat with her boy friend and took a much stronger dose of this poison than she should have. She was worried that she would never come out of it mentally, and this led to her death.

Mental Illness Plea In Mosque Trial Fire Denied

JERUSALEM (AP) — Michael Denis Rohan's attorney admitted in court today that the young Australian mystic set fire to the Al Aksah Mosque on Aug. 21 but claimed he was guiltless because of "mental illness."

The insanity plea on the second day of the trial failed to win a suspension of the proceedings. The three Israeli judges agreed with the prosecution that the hearing should continue.

Defense attorney Yitzhak Tunik claimed the 28-year-old sheepshearer "suffered from mental disease as a result of which he was not in a position to be of lucid mind . . .

"As a result of the mental disease the accused suffered during that period, he cannot be punished in accordance with the charges in the indictment."

Tunik did not specify the disease and requested that any medical examination ordered by the court be delayed indefinitely.

"It is impossible for me to reveal more than I have said at this stage," he added.

At the opening of the trial yesterday, a police superintendent testified that Rohan, in a detailed confession, told police he set fire to the Jerusalem mosque to clear the site for the rebuilding there of Solomon's Temple.

Rohan is "not punishable by law" because of his mental condition, "which rendered him incapable of creating criminal intentions," Tunik told the court.

Israeli Atty. Gen. Meir Shamgar asked for the trial to continue "despite Rohan's claim of mental instability."

"Let us prove the facts," the chief prosecutor said, adding that Rohan's mental condition could only be decided after all 43 prosecution witnesses were heard.

It was obvious that the Israeli government was determined to get the maximum publicity for its case against Rohan. Through the trial the government seeks to refute Arab charges that Israeli occupation of the Old City since the 1967 war was responsible for the fire.

The judges consulted for 10 minutes, then ruled that the trial would continue. As they talked, Rohan watched from his bulletproof glass booth at the left side of the stage in the convention hall-courtroom. His chin was cupped in his hands as he stared at the jurists.

Auto Theft Charge Denied By Suspect

Robert Egan, 27, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of stealing a car Friday.

Coaches Rebuffed In Battle Of Longhairs

Pierce and Redwood principal Donald Kreps disagreed over what was the grooming rule before Torrey's action. Pierce said the controversy arose because Redwood's athletic department had set a departmentwide rule this fall instead of leaving it to individual coaches.

Kreps said the school has always had a departmental rule. When Pierce's response drew boos, Kreps took the podium again to object. "If we solve this, we won't do it with boos and handclapping," he said. "We will do it with reason."

The mood quieted briefly but rose again as speakers from the audience teed off on both sides.

"Hair grooming is not the real problem," said Vaughn Marker, of Larkspur. "We feel strongly that a major part of the education of our children . . . is exposure to discipline." Coaches are charged with the responsibility to teach discipline, he said, and "the authority cannot be separated from the responsibility."

Speaking for the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, Kenneth A. Anderson of Tamalpais High School said the group opposes "quasi-military policies" used to deny students the right to take part in activities, and supported Torrey's action.

A Tamalpais student, Jeff Einstein, called it "ridiculous to see so many people here . . . over such a ridiculous thing as . . . the amount of hair on someone's head."

But Redwood athlete Jerry Prio said 240 of 280 athletes at the school have signed a petition backing Troppmann.

The short hair policy is restrictive and its suspension "is in order," said Robert Bachelder, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers' Association.

Agreeing, was Tamalpais track coach Bruce Grant, who said his school changed the hair rule last year and found "morale went up, not down" on the track team. When the board set policy last year, he said, it allowed each coach in the district to set rules for his own team.

But in state regional competition, Grant said, one of his long haired mile runners was shoved off the track by other "short haired runners full of vim and zeal" and failed to qualify because of it.

His statement was greeted with a chorus of jeering commiseration. "Ask yourself," Grant said. "Is this the kind of sportsmanship you want your children to have?"

Redwood athlete Rick Puccinelli backed Troppmann and the hair rule, but said it couldn't be explained to a nonathlete.

"Why cut your hair? You're asking the intangible," he said. "Can you explain God to an atheist? . . . why the first man climbed Everest? . . . If it is an athlete's desire to be the best he can be, a haircut is a trivial matter."

The board was threatened with recall by Willis C. Bohn of Tiburon, who said he was "amazed and appalled" at happenings in the district. He said 10 to 15 per cent of the population and teachers are "ramrodding ideas down the majority's neck." He charged Torrey with trying five times to "get sensitivity training past the board."

Chairman Bette Wallace said Bohn was "absolutely incorrect" about that, that Torrey had been the one who ordered a stop to sensitivity training.

As Bohn talked of "kids coming to school with bare feet and hair down to their belly button," a news photographer who had been working all evening approached.

"You get out of here!" Bohn shouted, shying from the mop-haired photographer. The two stood nose to nose and spoke inaudibly for a moment before Bohn finished his comments to the board.

"If the athletes want a haircut, that's their right," said Redwood pupil Charles Tannehill said. "But if we can . . . bring some long hairs to athletics, maybe they can learn something.

Former Redwood track athlete Phillip Russell said the track team was not happy with the hair rule in 1968, and a petition against the short hair requirement was signed by 75 per cent of the team.

Troppmann's backers insisted that the athletic department should have the right to set grooming rules for athletes, but Torrey quoted one of Troppmann's letters in the case to show Troppmann was standing up for the right of individual coaches to set the rules.

In his letter, Troppmann throughout referred to the coach's right to set rules and be responsible for his team.

The board got a vehement ticking off from James Pride of Corte Madera, who scored the trustees for delaying a decision. "After ten days you still can't iron out what board policy is. I say wash your linen!" he shouted to a surge of applause.

Equally forceful was Valmar A. Schaaf of San Anselmo, who said the device of submerging individuality is "the refuge of an individual who cannot lead and must force" his men.

"I question whether we want to build the blind discipline of Hitler's Germany," Schaaf said.

After more than two hours of public comment, the board closed the hearing, but there were more comments to come. As the board discussed what action to take, several in the audience chimed in again with comment and criticism.

It was Bohn who hurled the recall threat. As the board started to vote to continue the haircut rule suspension, Bohn shouted, "If you don't make a decision . . . you won't be here next year. I'll personally see to that."

Further last-minute support of Troppmann came from Dr. Arnold Nutting, school doctor for the district for 24 years. "I recommend . . . a uniform hair grooming policy be made purely for medical and psychological reasons," he said. He offered to elaborate on the reasons when the board had time.

Daniel F. Deedy of Ross appealed to the board to order Torrey to "call the play back. He made a bum call on the 24th" when he rescinded the hair rule.

The board id not. Instead, it ordered the discipline committee, appointed last night, and a committee including faculty, coaches and board members to report to the board Nov. 3 on three questions — who shall set grooming rules, what constitutes a reasonable rule, and what legal counsel says about such rules.

Petaluma Collision Injures Teen-Ager

A Petaluma teen-ager was injured at 7:20 a.m. today when the car in which she was riding struck a parked car at 324 Howard Street, Petaluma.

Ellen Cuppoletti, 14, of 411 Cherry Street, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with bruises. Police had no details of the accident, but said the parked car was owned by Francis X. Steady of 324 Howard Street.

Burglar Is Routed At Medical Center

A burglar was routed last night from the Camino Alto Medical Center, 61 Camino Alto, Mill Valley, leaving behing four packages of pills in the parking lot, police reported.

Police said officers, making a routine check of the building, heard a man running through the parking lot and later found the pills nearby. Search of the area showed no trace of the burglar, police said.

Chamber Backing Seashore Purchase

The Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board yesterday adopted a resolution calling for acquitition of remaining property to be included in the Point Reyes National Seashore, secretary Carol Healy reported.

The board also agreed to become cooperating members of the Save Our Seashore Association, Mrs. Healy said.

About 150 backers of Father Groppi, most of them University of Wisconsin students, marched through the congested business district around the Capitol last night.

"We are digging in for a long siege," said Hubert James of Washington, D.C., associate director of the National Welfare Rights Organization.

The legislature voted the contempt citation against the priest last Wednesday. The next day he posted $50 bail on a county charge of disorderly conduct arising from the disorder at the Capitol, but was detained on the legislative citation.

agreed to add a proviso that any rental would be subject to city approval.

Nobody liked the idea of writing off the parking, although Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the intent had been merely to indicate that a developer buying the square would not himself be required to put in underground parking.

The council chamber was about half filled with businessmen and downtown property owners responding to a chamber of commerce invitation to participate. Several of them spoke.

Mozart Kaufman, a trustee of the Harry Albert estate, urged that the council revive consideration of city purchase of the square, claiming that would make its sale to a developer much simpler. Mayor Bettini retorted the city just does not have the money.

Clifford S. Lund, chairman of the chamber of commerce courthouse committee, said the chamber agrees with Kaufman but the city-county agreement would serve for interim control. He urged against abandoning the plan for underground parking, which he said was needed for all downtown traffic.

City Attorney Menary's suggestion that the memorandum be approved "in substance" but with revision of details to meet the objections was accepted by the council.

Novatan Is Nabbed Fleeing A Restaurant

Edgar Raymond Hale of 5935 Redwood Highway was discovered in the front dining area of the Petite Auberge Restaurant at 704 Fourth Street at 2:42 a.m. by police and the owner summoned by a silent burglar alarm.

Hale broke through a bar door and tried to run out the front door, police reported.

Nothing was reported missing from the restaurant by owner Paul De Vaux who called from his home at 539 Thyme Place to open the front door for police.

Hale allegedly entered the restaurant through an open roof area, police said.

He was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary and held to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Shopping Center Site Plan Viewed

A preliminary site plan for a nine-acre shopping center at the northeast corner of Camino Alto and Miller Avenue was approved last night by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill reported today.

The site plan, submitted by Bothin real estate, calls for a supermarket, large drug store, bank, service station and several satellite shops. It has 83,000 square feet of building space, he said.

The committee last night held a lengthy discussion of landscaping of the site and of traffic flow, McGill said, but approved the plan in its basic concept.

In other action, the committee named Dartmond Cherk its chairman and Dorrie Bassett vice-chariman.

Terra Linda False Arrest Suit Dropped

A $200,000 false arrest suit filed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco more than a year ago by a Terra Linda man on behalf of one of his sons has been dismissed.

The action was filed by Bert E. Elkin of 1040 Las Ovejas on behalf of Eric Ralph Elkin, then 17, after an altercation with police in front of his home Aug. 9, 1968.

Elkin and Eric and another son, Gerald Mark Elkin, 16, were arrested after Gerald was stopped in front of his home and cited for speeding, according to sheriff's deputies.

Gerald was arrested for not signing his citation as a promise to appear in court. Eric was accused of interference with Fire Chief George A. Walser of Tiburon, a special deputy of the Marin Sheriff, while the officer was arresting Gerald.

The father was charged with disturbing the peace and interfering with an officer.

It has been dormant for months and was finally dismissed this week, at Elkin's request.

Apartments Plan Vetoed By Hub Panel

Plans by a Tiburon developer for 40 senior citizens' apartments were blocked last night by the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

The commission objected to the density of development proposed by Edwin N. Wicander, who sought apartment zoning and a density variance for the property at Magnolia Avenue and Cedar Street to allow the project. Only 23 apartments could be built under present density rules, assistant city planner John O'Rourke reported.

Wicander said senior citizens, with no children and fewer persons per apartment, would produce less actual density than 23 family apartments, but O'Rourke said the commission denied his application on grounds there is no assurance the apartments would be used permanently for seniors.

Wicander's project was to be leased to the Marin County Housing Authority.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

OFFICE — Denied a request by John H. Meisenheimer to open a chiropractic office in a residence at 1412 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Meisenheimer said 75 per cent of the building would be used for the office, but the city ordinance limits home occupation use to 25 per cent, O'Rourke said.

GARAGE — Granted a use permit to allow Richard T. Grohs to operate a car repair shop at 640 Sir Francis Drake. Grohs was directed to have no outdoor storage of parking on the property, to have only one car repair service, and to remove existing gasoline pumps.

USE PERMIT — Denied a request by Charles L. Irvine to let a janitor-overseer live in at 573 Scenic Avenue. The commission felt the use would constitute a rezoning to duplex use, O'Rourke said.

APARTMENTS — Heard a favorable report from soil engineers on a proposal by Grant Perkins and John P. McInnis for a planned development of 34 town houses off Essex Avenue. The commission ordered a special meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 15 in the council chamber to hear the development proposal, plus Perkins' proposal to adjust property lines to accommodate the development. Perkins owns the adjoining property as well.

POSTPONEMENTS — Held to the Oct. 20 meeting a hearing on problems of nonconforming multi-family uses, and an application by Anna Ghezzi for apartment zoning of a lot at 158 Tunstead Avenue.

Voting Light In Marin City

Voting for five new members of the Marin City Council was reported as very light at noon nomic Opportunity Council in Marin City.

of that type being made in my presence—no, sir," Duellman testified.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting subcommittee chairman ordered aides to request the appearance tomorrow of the police chiefs of Chicago and Kansas City to make clear whether or not they knew the guns they gave Turner were for the Army or for his personal use.

Senators pressed Turner on the issue and Ribicoff asked: "But how would you feel about . . . signing a statement that is so patently false?."

"Sir, this is hindsight," Turner replied. "And I recognize I should not have. But when that man tells me it is okay, I have great faith in that man because he is a fine chief of police."

"In other words," Ribicoff asked, "you and the superintendent were engaging in a conspiracy to evade the laws of the state of Illinois?"

"No sir," Turner said. "I was not familiar with the laws of the state of Illinois."

Turner's lawyer, Walter J. Bonner, later agreed Turner was misguided in signing the receipt stating the guns were to go to the Army. But he denied any conspiracy with the Chicago police superintendent.

The hearing room was full and dozens of persons stood in the rear of the room as Turner said he cannot account for all the weapons he received from the two police departments and from Fort Bliss, Tex. because his record book could not be found.

Turner said he submitted incomplete gun records to the committee which he compiled from memory.

"Sir, that book would be to my advantage today and whoever has it I would appreciate it if they would return it," he told Ribicoff.

Turner identified checks payable to him from the Pine State Gun Shop, Fayetteville, N.C., totaling $3,013.95 and said he believed that amount included payment for some pistols he received from Chicago.

But he said in the absence of his original records he could provide no details.

Turner, testifying under oath, said that on his last visit to Chicago to pick up guns, Conlisk knew that he was retired from the Army.

Turner said this made no difference because Conlisk knew the guns were for his personal use anyway.

Turner, who said he is a well-known gun collector and gunsmith in Army circles, said the guns from Fort Worth have been confiscated by the U.S. Customs Service and were "mostly junk." He said he had been told he was free to cannibalize them for parts, if he so desired.

Many of the guns were destroyed after being stripped for usable parts, Turner said. But he said he could not remember how many were cannibalized, how many destroyed, how many traded and how many sold.

Although Turner said he had been a gun trader for more than 20 years he testified he could not remember the names of any other shops he did business with.

Demos For Bigger Pension Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits effective no later than Dec. 1 was endorsed today by House Democrats.

"This is the minimum necessary to bring Social Security levels up to the spiraling cost of living and it is actuarially sound," said Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, who proposed the action at a caucus of the Democratic House members.

President Richard M. Nixon has recommended a 10 per cent increase in benefits, effective next April 1. And several other suggestions have been put forth since.

The House Ways and Means Committee has scheduled hearings on the Social Security proposals for Oct. 15.

She said the group, known as For Lower Prices, asks housewives to buy no meat for a week and only three times a week thereafter.

She said permission to testify had been refused Dr. Ralph Reuter, executive director of the Metropolitan Consumer Council in New York, and a representative of the National Farmers Union on grounds the witness list was filled.

The subcommittee staff said the farmers union had submitted its request after the witness list was filled but had been invited to submit written testimony for the record.

Sausalito Women Cyclists Injured

Two Sausalito women were reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with injuries suffered Sunday when their motorcycle hit a car at Bridgeway and Harbor Drive just outside Sausalito.

Patricia Elizabeth Kavanaugh, 22, of 28 Marie Street had cuts on the left knee, multiple scrapes and bruises and fractures of both wrists. Her roommate, Constance Mayer, 22, was being treated for a concussion and possible internal injuries.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Kavanaugh's motorcycle struck the rear of a car driven by Philip Leslie Couchman, 37, of Sacramento, as he was halted for a stoplight at 11:50 a.m.

Discussion Slated On Black Society

The "Black Perspective in Our Society", the first in a series of discussions sponsored by St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church of Marin City, will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday at 396 Pine Hill Road, Apt. 12, Mill Valley.

Peter Mutunga, a native of Kenya, and a student at the College of Marin, and Mrs. Dorothy Mutunga, whose husband, Steven, teaches Swahili and African culture at Tamalpais High School, will participate. Members of the Black Panther Party will present background material at other of the October meetings, to be held at various homes.

Talbot Named To Sanitary Board

Bertram J. Talbot, former head of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, was named last night to fill the vacancy on the Tiburon Sanitary District board, panel president James Murray reported today.

Foundation Ruined

Pierce and Redwood principal Donald Kreps disagreed over what was the grooming rule before Torrey's action. Pierce said the controversy arose because Redwood's athletic department had set a departmentwide rule this fall instead of leaving it to individual coaches.

Kreps said the school has always had a departmental rule. When Pierce's response drew boos, Kreps took the podium again to object. "If we solve this, we won't do it with boos and handclapping," he said. "We will do it with reason."

The mood quieted briefly but rose again as speakers from the audience teed off on both sides.

"Hair grooming is not the real problem," said Vaughn Marker, of Larkspur. "We feel strongly that a major part of the education of our children . . . is exposure to discipline." Coaches are charged with the responsibility to teach discipline, he said, and "the authority cannot be separated from the responsibility."

Speaking for the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, Kenneth A. Anderson of Tamalpais High School said the group opposes "quasi-military policies" used to deny students the right to take part in activities, and supported Torrey's action.

A Tamalpais student, Jeff Einstein, called it "ridiculous to see so many people here . . . over such a ridiculous thing as . . . the amount of hair on someone's head."

But Redwood athlete Jerry Prio said 240 of 280 athletes at the school have signed a petition backing Troppmann.

The short hair policy is restrictive and its suspension "is in order," said Robert Bachelder, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers' Association.

Agreeing, was Tamalpais track coach Bruce Grant, who said his school changed the hair rule last year and found "morale went up, not down" on the track team. When the board set policy last year, he said, it allowed each coach in the district to set rules for his own team.

But in state regional competition, Grant said, one of his long haired mile runners was shoved off the track by other "short haired runners full of vim and zeal" and failed to qualify because of it.

His statement was greeted with a chorus of jeering commiseration. "Ask yourself," Grant said. "Is this the kind of sportsmanship you want your children to have?"

Redwood athlete Rick Puccinelli backed Troppmann and the hair rule, but said it couldn't be explained to a nonathlete.

"Why cut your hair? You're asking the intangible," he said. "Can you explain God to an atheist? . . . why the first man climbed Everest? . . . If it is an athlete's desire to be the best he can be, a haircut is a trivial matter."

The board was threatened with recall by Willis C. Bohn of Tiburon, who said he was "amazed and appalled" at happenings in the district. He said 10 to 15 per cent of the population and teachers are "ramrodding ideas down the majority's neck." He charged Torrey with trying five times to "get sensitivity training past the board."

Chairman Bette Wallace said Bohn was "absolutely incorrect" about that, that Torrey had been the one who ordered a stop to sensitivity training.

As Bohn talked of "kids coming to school with bare feet and hair down to their belly button," a news photographer who had been working all evening approached.

"You get out of here!" Bohn shouted, shying from the mop-haired photographer. The two stood nose to nose and spoke inaudibly for a moment before Bohn finished his comments to the board.

"If the athletes want a haircut, that's their right," said Redwood pupil Charles Tannehill said. "But if we can . . . bring some long hairs to athletics, maybe they can learn something.

Former Redwood track athlete Phillip Russell said the track team was not happy with the hair rule in 1968, and a petition against the short hair requirement was signed by 75 per cent of the team.

Troppmann's backers insisted that the athletic department should have the right to set grooming rules for athletes, but Torrey quoted one of Troppmann's letters in the case to show Troppmann was standing up for the right of individual coaches to set the rules.

In his letter, Troppmann throughout referred to the coach's right to set rules and be responsible for his team.

The board got a vehement ticking off from James Pride of Corte Madera, who scored the trustees for delaying a decision. "After ten days you still can't iron out what board policy is. I say wash your linen!" he shouted to a surge of applause.

Equally foreceful was Valmar A. Schaaf of San Anselmo, who said the device of submerging individuality is "the refuge of an individual who cannot lead and must force" his men.

"I question whether we want to build the blind discipline of Hitler's Germany," Schaaf said.

After more than two hours of public comment, the board closed the hearing, but there were more comments to come. As the board discussed what action to take, several in the audience chimed in again with comment and criticism.

It was Bohn who hurled the recall threat. As the board started to vote to continue the haircut rule suspension, Bohn shouted, "If you don't make a decision . . . you won't be here next year. I'll personally see to that."

Further last-minute support of Troppmann came from Dr. Arnold Nutting, school doctor for the district for 24 years. "I recommend . . . a uniform hair grooming policy be made purely for medical and psychological reasons," he said. He offered to elaborate on the reasons when the board had time.

Daniel F. Deedy of Ross appealed to the board to order Torrey to "call the play back. He made a bum call on the 24th" when he rescinded the hair rule.

The board id not. Instead, it ordered the discipline committee, appointed last night, and a committee including faculty, coaches and board members to report to the board Nov. 3 on three questions — who shall set grooming rules, what constitutes a reasonable rule, and what legal counsel says about such rules.

Petaluma Collision Injures Teen-Ager

A Petaluma teen-ager was injured at 7:20 a.m. today when the car in which she was riding struck a parked car at 324 Howard Street, Petaluma.

Ellen Cuppoletti, 14, of 411 Cherry Street, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with bruises. Police had no details of the accident, but said the parked car was owned by Francis X. Steady of 324 Howard Street.

Burglar Is Routed At Medical Center

A burglar was routed last night from the Camino Alto Medical Center, 61 Camino Alto, Mill Valley, leaving behing four packages of pills in the parking lot, police reported.

Police said officers, making a routine check of the building, heard a man running through the parking lot and later found the pills nearby. Search of the area showed no trace of the burglar, police said.

Chamber Backing Seashore Purchase

The Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board yesterday adopted a resolution calling for acquitition of remaining property to be included in the Point Reyes National Seashore, secretary Carol Healy reported.

The board also agreed to become cooperating members of the Save Our Seashore Association, Mrs. Healy said.

About 150 backers of Father Groppi, most of them University of Wisconsin students, marched through the congested business district around the Capitol last night.

"We are digging in for a long siege," said Hubert James of Washington, D.C., associate director of the National Welfare Rights Organization.

The legislature voted the contempt citation against the priest last Wednesday. The next day he posted $50 bail on a county charge of disorderly conduct arising from the disorder at the Capitol, but was detained on the legislative citation.

agreed to add a proviso that any rental would be subject to city approval.

Nobody liked the idea of writing off the parking, although Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said the intent had been merely to indicate that a developer buying the square would not himself be required to put in underground parking.

The council chamber was about half filled with businessmen and downtown property owners responding to a chamber of commerce invitation to participate. Several of them spoke.

Mozart Kaufman, a trustee of the Harry Albert estate, urged that the council revive consideration of city purchase of the square, claiming that would make its sale to a developer much simpler. Mayor Bettini retorted the city just does not have the money.

Clifford S. Lund, chairman of the chamber of commerce courthouse committee, said the chamber agrees with Kaufman but the city-county agreement would serve for interim control. He urged against abandoning the plan for underground parking, which he said was needed for all downtown traffic.

City Attorney Menary's suggestion that the memorandum be approved "in substance" but with revision of details to meet the objections was accepted by the council.

Novatan Is Nabbed Fleeing A Restaurant

Edgar Raymond Hale of 5935 Redwood Highway was discovered in the front dining area of the Petite Auberge Restaurant at 704 Fourth Street at 2:42 a.m. by police and the owner summoned by a silent burglar alarm.

Hale broke through a bar door and tried to run out the front door, police reported.

Nothing was reported missing from the restaurant by owner Paul De Vaux who called from his home at 539 Thyme Place to open the front door for police.

Hale allegedly entered the restaurant through an open roof area, police said.

He was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary and held to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Shopping Center Site Plan Viewed

A preliminary site plan for a nine-acre shopping center at the northeast corner of Camino Alto and Miller Avenue was approved last night by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill reported today.

The site plan, submitted by Bothin real estate, calls for a supermarket, large drug store, bank, service station and several satellite shops. It has 83,000 square feet of building space, he said.

The committee last night held a lengthy discussion of landscaping of the site and of traffic flow, McGill said, but approved the plan in its basic concept.

In other action, the committee named Dartmond Cherk its chairman and Dorrie Bassett vice-chariman.

Terra Linda False Arrest Suit Dropped

A $200,000 false arrest suit filed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco more than a year ago by a Terra Linda man on behalf of one of his sons has been dismissed.

The action was filed by Bert E. Elkin of 1040 Las Ovejas on behalf of Eric Ralph Elkin, then 17, after an altercation with police in front of his home Aug. 9, 1968.

Elkin and Eric and another son, Gerald Mark Elkin, 16, were arrested after Gerald was stopped in front of his home and cited for speeding, according to sheriff's deputies.

Gerald was arrested for not signing his citation as a promise to appear in court. Eric was accused of interference with Fire Chief George A. Walser of Tiburon, a special deputy of the Marin Sheriff, while the officer was arresting Gerald.

The father was charged with disturbing the peace and interfering with an officer.

It has been dormant for months and was finally dismissed this week, at Elkin's request.

Apartments Plan Vetoed By Hub Panel

Plans by a Tiburon developer for 40 senior citizens' apartments were blocked last night by the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

The commission objected to the density of development proposed by Edwin N. Wicander, who sought apartment zoning and a density variance for the property at Magnolia Avenue and Cedar Street to allow the project. Only 23 apartments could be built under present density rules, assistant city planner John O'Rourke reported.

Wicander said senior citizens, with no children and fewer persons per apartment, would produce less actual density than 23 family apartments, but O'Rourke said the commission denied his application on grounds there is no assurance the apartments would be used permanently for seniors.

Wicander's project was to be leased to the Marin County Housing Authority.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

OFFICE — Denied a request by John H. Meisenheimer to open a chiropractic office in a residence at 1412 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Meisenheimer said 75 per cent of the building would be used for the office, but the city ordinance limits home occupation use to 25 per cent, O'Rourke said.

GARAGE — Granted a use permit to allow Richard T. Grohs to operate a car repair shop at 640 Sir Francis Drake. Grohs was directed to have no outdoor storage of parking on the property, to have only one car repair service, and to remove existing gasoline pumps.

USE PERMIT — Denied a request by Charles L. Irvine to let a janitor-overseer live in at 573 Scenic Avenue. The commission felt the use would constitute a rezoning to duplex use, O'Rourke said.

APARTMENTS — Heard a favorable report from soil engineers on a proposal by Grant Perkins and John P. McInnis for a planned development of 34 town houses off Essex Avenue. The commission ordered a special meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 15 in the council chamber to hear the development proposal, plus Perkins' proposal to adjust property lines to accommodate the development. Perkins owns the adjoining property as well.

POSTPONEMENTS — Held to the Oct. 20 meeting a hearing on problems of nonconforming multi-family uses, and an application by Anna Ghezzi for apartment zoning of a lot at 158 Tunstead Avenue.

Voting Light In Marin City

Voting for five new members of the Marin City Council was reported as very light at noon nomic Opportunity Council in Marin City.

The polls are open at the EOC office at the Manzanita Center until 7 p.m. today and any Marin City resident over 18 is eligible to vote.

The six candidates for the five seats on the nine-member council are Ronald Foster, Terrie Harris, Ruth Hodges, Royce McLemore, C. J. Williams and Peggy Ann Bullock.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting subcommittee chairman ordered aides to request the appearance tomorrow of the police chiefs of Chicago and Kansas City to make clear whether or not they knew the guns they gave Turner were for the Army or for his personal use.

Senators pressed Turner on the issue and Ribicoff asked: "But how would you feel about . . . signing a statement that is so patently false?.' '

"In other words," Ribicoff asked, "you and the superintendent were engaging in a conspiracy to evade the laws of the state of Illinois?"

"No sir," Turner said. "I was not familiar with the laws of the state of Illinois."

Turner's lawyer, Walter J. Bonner, later agreed Turner was misguided in signing the receipt stating the guns were to go to the Army. But he denied any conspiracy with the Chicago police superintendent.

The hearing room was full and dozens of persons stood in the rear of the room as Turner said he cannot account for all the weapons he received from the two police departments and from Fort Bliss, Tex. because his record book could not be found.

Turner said he submitted incomplete gun records to the committee which he compiled from memory.

"Sir, that book would be to my advantage today and whoever has it I would appreciate it if they would return it," he told Ribicoff.

Turner identified checks payable to him from the Pine State Gun Shop, Fayetteville, N.C., totaling $3,013.95 and said he believed that amount included payment for some pistols he received from Chicago.

But he said in the absence of his original records he could provide no details.

Turner, testifying under oath, said that on his last visit to Chicago to pick up guns, Conlisk knew that he was retired from the Army.

Turner said this made no difference because Conlisk knew the guns were for his personal use anyway.

Turner, who said he is a well-known gun collector and gunsmith in Army circles, said the guns from Fort Worth have been confiscated by the U.S. Customs Service and were "mostly junk." He said he had been told he was free to cannibalize them for parts, if he so desired.

Many of the guns were destroyed after being stripped for usable parts, Turner said. But he said he could not remember how many were cannibalized, how many destroyed, how many traded and how many sold.

Although Turner said he had been a gun trader for more than 20 years he testified he could not remember the names of any other shops he did business with.

Sausalito Women Cyclists Injured

Two Sausalito women were reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today with injuries suffered Sunday when their motorcycle hit a car at Bridgeway and Harbor Drive just outside Sausalito.

Patricia Elizabeth Kavanaugh, 22, of 28 Marie Street had cuts on the left knee, multiple scrapes and bruises and fractures of both wrists. Her roommate, Constance Mayer, 22, was being treated for a concussion and possible internal injuries.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Kavanaugh's motorcycle struck the rear of a car driven by Philip Leslie Couchman, 37, of Sacramento, as he was halted for a stoplight at 11:50 a.m.

Discussion Slated On Black Society

The "Black Perspective in Our Society", the first in a series of discussions sponsored by St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church of Marin City, will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday at 396 Pine Hill Road, Apt. 12, Mill Valley.

Peter Mutunga, a native of Kenya, and a student at the College of Marin, and Mrs. Dorothy Mutunga, whose husband, Steven, teaches Swahili and African culture at Tamalpais High School, will participate. Members of the Black Panther Party will present background material at other of the October meetings, to be held at various homes.

Talbot Named To Sanitary Board

Bertram J. Talbot, former head of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, was named last night to fill the vacancy on the Tiburon Sanitary District board, panel president James Murray reported today.

Foundation Ruined

A $50 wooden foundation frame was torn down by vandals sometime last week at an apartment under construction at 231 Picnic Avenue, San Rafael, police reported. The building is owned by Horst Hanf Construction Company, 138 Jacoby Street.

Jean Ansley Quits Post In Novato

Jean A. Ansley, a member of the former San Jose and the existing Novato Unified School District boards for the past 10 years, last night submitted her resignation to the Novato District board, effective Friday.

Mrs. Ansley gave as her reason the demands of her full-time job at the College of Marin. She is a teacher in child development and coordinator of the college's nursery school training program.

Her term as trustee of the Novato District expires on June 30, 1971.

The board informally discussed a replacement for her, but postponed decision until its meeting at 8 p.m., Oct. 20 when there would be a full board present. Trustees Leonora Dougherty, William Schneeflock and Dan H. Barber were absent last night.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

LIBRARY FUNDS — Approved an application for $34,871 for San Ramon Elementary and $57,342 for Sinaloa Junior High schools for federal funds for their libraries.

SAN MARIN LIBRARY — Principal Henry Moroski of San Marin High School reported that with a federal grant last year, the school has acquired 11,000 books, 180 motion pictures, 1,017 film strips, 425 records and tapes, 843 slides and 305 maps and charts.

GIFT — Accepted a $1,000 gift to be used in the San Ramon Elementary School from the school's parent-faculty club.

LEASE — Approved a lease for portable classrooms to be placed on the unused portion of the Novato High school campus for use by the Marin County schools office for its mentally retarded education program.

ATHLETICS — Approved a list of athletics for senior and junior high school and added soccer and water polo to the list.

COMMITTEE — Named 14 members to a multi-ethnic studies committee. Those named were: Jerry Coleman of the Novato Head Start program; Walter Louio, superintendent of mails at the Novato Post Office; Josh Thomas, deputy district attorney; Juanita Ingle, Bonnie Clark, Robert Newman and William Atwood, teachers; Alfred Rivasplata, principal of Lu Sutton School, and David Lusk, vice principal of Sinaloa Junior High School; Richard Kuhn, Joseph Scott, Raleigh Flody and Elaine Nix from the Novatans for Racial Equality and Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction. The balance of the 17-member committee will be named at the Oct. 20 board meeting.

Rohnert Park Accepts Federal Sewage Grant

The Rohnert Park City Council last night accepted a grant of $299,500 from the federal Water Pollution Control Administration for enlargement of the city's sewage treatment plant.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the sewage treatment demonstration grant was for 75 per cent of the estimated total project cost of $401,300. He said the grant was the full amount requested by the city.

Callinan reported that specifications on the enlargement would be prepared soon for review in Washington, D.C. and said he expected work to begin next summer.

In addition to being able to handle an increased flow of sewage, the plant will use equipment to coordinate the flow of sewage to other major plants for a more efficient operation at peak flow periods.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

SALES SHOP—Denied the request of Margie Horst, 7495 Boris Court ot operate a gift, craft and book sales shop at her home. The council said the use would not be appropriate to the residential district.

REZONING — Denied the request of Dr. Lauren Anderson to rezone property north of the Rohnert Park Expressway as a professional-medical district. It was noted that other lands already zoned for that use could be purchased without changing the master plan.

UNDERGROUNDING — Introduced an ordinance that would require all new development, with the exception of industries, to underground utility lines.

ANNEXATION — Agreed to ask the Local Agency Formation Commission to extend the Nov. 7 deadline for the annexation of lands owned by Fred Rohnert south of East Cotati Avenue.

ARTS COMMISSION — Approved plans to have the Cultural Arts Commission changed to a nonprofit organization.

OVERLAY — Awarded the contract for overlay paving on Commerce and Southwest boulevards to the construction firm of Reichhold and Jurkovich at a low bid of $22,608. The engineer's estimate had been $24,239.

WELL — Agreed to purchase land on Snyder Lane from Ben Oretsky at a cost of $1,000 for a new water storage tank and well. Engineer Walter Hudis was employed to prepare the project at a salary of $3,000.

BONDS — Approved a modification in the Golf Lake Estates assessment district which would increase interest rates on bonds from 6 to 7 per cent. The council will investigate the offer of Kirchner, Moore and Co. of San Francisco to purchase the bonds.

INTERCHANGE — Agreed to purchase a small area of land from Eleanor Brusco for the right-of-way required for the new southbound ramp at the Highway 101 interchange. Price was set at $600. Callinan noted that the state Highway Commission will consider budgeting the ramp project at its meetings Oct. 20 and 21 and urged that council members attend the sessions.

COMMUNITY CENTER — Approved the purchase of drapes for the community and recreation center at a cost of $300. The council agreed that drapes would provide greater privacy for groups meeting there.

VACATION — Approved Callinan's plans to attend the International City Manager's Association conference in New York City, Oct. 11-16. Two weeks vacation will follow the conference.

OLYMPICS — Heard a report that Rohnert Park Police Officer Byron McLennan won a bronze medal in a swimming event at the Law Enforcement Olympics at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Girl's Head Cut By A Tossed Rock

Amy E. Lukens, 12, of 61 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Greenbrae, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a forehead gash suffered when she was hit by a rock thrown by a neighbor boy as she walked home from school, Corte Madera police reported.

The injury occurred at 3:30 p.m. as she and two other girls walked along a canal paralleling Birch Avenue in Corte Madera, police said.

IT'S BLISSFUL SLEEP TIME ONCE AGAIN

No wailing foghorn will mar the sleep and serenity of East San Rafael residents tonight. And, according to the Coast Guard, there will be no repeat of the continuous blasts which have enraged residents since last Wednesday.

It was at that time that the Coast Guard, in an economy move, automated the foghorn on East Brother Island off Richmond. The automatic device gave out four blasts a minute, all day and all night.

Oliver F. deGraff, navigation supervisor for the 12th Coast Guard District said the offending signal has been turned off because of calls from irate citizens.

He said the Coast Guard plans to go ahead with installation of an automatic fog detector which will operate only when there is fog within two hours of the station. The detector should be operative tomorrow night.

Encephalitis Almost Vanishes

BERKELEY (AP) — Encephalitis almost disappeared in California during the spring and summer this year, says Dr. Louis F. Saylor, state public health director.

Only one case of the crippling disease was reported, he said. It involved a 66-year-old Yuba City man who has recovered completely.

A Little Bee Causes Crash

Cohen, 19, of 1172 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, was driving on Butterfield Road in San Anselmo at 3:15 p.m. yesterday when a bee flew in the car window. Cohen, police said, tried to hit the bee, lost control of his car and plowed into school sign and a utility pole.

He was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead.

New Span Employees Benefits On Agenda

Dental and optical health coverage for Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District employees, at a cost of $28,788 a year, will be considered by the district board's joint rules and policy and insurance committee at 2 p.m. on Thursday in district offices at the toll plaza.

Also on the agenda are a request from Transport Workers Local No. 250 A for regognition by the district, and a proposal that the district hire consultants to help it get more insurance coverage.

Hayden's Son Denied Motion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Christian Hayden, 21, son of actor Sterling Hayden was denied motions yesterday to dismiss an indictment charging him with draft violations.

Hayden is charged with failing to report for a physical examination last March and not showing up for induction last May.

Rohnert Park Accepts Federal Sewage Grant

The Rohnert Park City Council last night accepted a grant of $299,500 from the federal Water Pollution Control Administration for enlargement of the city's sewage treatment plant.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the sewage treatment demonstration grant was for 75 per cent of the estimated total project cost of $401,300. He said the grant was the full amount requested by the city.

Callinan reported that specifications on the enlargement would be prepared soon for review in Washington, D.C. and said he expected work to begin next summer.

In addition to being able to handle an increased flow of sewage, the plant will use equipment to coordinate the flow of sewage to other major plants for a more efficient operation at peak flow periods.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

SALES SHOP—Denied the request of Margie Horst, 7495 Boris Court ot operate a gift, craft and book sales shop at her home. The council said the use would not be appropriate to the residential district.

REZONING — Denied the request of Dr. Lauren Anderson to rezone property north of the Rohnert Park Expressway as a professional-medical district. It was noted that other lands already zoned for that use could be purchased without changing the master plan.

UNDERGROUNDING — Introduced an ordinance that would require all new development, with the exception of industries, to underground utility lines.

ANNEXATION — Agreed to ask the Local Agency Formation Commission to extend the Nov. 7 deadline for the annexation of lands owned by Fred Rohnert south of East Cotati Avenue.

ARTS COMMISSION — Approved plans to have the Cultural Arts Commission changed to a nonprofit organization.

OVERLAY — Awarded the contract for overlay paving on Commerce and Southwest boulevards to the construction firm of Reichhold and Jurkovich at a low bid of $22,608. The engineer's estimate had been $24,-239.

WELL — Agreed to purchase land on Snyder Lane from Ben Oretsky at a cost of $1,000 for a new water storage tank and well. Engineer Walter Hudis was employed to prepare the project at a salary of $3,000.

BONDS — Approved a modification in the Golf Lake Estates assessment district which would increase interest rates on bonds from 6 to 7 per cent. The council will investigate the offer of Kirchner, Moore and Co. of San Francisco to purchase the bonds.

INTERCHANGE — Agreed to purchase a small area of land from Eleanor Brusco for the right-of-way required for the new southbound ramp at the Highway 101 interchange. Price was set at $600. Callinan noted that the state Highway Commission will consider budgeting the ramp project at its meetings Oct. 20 and 21 and urged that council members attend the sessions.

COMMUNITY CENTER — Approved the purchase of drapes for the community and recreation center at a cost of $300. The council agreed that drapes would provide greater privacy for groups meeting there.

VACATION — Approved Callinan's plans to attend the International City Manager's Association conference in New York City, Oct. 11-16. Two weeks vacation will follow the conference.

OLYMPICS — Heard a report that Rohnert Park Police Officer Byron McLennan won a bronze medal in a swimming event at the Law Enforcement Olympics at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Girl's Head Cut By A Tossed Rock

Amy E. Lukens, 12, of 61 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Greenbrae, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a forehead gash suffered when she was hit by a rock thrown by a neighbor boy as she walked home from school, Corte Madera police reported.

The injury occurred at 3:30 p.m. as she and two other girls walked along a canal paralleling Birch Avenue in Corte Madera, police said.

IT'S BLISSFUL SLEEP TIME ONCE AGAIN

No wailing foghorn will mar the sleep and serenity of East San Rafael residents tonight. And, according to the Coast Guard, there will be no repeat of the continuous blasts which have enraged residents since last Wednesday.

It was at that time that the Coast Guard, in an economy move, automated the foghorn on East Brother Island off Richmond. The automatic device gave out four blasts a minute, all day and all night.

Oliver F. deGraff, navigation supervisor for the 12th Coast Guard District said the offending signal has been turned off because of calls from irate citizens.

He said the Coast Guard plans to go ahead with installation of an automatic fog detector which will operate only when there is fog within two hours of the station. The detector should be operative tomorrow night.

Encephalitis Almost Vanishes

BERKELEY (AP) — Encephalitis almost disappeared in California during the spring and summer this year, says Dr. Louis F. Saylor, state public health director.

Only one case of the crippling disease was reported, he said. It involved a 66-year-old Yuba City man who has recovered completely.

A Little Bee Causes Crash

Cohen, 19, of 1172 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, was driving on Butterfield Road in San Anselmo at 3:15 p.m. yesterday when a bee flew in the car window. Cohen, police said, tried to hit the bee, lost control of his car and plowed into school sign and a utility pole.

He was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead.

New Span Employees Benefits On Agenda

Dental and optical health coverage for Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District employees, at a cost of $28,788 a year, will be considered by the district board's joint rules and policy and insurance committee at 2 p.m. on Thursday in district offices at the toll plaza.

Also on the agenda are a request from Transport Workers Local No. 250 A for regognition by the district, and a proposal that the district hire consultants to help it get more insurance coverage.

Hayden's Son Denied Motion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Christian Hayden, 21, son of actor Sterling Hayden was denied motions yesterday to dismiss an indictment charging him with draft violations.

Hayden is charged with failing to report for a physical examination last March and not showing up for induction last May.

LOOKING FOR STARVE-IN SITE

An antipopulation group in the San Francisco area is seeking 300 recruits to spend a week without food in this plastic pillow with a tentative starting date of this Saturday. The participants will be given water and entertainment as they seek to dramatize the effects of over population. There is, however, a hangup: the "hunger show" is without a location. Stewart Brand, the organizer, has found a site in Sonoma County. Contacted by the Associated Press, Brand declined to give the exact location because he did not want the owner of the land to be bothered. (AP Wirephoto) (AP Wirephoto)

Council Ends Controversy On Ballpark

The Petaluma City Council last night sifted three proposed resolutions on the use of the Lucchesi Park baseball diamond by the American Little League and reached agreement with league parents who had been seeking exclusive use.

After long, spirited discussion on the propriety of reserving a city park facility for use by one group, the council decided the Little League should have priority, but that other groups and individuals should be allowed use at the field when it is idle.

RESOLUTIONS OFFERED

Councilman Fred V. Mattei, a member of the Recreation, Music and Parks Commission which studied the problem, presented a personal resolution which was finally adopted, and also presented a resolution requested by Little League directors.

Also offering a resolution supporting the Little League was Councilman Phillip L. Joerger. Proposal was closely aligned with the position of the league.

League parents said they worked hard to maintain a superior playing field and wanted to prevent open use during the playing season to reduce vandalism and damage to the field.

Joerger said, "The American Little League works hard on the field and others take pleasure in tearing it up."

Mattei countered that neighborhood youngsters should use the field when unoccupied and that fathers should be able to take their sons there for practice and recreation.

COMPROMISE REACHED

After a 15-minute recess in which the three resolutions were reviewed by the various factions, a compromise was reached.

Under Mattei's resolution, unorganized groups and individuals could use the field by first getting permission from the parks and recreation office.

The council also received a letter from the National Little League seeking similar arrangements for the use of the Kennilworth Park diamond.

The council referred the request to the parks commission for study.

Petaluma Park Plans Win Council Approval

Preliminary plans for a a new city park adjacent to La Tercera School and plans to develop a portion of Lucchesi Park were approved last night by the Petaluma City Council.

As suggested by thr Recreation, Music and Parks Commission, the council selected a 2.5-acre site in Crinella Drive for the new park. Richard W. Shollenberger, parks and recreation director, said the purchase price for the land owned by Arthur Condiotti would be $15,000.

The council reviewed tow other possible park locations in the vicinity, but decided the 2.5-acre site offered greater access to more homes and traffic.

The proposed park, adjacent to a cul-de-sac in the Casa Grande Manor subdivision, will have street frontage of 410 feet and include $12,300 in street improvements.

At Lucchesi Park, the council authorized Shollenberger to spend up to $4,200 to develop a grassy area for open play, football and soccer adjacent to the Little League field on Maria Drive.

Shollenberger said the two acres could be seeded and ready for use in the spring.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

EXTENSION — Granted an extension to Nov. 13 to Ghilotti Brothers to complete the South McDowell Boulevard and East Washington Street improvements project. City Engineer David Young said that control equipment for the signal lights had not yet been received.

APPOINTMENT — Named John Dado to the recreation, music and parks commission to fill the unexpired term of C. Eugene Douglas, who moved from the city. Dado, an accountant, is a member of the board of directors of the Petaluma Boys' Club.

INJURY—Denied a $1 million claim filed by the parents of Roger Griffith who was injured in a fall at the municipal swimming pool last summer. The claim charges unsafe and poorly supervised conditions at the pool.

PATROL CAR—Took the advice of Police Chief Larry D. Higgins and decided not to repair a patrol car damaged in an accident on Sept. 19. Higgins said insurance and salvage of the auto would provide $1,600 toward the purchase of a compact car for his use. His personal police car could be used for regular patrols.

LOITERING — Introduced an ordinance to prohibit sitting, lying or sleeping on any street, sidewalk or public place.

CONDITIONS — Granted an extension of two months to A.J. Hanson to provide permanent bathroom facilities at Scrappy Jim's auto wreckers. Councilman Robert A. Brunner voted against the extension, saying that Hanson has already had enough time to comply with city codes.

STUDY SESSION — Set a study session for Friday at 4:30 p.m. to review capital improvement projects for the year.

INSPECTIONS — Delayed action on an agreement with the County of Sonoma for the inspection of food handling businesses by the county health officer. A representative of the health office will attend a future meeting to explain the proposed agreement.

Ross Trustees Discuss New Finance Panel

Plans and members for a district finance committee were discussued by the Ross School District board in a special meeting last night.

The committee's duties will include surveying the financial picture of the past five years and projecting finances for the next three to five; a study of the educational program, and consideration of the physical plant, according to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson.

Board members suggested several persons to serve and agreed to contact them to see if they would be interested some time prior to the regular meeting, 8 p.m. Oct. 20.

The committee, its definite duties and a time limit will be announced then, Anderson said.

In other business, the board authorized applying for federal funds to expand the library to include such materials as audio visual aids and tapes.

After School Day Care Is Strongly Urged

Let schools provide after-school day care for children instead of turning them loose at 2:30 p.m. to roam the streets.

This was one suggestion made by the day care subcommittee of the Marin County Family and Children's Advisory Committee, which met at the Civic Center last night.

Frances Miller, social services supervisor who is consultant to the subcommittee, said she will check the schools to see how many pupils who need after school day care are not getting it.

The day subcommittee members also said more infant day care for ages 2 and under is needed, especially in West Marin and in Marin City.

Sabella Richardson of Larkspur suggested that the work incentive program have a training project in day care centers to train mothers to become nursery aides.

Joseph P. Denhart, director of the children's center and preschool program, discussed the need for a variety of day care services.

Cavalry General To Guide Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Gen. Emilio Garrastazu Medici, a 63-year-old cavalry officer, has been named to succeed ailing President Arthur da Costa e Silva, Brazil's ruling military regime announced today.

The selection of Medici was made at a meeting of the armed forces high command last night but was not announced until this morning.

Medici, one of the nation's four regional army commanders, had been considered a top candidate for the post.

Foot Patrol Idea Brings Resistance

Councilan Frank J. Egger suggested the patrols for an hour or two a day to "get some communication going between police and the kids," and "maybe relieve some of the minor difficulties down there."

"It's a very good idea in concept," said Police Chief James R. Orr. However, he pointed out the officer on foot patrol would be away from his radio and unavailable for calls.

Orr said he is checking with other cities for a loitering ordinance and if he finds one acceptable to the council, "then I can communicate."

Egger commented that wasn't what he had in mind.

Orr reported one of his officers had tried to comunicate with them and the answer was "oink, oink."

The chief then invited Egger to come down on his day off and "take a walk" with him.

Policy Guide Due Trustee Discussion

A policy and procedures guide for the Shoreline Unified School District will come before the board when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tomales High School.

The board will also adopt the new course of study for Tomales High School, approve a library project and elect delegates to the California School Boards Association Assembly.

State Funds Awaited To Repair Slide Area

Fairfax's Forrest Avenue restoration, a slide repair project that seems to grow more expensive almost weekly, will begin as soon as the state approves plans, the city council indicated last night.

The city has received a low bid of $77,200 to repair the slide damage — about $30,000 more than the engineer's estimate.

And last night, the additional cost of buying rights-of-way loomed.

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers reported he had reached the five property owners involved and had heard from two. One is willing to permit the work to be done; the other is willing but wants to know how much money he will get.

"The proper thing to do is file an action of condemnation," Myers told the council. "I have a different approach . . . go ahead and do the work." He explained if there are damages the property owner can seek recovery, thus saving the city money on title searches and appraisals.

The council also considered offering each property owner a nominal sum, perhaps $100, but a Forrest Avenue resident took exception: "I wouldn't offer them a darn thing. Their property is worthless without the improvement," he said.

The consulting engineer, Eugene A. Miller, and the city engineer, Ben C. Albritton, reported the reasons the bids were so high were the "extremely high risk" in taking on the job at this time of year and the increasing rate of cost escalation.

Albritton said $13,984 of the total is for work to be done in San Anselmo if that city council approves. San Anselmo would only have to pay $3,622, however, after federal aid is subtracted, he added.

The Fairfax cost, after federal aid, will be $19,000, he said.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

DEBRIS PICKUP — Learned the annual debris pickup would be held with regular collections Oct. 27 through 31 and that only packaged or bundled items would be picked up.

FESTIVAL — Heard a report from Mayor Francis J. O'Connell on plans to improve the Fairfax Festival. He said a meeting would be held in November with the festival committee and any others interested.

FIRE — Agreed to permit the Catholic Daughters of America to hold a Christmas Boutique at the Fairfax Women's Club, since old St. Rita's Church, used as a parish hall, burned. The council also offered to help all organizations which meet there find other places.

POINT REYES — Adopted a resolution urging acquitition of the remaining land for Point Reyes National Seashore.

MEETING — Set the regular October meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 14 instead of Monday as usually scheduled.

Books Closed On Memorial Day Dance

The Fairfax Memorial Day dance incident was quietly closed last night by Mayor Francis J. O'Connell.

O'Connell pointed out that testimony from the juvenile court appearance of David E. Pratt, charged with disturbing the peace, assault and resisting arrest, was not available because of state secrecy laws.

Pratt was arrested after Police Chief James R. Orr said he was belligerent and obscene and kicked several police officers outside the pavilion. Orr was accused of police brutality, but later cleared by the district attorney's office.

Based on all the information received by the council, "I consider this matter closed," O'Connell said.

"There was no police brutality or unofficerlike conduct at that dance," he said. He added his remarks were intended at a formal motion.

There was no second so O'Connell said, "Okay, it's a statement," and the matter was dropped.

LOOKING FOR STARVE-IN SITE

An antipopulation group in the San Francisco area is seeking 300 recruits to spend a week without food in this plastic pillow with a tentative starting date of this Saturday. The participants will be given water and entertainment as they seek to dramatize the effects of over population. There is, however, a hangup: the "hunger show" is without a location. Stewart Brand, the organizer, has found a site in Sonoma County. Contacted by the Associated Press, Brand declined to give the exact location because he did not want the owner of the land to be bothered. (AP Wirephoto) (AP Wirephoto)

Council Ends Controversy On Ballpark

The Petaluma City Council last night sifted three proposed resolutions on the use of the Lucchesi Park baseball diamond by the American Little League and reached agreement with league parents who had been seeking exclusive use.

After long, spirited discussion on the propriety of reserving a city park facility for use by one group, the council decided the Little League should have priority, but that other groups and individuals should be allowed use at the field when it is idle.

RESOLUTIONS OFFERED

Councilman Fred V. Mattei, a member of the Recreation, Music and Parks Commission which studied the problem, presented a personal resolution which was finally adopted, and also presented a resolution requested by Little League directors.

Also offering a resolution supporting the Little League was Councilman Phillip L. Joerger. Proposal was closely aligned with the position of the league.

League parents said they worked hard to maintain a superior playing field and wanted to prevent open use during the playing season to reduce vandalism and damage to the field.

Joerger said, "The American Little League works hard on the field and others take pleasure in tearing it up."

Mattei countered that neighborhood youngsters should use the field when unoccupied and that fathers should be able to take their sons there for practice and recreation.

COMPROMISE REACHED

After a 15-minute recess in which the three resolutions were reviewed by the various factions, a compromise was reached.

Under Mattei's resolution, unorganized groups and individuals could use the field by first getting permission from the parks and recreation office.

The council also received a letter from the National Little League seeking similar arrangements for the use of the Kennilworth Park diamond.

The council referred the request to the parks commission for study.

Petaluma Park Plans Win Council Approval

Preliminary plans for a a new city park adjacent to La Tercera School and plans to develop a portion of Lucchesi Park were approved last night by the Petaluma City Council.

As suggested by thr Recreation, Music and Parks Commission, the council selected a 2.5-acre site in Crinella Drive for the new park. Richard W. Shollenberger, parks and recreation director, said the purchase price for the land owned by Arthur Condiotti would be $15,000.

The council reviewed tow other possible park locations in the vicinity, but decided the 2.5-acre site offered greater access to more homes and traffic.

The proposed park, adjacent to a cul-de-sac in the Casa Grande Manor subdivision, will have street frontage of 410 feet and include $12,300 in street improvements.

At Lucchesi Park, the council authorized Shollenberger to spend up to $4,200 to develop a grassy area for open play, football and soccer adjacent to the Little League field on Maria Drive.

Shollenberger said the two acres could be seeded and ready for use in the spring.

PILGRIMS SINK CHRISTOPHER'S CIVIC HOLIDAY

The council passed to print an ordinance amendment deleting Columbus Day from the list of paid holidays for city employees, and substituting the day after Thanksgiving Day.

No sooner had he voted for it than Mayor C. Paul Bettini exclaimed: "Why, Columbus was a counsin of mine. I missed the boat!"

Fire Station, Rec Center Given Nod

Architect Robert W.F. Severin was told by the San Rafael City Council last night to proceed with site plans for a recreation center and a new main fire house, pointing toward a bond election next April. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

Severin and Charles L. Tacchi, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, presented a revised proposal for the recreation center at Albert Park and adjoining land, scaling the cost down to about $350,000. Councilmen indicated they felt this figure was realistic.

Severin's initial proposal was estimated at well over $600,000. When councilmen objected to that, he eliminated a large gymnasium and presented revised plans estimated at just over $400,000. The second revision, he said, consisted largely in substituting frame and concrete block construction for the brick walls proposed previously.

He was told to prepare drawings of both fire house and recreation center which would give the public an idea of how they will appear when completed.

Joseph J. Brusatori was sworn in as police chief at the beginning of the council meeting by City Clerk Marion A. Grady. Brusatori succeeds Charles J. Chiesa, who retired last month. In a brief address, he thanked the council for "the opportunity to serve the city of my birth, which was 57 years ago." He has been over 30 years in the police department.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

DAY CARE — Continued until Oct. 20 hearing of an appeal by Kathryn Cardoza from planning permission denial of a permit for a day care facility for six children at 260 Clorinda Avenue. Jack H. Feller Jr. of 111 Gloria Drive presented objections of neighbors, more than 50 of whom signed a petition against the use. The continuance was because Gil Medeiros, attorney for Mrs. Cardoza, said he was unable to present his case last night.

REZONING — Rezoned to professional-administrative use a sliver of land detached from the Faith Lutheran Church property on Northgate Drive for addition to the lot of an insurance building.

SERVICE STATION SIGN — Turned down 3-to-2 an appeal by Simas Brothers from planning commission denial of a service station sign at 1103 Third Street which would include gasoline prices in moveable letters. The Marin Independent Service Station Association opposed the sign. Councilman Fred E. Jensen, who said price signs visible from the street should be required at service stations, was joined by Mayor C. Paul Bettini in voting to permit it.

CORPORATION YARD — Called for bids to be opened Nov. 3 on construction of the new city corporation yard.

OVERNIGHT PARKING — Enacted an ordinance banning parking on Fourth Street from Lincoln Avenue to E Street between midnight and 6 a.m.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS — Rejected a request by the California Division of Highways that the city participate 50-50 next year in an $80,000 traffic signal installation at the intersection of Bellam Boulevard, Francisco Boulevard and Highway 17 offramps. Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles was told to seek state agreement to a less expensive and complicated program.

STOP LIGHTS — Granted contractors Steiny and Mitchel, Inc., a 30-day extension on completion of installation of traffic lights on Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue.

SEWERS, PARK LIGHTING — Authorized employment of Dan Coleman Associates to do engineering on the city sanitary sewer improvement project and new lighting for Albert Park.

GLENWOOD KNOLLS — Approved the final map of the five-lot Glenwood Knolls subdivision above Victor Jones Park by Security Savings and Loan Association.

CITY CLERK POWER — Set for Oct. 20 hearing on a proposed ordinance empowering the city clerk to set hearing dates for zoning amendments.

WOMEN VOTERS — Voted to give the League of Women Voters $25 toward expenses of a league-sponsored housing conference.

SAN PEDRO ROAD — On suggestion of Mayor Bettini, instructed Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown to seek county supervisors' commitment on county plans for the next stage of San Pedro Road widening.

DISABILITY — Received from City Atty. David Menary Jr. a ruling that Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham is entitled to a raise given policemen, even though he has been on disability leave since it went into effect.

CATV — At urging of Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr., put the matter of television cable contract performance on the agenda for the Oct. 20 meeting.

FIREMEN'S WEEK — Enacted an ordinance providing a 63-hour week for the fire department.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Claude E. Earwood as electrician's helper at $638 per month, and Jane Hansen as typist clerk at $453.

Rec Funding May Be Cut By Schools

The City of San Rafael was served notice last night that the city schools may pull out of financial participation in the city recreation program.

Schools Supt. John F. Plank in a letter to the city council, wrote: "In the interest of sound planning, I suggest that you consider receiving no income from the school district in fiscal 1970-71."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini instructed Andrew J. Snyder, parks and recreation director, to present to the council within a month proposals for reduction in the recreation program which would result from loss of school support. He suggested they be mainly in the after-school programs at school grounds.

For many years, the schools have paid part of the recreation costs. Originally they were paid 50 per cent by the city and 50 per cent by the elementary and high school districts. The schools' share has declined in percentage, but the city received about $30,000 of city schools' money toward recreation this year. The Dixie School District also participates.

Special Meeting Set

The San Anselmo City Council will hold a special adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall to discuss possible solutions to the 1970 backyard burning ban with representatives of the San Anselmo Garbage Disposal company.

1,000-Acre Annexation Goes To Print

The San Rafael City Council last night passed to print an ordinance to annex about 1,000 acres including the Civic Center, despite the objections of two Las Gallinas Valley residents.

Most of the area involved is uninhabited land, on both sides of Highway 101. Besides bringing the seat of county government back within the city limits, it includes land which separates Northgate Industrial Park from the rest of the city east of the highway.

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner reported owners of 92 per cent of the assessed valuation had signed petitions for the annexation.

The objections came from Sesto F. Lucchi, president of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, and Worth Rudolph, a resident of Gallinas Village, which is just outside the annexation.

Lucchi held that annexation of the acreage to the city would deprive Las Gallinas Valley residents of control over development of the uninhabited land — a proposition to which Councilman John A. Miskimen, former long-time Terra Linda resident, retorted that it would give them more voice in control if they also annexted to the city so they could vote for city officials.

Rudolph was most worried that the city might permit commercial use of the Smith Borthers Ranch airport — a matter which is now before the county.

City Manager Choice Huddle Inconclusive

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini emerged from an hour-long discussion of appointment of a new city manager last night to announce that no decision had been reached.

He said the appointment would be made Oct. 20, as he had previously indicated.

The council met behind closed doors for an hour preceding its regular meeting, to discuss the city manager appointment. Councilman John A. Miskimen, just back from vacation in Europe, did not arrive until near the end of the closed session. Bettini said decision was postponed to permit Miskimen to participate in the selection.

Finance Officer James H. McCown, who has been acting city manager since the July 31 death of Dan E. Andersen, was interviewed during the closed meeting. There was no indication of whether the council plans to interview any others among the 67 applicants for the job.

Report On Russian River Water Is Set

The official project report on bringing Russian River water to Marin will be reviewed for the Marin Municipal Water District board for the first time tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the district office.

The report, covering Sonoma County portions of the work, was finished in August but has not yet been presented to the board.

Kennedy Center Funds To Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has sent to President Richard M. Nixon a bill appropriating an additional $12.5 million for the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, presumably assuring its completion.

Before passing the measure 62-3, the Senate turned aside arguments by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., that funds be held up while a big construction cost increase for the Center was investigated.

EAST BERLIN GOOSESTEP

In the old Prussian tradition, members of the East German People's Army goosestep through East Berlin in honor of the 20th anniversary of the country's Soviet-oriented regime. Last night's military parade, including tanks and several types of rockets, was protested by the U.S., British and French in West Berlin, as a violation of the divided city's demilitarized status. PILGRIMS SINK CHRISTOPHER'S CIVIC HOLIDAY

The council passed to print an ordinance amendment deleting Columbus Day from the list of paid holidays for city employees, and substituting the day after Thanksgiving Day.

No sooner had he voted for it than Mayor C. Paul Bettini exclaimed: "Why, Columbus was a counsin of mine. I missed the boat!"

Fire Station, Rec Center Given Nod

Architect Robert W.F. Severin was told by the San Rafael City Council last night to proceed with site plans for a recreation center and a new main fire house, pointing toward a bond election next April. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

Severin and Charles L. Tacchi, chairman of the parks and recreation commission, presented a revised proposal for the recreation center at Albert Park and adjoining land, scaling the cost down to about $350,000. Councilmen indicated they felt this figure was realistic.

Severin's initial proposal was estimated at well over $600,000. When councilmen objected to that, he eliminated a large gymnasium and presented revised plans estimated at just over $400,000. The second revision, he said, consisted largely in substituting frame and concrete block construction for the brick walls proposed previously.

He was told to prepare drawings of both fire house and recreation center which would give the public an idea of how they will appear when completed.

Joseph J. Brusatori was sworn in as police chief at the beginning of the council meeting by City Clerk Marion A. Grady. Brusatori succeeds Charles J. Chiesa, who retired last month. In a brief address, he thanked the council for "the opportunity to serve the city of my birth, which was 57 years ago." He has been over 30 years in the police department.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

DAY CARE — Continued until Oct. 20 hearing of an appeal by Kathryn Cardoza from planning permission denial of a permit for a day care facility for six children at 260 Clorinda Avenue. Jack H. Feller Jr. of 111 Gloria Drive presented objections of neighbors, more than 50 of whom signed a petition against the use. The continuance was because Gil Medeiros, attorney for Mrs. Cardoza, said he was unable to present his case last night.

REZONING — Rezoned to professional-administrative use a sliver of land detached from the Faith Lutheran Church property on Northgate Drive for addition to the lot of an insurance building.

SERVICE STATION SIGN — Turned down 3-to-2 an appeal by Simas Brothers from planning commission denial of a service station sign at 1103 Third Street which would include gasoline prices in moveable letters. The Marin Independent Service Station Association opposed the sign. Councilman Fred E. Jensen, who said price signs visible from the street should be required at service stations, was joined by Mayor C. Paul Bettini in voting to permit it.

CORPORATION YARD — Called for bids to be opened Nov. 3 on construction of the new city corporation yard.

OVERNIGHT PARKING — Enacted an ordinance banning parking on Fourth Street from Lincoln Avenue to E Street between midnight and 6 a.m.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS — Rejected a request by the California Division of Highways that the city participate 50-50 next year in an $80,000 traffic signal installation at the intersection of Bellam Boulevard, Francisco Boulevard and Highway 17 offramps. Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles was told to seek state agreement to a less expensive and complicated program.

STOP LIGHTS — Granted contractors Steiny and Mitchel, Inc., a 30-day extension on completion of installation of traffic lights on Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue.

SEWERS, PARK LIGHTING — Authorized employment of Dan Coleman Associates to do engineering on the city sanitary sewer improvement project and new lighting for Albert Park.

GLENWOOD KNOLLS — Approved the final map of the five-lot Glenwood Knolls subdivision above Victor Jones Park by Security Savings and Loan Association.

CITY CLERK POWER — Set for Oct. 20 hearing on a proposed ordinance empowering the city clerk to set hearing dates for zoning amendments.

WOMEN VOTERS — Voted to give the League of Women Voters $25 toward expenses of a league-sponsored housing conference.

SAN PEDRO ROAD — On suggestion of Mayor Bettini, instructed Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown to seek county supervisors' commitment on county plans for the next stage of San Pedro Road widening.

DISABILITY — Received from City Atty. David Menary Jr. a ruling that Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham is entitled to a raise given policemen, even though he has been on disability leave since it went into effect.

CATV — At urging of Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr., put the matter of television cable contract performance on the agenda for the Oct. 20 meeting.

FIREMEN'S WEEK — Enacted an ordinance providing a 63-hour week for the fire department.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Claude E. Earwood as electrician's helper at $638 per month, and Jane Hansen as typist clerk at $453.

1,000-Acre Annexation Goes To Print

The San Rafael City Council last night passed to print an ordinance to annex about 1,000 acres including the Civic Center, despite the objections of two Las Gallinas Valley residents.

Most of the area involved is uninhabited land, on both sides of Highway 101. Besides bringing the seat of county government back within the city limits, it includes land which separates Northgate Industrial Park from the rest of the city east of the highway.

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner reported owners of 92 per cent of the assessed valuation had signed petitions for the annexation.

The objections came from Sesto F. Lucchi, president of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, and Worth Rudolph, a resident of Gallinas Village, which is just outside the annexation.

Lucchi held that annexation of the acreage to the city would deprive Las Gallinas Valley residents of control over development of the uninhabited land — a proposition to which Councilman John A. Miskimen, former long-time Terra Linda resident, retorted that it would give them more voice in control if they also annexted to the city so they could vote for city officials.

Rudolph was most worried that the city might permit commercial use of the Smith Borthers Ranch airport — a matter which is now before the county.

Burglary Case Goes To Superior Court

Patrick Robert Leahy, 18, of no known address, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing the Chinese Kitchen in Larkspur Sept. 2.

He was told to appear in court next Tuesday for arraignment.

Rec Funding May Be Cut By Schools

The City of San Rafael was served notice last night that the city schools may pull out of financial participation in the city recreation program.

Schools Supt. John F. Plank in a letter to the city council, wrote: "In the interest of sound planning, I suggest that you consider receiving no income from the school district in fiscal 1970-71."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini instructed Andrew J. Snyder, parks and recreation director, to present to the council within a month proposals for reduction in the recreation program which would result from loss of school support. He suggested they be mainly in the after-school programs at school grounds.

For many years, the schools have paid part of the recreation costs. Originally they were paid 50 per cent by the city and 50 per cent by the elementary and high school districts. The schools' share has declined in percentage, but the city received about $30,000 of city schools' money toward recreation this year. The Dixie School District also participates.

Special Meeting Set

The San Anselmo City Council will hold a special adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall to discuss possible solutions to the 1970 backyard burning ban with representatives of the San Anselmo Garbage Disposal company.

City Manager Choice Huddle Inconclusive

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini emerged from an hour-long discussion of appointment of a new city manager last night to announce that no decision had been reached.

He said the appointment would be made Oct. 20, as he had previously indicated.

The council met behind closed doors for an hour preceding its regular meeting, to discuss the city manager appointment. Councilman John A. Miskimen, just back from vacation in Europe, did not arrive until near the end of the closed session. Bettini said decision was postponed to permit Miskimen to participate in the selection.

Finance Officer James H. McCown, who has been acting city manager since the July 31 death of Dan E. Andersen, was interviewed during the closed meeting. There was no indication of whether the council plans to interview any others among the 67 applicants for the job.

Report On Russian River Water Is Set

The official project report on bringing Russian River water to Marin will be reviewed for the Marin Municipal Water District board for the first time tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the district office.

The report, covering Sonoma County portions of the work, was finished in August but has not yet been presented to the board.

FIRST WORKERS IN HALL OF JUSTICE

Marin's central services department employees (from left) Dolores Miller, Raymond Mullen and Owen Orser work as usual in their new surroundings at the Hall of Justice. The agency, part of the county's purchasing department, was the first to move to the new wing and began operating there yesterday. The cafeteria will move next. Major moves will begin after final inspection of the $11.7 million structure, possibly in November. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Beach Area Annexations On Agenda

Dillon Beach developer Benjamin P. Bonelli wants Oceana Marin and Dillon Beach subdivisions annexed to North Marin County Water District to get sewage service.

His request for annexation will come before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission at 8 p.m. Thursday in the board of supervisors chambers at the Civic Center.

Also on the agenda are several other annexation requests.

Owners of property along Lucky Road in Greenbrae, along the south bank of Corte Madera Creek, seek annexation to Corte Madera Sanitary District. About 15 acres are involved in the proposed annexation.

Six homeowners in East San Rafael, east of Loch Lomond, want annexation to San Rafael Sanitation District because septic tank failures have occurred. The homes are on Las Huertas Court, Bayview Drive and Main Drive.

Residents along San Marin Drive, a part of which is in the county area, want the whole stretch within the City of Novato so that road maintenance can be improved.

Novato Sanitary District seeks annexation of 1.6 acres of open land on Novato Boulevard, just west of McClay Road.

Final item on the agenda is the annual election of chairman. Hugh G. Marchant of Kentfield is now chairman.

Experimental Debris Box Wins Approval

Belvedere City Council last night directed that four days a month a debris box be placed on city property for public use as an experimental solution to the backyard burning ban which takes effect Jan. 1.

The box will be placed sometime this month after the city contacts a refuse company and will be operated for a six-month trial period. The box probably would be left open Friday through Monday once a month.

William L. Cavalli, city clerk, first suggested the city add a second debris pickup to its annual free trash collection, stating that these two collections would "go a long way toward eliminating the problem."

The council, however, felt that people would not pile up debris for six month periods and would dump it somewhere if they couldn't burn it.

To a query about having a permanent debris box Cavalli said the spot would become a garbage dumping ground and that a debris box should be left there only for short periods.

The city could rent the box service for the long weekend period for about $360 a year, Cavalli said. The location was not selected.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

BOAT ORDINANCE — Approved an ordinance tightly controlling houseboat moorings and sewage systems and regulating the mooring of boats and the location of piers.

TREES — Was informed that the planning commission appointed a committee to consider the regulating of trees to prevent blocking of views, danger from falling limbs and creation of debris. The committee will also submit questionnaires to residents to obtain their opinions.

CORPORATION YARD — Was informed by Cavalli that an inspection of the yard revealed some unsightly aspects but that little of this could be seen from outside. He said he would discuss the matter with persons who had complained about the yard.

YARD TREES — Directed a company be hired "for a couple of hundred dollars" to trim the four eucalyptus trees in the corporation yard. Cavalli noted that some residents near the yard had complained of debris from the trees and that trimming would offer an alternative to removing them.

COVE ROAD — Approved the widening of 100 feet of Cove Road from Barn Road to Cove Place by five feet to give 28 feet of pavement. The $500 cost to be taken from gasoline tax revenues.

BONDS— Endorsed in principle a proposal by the City of Tiburon that the two cities purchase $10,000 worth of construction bonds from the Reed School District, which as $180,500 worth it cannot sell because of the nationally tight money situation. Further action will await a recommendation of the district committee now studying the matter.

REYES — Passed a resolution requesting the president, the governor and others to approve monies for purchasing more land for Point Reyes National Seashore.

DECAL — Instructed Cavalli to investigate the creation of a city decal that could be sold to residents and perhaps others as a car sticker with the money to be used for recreation.

FERRIES — Was informed by Mayor Thomas S. Price that the transportation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will consider a Belvedere—San Francisco ferry service at 9 a.m. tomorrow and the full board will discuss it at 10 a.m. Friday at the district board room.

Two Luaus, Halloween Events Set

Two luaus and the fourth annual Halloween costume parade are scheduled for this month in Marinwood, recreation director William A. Gordon announced last night at the meeting of the Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commission.

The annual luau for adults residents and nonresidents alike, is set for 7 p.m. Oct. 18 at the community center. The Keiki luau of teens and young people will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 24. Reservations are needed for both events.

The Halloween costume parade, sponsored by the Marinwood Funsters, will he held Oct. 25. Children will meet the fire truck at 10 a.m. in the tennis court area and march to the community center for judging of costumes.

On Halloween day, Oct. 31, the annual spook house will open at 3 p.m.

Commissioners announced that the swimming pool, which opened last March, will close Nov. 2.

The Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commissioner also

PARK PLAN -- Asked Alan Horobin, park superintendent to prepare a master plan for Marinwood parks in about a month.

GOLF — Commissioner Kenneth Charshaf announced that a golf tournament is planned for adult golfers next spring.

RECREATION VEHICLE — Asked Chairman Richard O'Brien and Charshaf to look into buying or leasing a recreation automobile for transporting people and running errands.

SWIM RIBBONS — Approved the purchase of $25 worth of ribbons for a relay swim meet this Saturday at Marinwood. Commissioner Ralph E. Tischberr reported that the swim team parents' club had contributed $45 to buy championship patches for the Marinwood swim team.

Judge Reduces Felony Charge

A felony charge of passing worthless checks against Bonnie Marie Swimley, 46, of San Francisco, was declared to be a misdemeanor yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court.

The reduction came about when the district attorney's office could not prove that Mrs. Swimley had a prior conviction for the same charge, which would have made the offense a felony.

She was arrested Sept. 6 at a San Rafael store allegedly trying to cash a bad check.

Indian Summer Lures Sunners Sans Suits

As Indian Summer continued in Marin County, nude sunbathers and swimmers continued to plague residents and Stinson beaches, where sheriff's deputies made four arrests in the last three days.

Saturday a mounted patrolman arrested Gregory F. Gasaway, 21, of Forest Knolls, after a resident of Stinson Beach who was sitting on her front porch reported that he was nude on the beach.

He posted $125 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Sunday and yesterday, Mrs. Elinor Borden, who lives above Muir Beach, called deputies to complain of nudes, and three more persons were arrested on suspicion of disturbing the peace.

Miriam Theresa Pinsky, 20, of San Francisco; Martha Elizabeth Ekstrom, 20, of Berkeley, and Edmund Richard Helminski, 22, of 704 Cabin Drive, Mill Valley, all posted $125 each to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

When disturbed, the electric eel can discharge a powerful current capable of killing frogs or small fish.

Sewage Project To Be Discussed

Progress made toward a community sewage system at Dillon Beach will be reported to the North Marin Water District board at 8 p.m. today in the district office.

The district has been working on plans for a sewage disposal system for a subdivision near Dillon Beach. It has also been trying to organize the citizens of that area into a service district so that the district could build a larger facility to take care of the entire area.

Other items to come before the board will be a report on the Russian River project and a resolution opposing the taxation of municipal bonds.

President Quits At Fresno State

Yesterday, Ness asked the faculty to vote on whether Jackmon should be hired.

Derby Winners Are Announced

Winners in the Class A entries, cars with wheels 11 inches and over: Mark Forbes of El Cerrito, first; Troy Dunham of San Rafael, second, and Robert Hunt of Pleasant Hill, third.

Winners in Class B entries, cars with wheels smaller than 11 inches were: Robert King Jr. of Novato, first; James Bosted of Pleasant Hill, second, and Susan Garliardi of Gilroy, third.

RECREATION VEHICLE — Asked Chairman Richard O'Brien and Charshaf to look into buying or leasing a recreation automobile for transporting people and running errands.

SWIM RIBBONS — Approved the purchase of $25 worth of ribbons for a relay swim meet this Saturday at Marinwood. Commissioner Ralph E. Tischbern reported that the swim team parents' club had contributed $45 to buy championship patches for the Marinwood swim team.

Judge Reduces Felony Charge

A felony charge of passing worthless checks against Bonnie Marie Swimley, 46, of San Francisco, was declared to be a misdemeanor yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court.

The reduction came about when the district attorney's office could not prove that Mrs. Swimley had a prior conviction for the same charge, which would have made the offense a felony.

She was arrested Sept. 6 at a San Rafael store allegedly trying to cash a bad check.

Indian Summer Lures Sunners Sans Suits

As Indian Summer continued in Marin County, nude sunbathers and swimmers continued to plague residents and Stinson beaches, where sheriff's deputies made four arrests in the last three days.

Saturday a mounted patrolman arrested Gregory F. Gasaway, 21, of Forest Knolls, after a resident of Stinson Beach who was sitting on her front porch reported that he was nude on the beach.

He posted $125 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Sunday and yesterday, Mrs. Elinor Borden, who lives above Muir Beach, called deputies to complain of nudes, and three more persons were arrested on suspicion of disturbing the peace.

Miriam Theresa Pinsky, 20, of San Francisco; Martha Elizabeth Ekstrom, 20, of Berkeley, and Edmund Richard Helminski, 22, of 704 Cabin Drive, Mill Valley, all posted $125 each to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

When disturbed, the electric eel can discharge a powerful current capable of killing frogs or small fish.

Sewage Project To Be Discussed

Progress made toward a community sewage system at Dillon Beach will be reported to the North Marin Water District board at 8 p.m. today in the district office.

The district has been working on plans for a sewage disposal system for a subdivision near Dillon Beach. It has also been trying to organize the citizens of that area into a service district so that the district could build a larger facility to take care of the entire area.

Other items to come before the board will be a report on the Russian River project and a resolution opposing the taxation of municipal bonds.

Yesterday, Ness asked the faculty to vote on whether Jackmon should be hired.

Derby Winners Are Announced

Winners in the Class A entries, cars with wheels 11 inches and over: Mark Forbes of El Cerrito, first; Troy Dunham of San Rafael, second, and Robert Hunt of Pleasant Hill, third.

Winners in Class B entries, cars with wheels smaller than 11 inches were: Robert King Jr. of Novato, first; James Bosted of Pleasant Hill, second, and Susan Garliardi of Gilroy, third.

1,800 Mobile Home Park Favored In Novato Hearing

A crowd estimated at 240 persons jammed the Novato Planning Commission chambers last night to hear arguments on the pros and cons of a proposal to place 1,800 mobile homes on 710 acres of property south of Highway 37 west of Black Point.

After prolonged discussion, the commission agreed in principle with developer John E. Kenney's proposal, which is part of a 2,300 unit development to include 300 apartments, 200 single family homes, a shopping center and 75-acre lake.

At the beginning of the meeting, commission Chairman Eugene McGillicuddy said the panel would take no official action on the plan at Kenney's request. Kenney had asked for a postponement until 8 p.m. Oct. 27 to make changes as requested by the city planning staff.

McGillicuddy also announced that the question of tax revenue produced by regular homes versus taxes realized from mobile homes — a major point of contention — would not be discussed since the commission was concerned only with planning. The tax issue would be heard by the city council, he said.

However, most of the arguments presented concerned the ratio of taxes on mobile homes versus conventional homes. Kenney's son, John Jr., was not permitted to present figures he had on a large chart, but did say that the city would get $84,798 in taxes from the mobile homes per year, and the Novato Unified School District would get $245,466 per year, although the development would be an adult community.

(The area proposed for development had originally been zoned for planned community by the Marin County Planning Commission, which formerly had jurisdiction. Kenney had originally proposed construction of 1,400 single family dwellings, but then decided to provide 1,800 mobile home pads. This was rejected by the board supervisors. The area was subsequently annexed to the City of Novato.)

Kenney said that if the original proposal of 1,400 single family homes was approved, the school district would receive $676,970 in taxes, but it would cost the district $1,509,200 to educate the children who would live in the area.

James Hobbs, past president of the Black Point Improvement Club, said that he and club favored the mobile home proposal.

Judging from the applause of the crowd, about one-fourth favored the mobile homes and the balance was opposed.

Arnold Baptiste, president of the North Marin Federation (of homeowners associations) who lives outside of the city, presented the opposition's case. He argued that if the commission allowed the mobile home park, it would be setting" the destiny of North Marin" because the area would become the mecca for mobile homes. He argued that mobile homes "do not pay their pro-rata share of taxes." Baptiste asked for a moratorium on mobile home parks in the North Marin area.

Jack Kniveton, president of the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association, who also lives outside of the city, said that Bel Marin Keys would be the area most affected by the mobile homes because it was just across Novato Creek from the park. He said the association had failed to take action when Los Robles mobile home park was proposed and he did not think it was "the most beautiful thing." (The Los Robles Park remains unfinished.)

Alfred Rivasplata, president of the Black Point Improvement Club, who also does not live within the city, said that mobile homes were actually low cost housing. He did not think that there was a balance in the 1,800 mobile homes to the total of 500 single family dwellings and apartments.

All other presidents and representatives of homeowners' associations both within and outside the city limits backed Baptiste.

Marie Telegin, secretary to the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association, presented a petition of 388 signatures against the mobile home park.

The question of whether the city could legally restrict the development to adults was raised, but not answered, to await a written decision by City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr.

After three and a half hours of public discussion, commissioner Wayne Sartain moved that the commission ask the city council to place a moratorium on mobile home development or establish a ratio of the number of mobile homes to be permitted in the community against the number of established residences in the city. It died for lack of a second.

Commissioner Frank Valim said he thought 1,800 units was too many. Commissioners Kay England and Lee C. Wise thought that the development should allow children.

Henry M. Torget of Loma Verde, who lives outside the city and is former business agent for Carpenters Union Local 35, pointed out that Marin County would lose $6 million in carpenters' wages if conventional houses were not built and mobile homes allowed in.

Council Swears In Edward Boessenecker

Edward J. Boessenecker last night was formally appointed to the Mill Valley City Council, filling the post vacated when Rodric L. Robinson resigned Sept. 15.

Boessenecker was selected by the council at a closed meeting Sept. 24, but through an oversight the councilmen failed to reconvene in open session to formalize his appointment.

Follwoing swearing in ceremonies conducted by City Mgr. William H. Cunningham, Boessenecker said he was "gratified by the confidence you've shown in me."

He then noted that among the many congratulatory notes he has received was one simply saying: "Congratulations and condolences." Boessenecker declined to name the sender.

Tennis Fees Proposal Doesn't Clear The Net

A proposal to charge annual fees from $2 to $30 per family for use of the public tennis courts was rejected last night by the Mill Valley City Council after a delegation of Tennis players opposed the idea.

The suggestion by the Parks and Recreation Commission never came to a vote after a group of about 20 tennis players said the solution to overcrowding of courts was more courts, not a fee.

"This was just an idea," Mayor Dean N. Meyer said, noting that the council would not put it into effect untill tennis players wanted it.

Under the proposal, city residents would be charged $2 annually per family, nonresidents in the Mill Valley postal area would pay $15 and other nonresidents $30. Each player would be issued a key card to unlock special gates at the courts.

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham questioned the feasibility, saying it would be easy for persons to circumvent the fee and necessitating someone at the courts to check players. Also, he said, he doubted if the system would pay for itself, let along finance new tennis courts, an objective of the proposal.

Tennis players were told the city has set aside $5,000 for construction of new courts if the tennis players themselves will raise additional funds. Tamalpais High School also has indicated it might contribute toward new courts, Councilman George Wickham said.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

EXCAVATION — Approved a two-week extension of corrective work on an illegal excavation at 200 Marlin Avenue.

HARBOR — Heard that the city staff has set a deadline of Dec. 1 for yacht harbor developer Paul C. Fischer to take action toward signing the harbor development lease.

POLES — Heard a report that utility poles along Fern Canyon Road — where undergrounding is being considered — are located on Marin Municipal Water District property.

ABANDONMENT — Rejected a request by Howard Lane for the city to abandon a portion of the Summit Avenue right-of-way.

HEARING — Set a hearing for 8 p.m. Oct. 20 in city hall for the assessment of demolition costs for a public nuisance at 329 Vista Linda Avenue.

NUISANCES — Adopted an emergency ordinance giving the city the power to abate public nuisances other than those covered in the building codes.

SLIDE — Heard the city is waiting for federal approval of storm disaster funds to repair the Miller Avenue slide, but that action probably won't come in time to repair the slide before the rainy season starts.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Edward M. Mills as the city's representative to Fair-Marin.

VACANCY — Heard that Meyer is soliciting names for appointment to the city's planning commission to fill the vacancy created by appointment to the city council of Edward J. Boessenecker.

SEWERS — Approved plans and a call for bids for construction of the Cascade Drive trunk sewer line.

DRAINAGE — Approved a change of plans and call for bids for installation of drainage pipes on Vasco Drive.

Teacher Group Wants To Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The American Federation of Teachers said today it was going ahead with plans for a strike against San Francisco schools this week despite the opposition of the rival Classroom Teachers Association.

CTA President Patrick King said yesterday his group, which represents more than half the city's public school teachers, would "actively oppose" the strike.

The AFT, an AFL-CIO union, called a strike meeting for 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Hilton Hotel and said if teachers attending approved the strike, it would start Thursday.

Cotton's Troubles Due To Sandbags

SACRAMENTO (CNS(— Eye catching mini skirts for the girls and short-sleeved shirts for men cannot be blamed for the current low prices for cotton in California, according to a report of the California Department of Agriculture's Market News bureau.

The cotton prices reached the lowest point in 24 years and the bureau placed most of the blame on reduced military needs, a higher level of textile imports, and a steady upward trend in man-made fibres which serve as substitutes for cotton.

The market news report pointed out that these man-made fibres have tripled in production in the last 10 years, and now exceeds the usage of cotton fibres.

Cotton purchases by the U.S. Defense Department have decreased nearly 200,000 bales a year as a result of buying sand bags made from synthetic materials, which outwear cotton.

Red Teacher Talks As 2,000 Listen

Despite a ruling that no students attending would get credit, 2,000 persons had gathered in Royce Hall.

Miss Davis told the students she considered the Board of Regents ruling against her teaching for credit "an expansion of the tactics singling me out for harrassment and expanding it to the student body."

Her natural Afro-style haircut formed the illusion of a halo as she declared it was up to the students to decide "how to deal with this encroachment on your liberty."

The assistant philosophy professor then lectured for 45 minutes to "debunk the myth that black people were docile during slavery and oppression."

After the lecture, the 800 persons who remained in the hall passed a three-part resolution by voice vote. It urged that Thursday's meeting of the statewide faculty Academic Senate be open to students, that the senate should insist the course be given credit, and that the senate should recommend the faculty refuse to teach until credits are granted and Miss Davis is reinstated.

Miss Davis was ordered dismissed under a 29-year-old rule forbidding employment of communists in the University of California system. Pending hearings on the matter, Donald Kalish, chairman of the UCLA philosophy department, assigned Miss Davis to a course.

The regents, in emergency session last week, voted to reverse the assignment.

However, the regents' ruling was interpreted to mean she could lecture but without credit for the students.

Robert Singleton, director of the Afro-American studies Center at the school, said 20 black faculty members had agreed not to give grades in their classes if no credit is given for Miss Davis' course.

The statewide Academic Senate Assembly announced it would meet Saturday to reconsider the 1950 proposal banning Communists in the University of California faculties.

A move was under way to put the school's faculty on record that it considers Miss Davis' philosophy course to be a credit course.

UCLA's Academic Senate Committee on Undergraduate Courses has adopted such a resolution. The Senate will vote Thursday to ratify it. The faculty last week condemned the regents' order to institute dismissal proceedings against Miss Davis.

Plea Of Guilty To A Reduced Marijuana Count

Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of Kentfield, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to reduced charges of marijuana possession. He had originally been charged with two sales of the drug.

Faircloth was convicted by a jury in May of possessing marijuana but the jury was hung on whether he was guilty of two sales.

He was sentenced to pay a $500 fine and spend 10 weekends in jail.

Judge E. Warren McGuire told Faircloth to return to court Nov. 4 for sentencing on the last two convictions.

Pleads Innocent

Eugene Richard Rudnick, 19, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge that he possessed marijuana and a device for smoking it on the Courthouse lawn Aug. 22. A jury trial was set for the week of Jan. 19.

Mail Order House Seeks A Tax Break

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State Board of Equalization today began studying a request by Sears Roebuck & Co. that it should be allowed to deduct from its state income tax interest paid by customers on their installment credit purchases.

The giant merchantile and mail order firm complained yesterday to the board it had overpaid $402,378 in state income taxes in 1960, 1961 and 1962 because it wasn't treated the same as individual taxpayers by the Franchise Tax Board.

Sears charges 1.5 per cent on the unpaid balance of an account after 30 days as a service charge. This is 18 per cent a year. The individual income taxpayer can deduct about 6 per cent of the interest he pays on the outstanding balance of his installment purchases.

Taking the appeal under submission here Chairman John W. Lynch, Fresno, and members Richard Nevins, Pasadena, and George Riley, San Francisco. All said they had Sears credit cards.

Probation On Pot Possession

Rita Jean Hodges, 20, of San Anselmo, yesterday was given a suspended 90-day jail sentence, placed on two year' probation and fined $250 for possessing marijuana.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also ordered the young woman to end a common-law relationship with Peter Kaufman "forthwith," get a job or go to school, refrain from the use of narcotics and from associating with persons who use them.

Miss Hodges had earlier pleaded guilty to possessing the weed Aug. 1 in San Anselmo, and a charge of cultivating marijuana against her was dismissed. Similar charges against Kaufman were dismissed in August.

Surgeons Eye Heart Cases, Abortion Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Heart transplants and abortions, the ultimates of life and death through surgery, dominated yesterday's opening session of the 55th annual clinical congress of the American Society of Surgeons.

A group of pioneer transplanters generally agreed there is a growing reluctance among potential recipients to accept new hearts, but the man who performed the first said he "never had a patient refuse it."

Dr. Christiaan Barnard of Capetown, South Africa, noted the operation was performed only on persons near death with chronic heart disease. Statistics show 115 of the 146 heart transplant cases to date have ended in death.

"It is easy to say stop when you have a normal heart," Barnard said, "but it is a different matter if you are dying."

Meanwhile, during a panel discussion of therapeutic abortion, a New York obstretrician urged the 15,000 doctors attending the five-day meeting to fight for the repeal of all abortion laws.

Dr. Martin L. Stone of New York Medical College said physicians must assume their social responsibilities in an effort to make abortion strictly a medical matter, rather than a subject of criminal action, because "desperate women will not let the law or even possible death deter their resolve to terminate an unwanted pregnancy."

A growing reluctance among both doctors and patients for heart transplants was noted by heart surgeons Denton Cooley of Houston and Pierre Grondin of Montreal, but they gave different reasons.

Cooley, who has performed 21 transplants, said "some critically ill patients are playing sort of a game of brinksmanship before agreeing to the operation."

Grondin, who has performed nine transplants, agreed about the change of attitude but said it was a swing toward reality after "out of proportion" enthusiasm generated by the first heart transfers nearly two years ago.

Tots Learn About The 'Creepy' Pets

By JOAN LISETOR

Gart, the garter snake at Sleepy Hollow Cooperative Nursery School, was renamed Gertrude last week when she gave birth to 11 baby snakes.

The garter snake is just one of many reptiles and rodents the teacher, Mrs. Rolly Mulvey, incorporates into the curriculum of the school. There are also toads, snails, worms, guinea pigs, rabbits, rats, turtles and lizards.

JANET MULVEY'S interest in nature is recent and was stimulated by her own children: Brian, 9, Sharon, 7, and Kevin, 5. A graduate student at San Francisco State College, she enrolled in an outdoor education class. Her fascination began with that course for Mrs. Mulvey, who will receive a master's degree in nursery school education in January.

"We need the space because I have to take all of the animals home from school every night. We have to stack the cages," she explains, "and then we also have a raccoon who needs a runway. He has the run of the house now and really isn't a house pet."

MR. MULVEY is attempting to tame the raccoon so he can be added to the school menagery.

"My husband is from a rural area and has always had a tremendous interest in animals," Mrs. Mulvey says. The family moved to Marin about five years ago from New Jersey, where Janet had almost completed requirements for a secondary teaching credential. She completed her undergraduate work here, and then decided to switch to nursery school education.

"I became involved in nursery schools when my own children were pre-school age and attended Corte Madera-Larkspur Cooperative Nursery School," she says. "As a volunteer there I became aware of the cooperative school program, which is also designed to educate the parents."

The parents are learning about nature from their children, Mrs. Mulvey says.

"THE MOTHERS who used to shudder at the sight of a rat have become desensitized, and in a few cases it has been the father who has told the child he couldn't keep one of the baby rats. A fear of snakes and mice is taught, and if you can get to a child young enough they will never have the fear."

Mrs. Mulvey suggests that mothers who are afraid of animals admit their fears to the children instead of trying to conceal them.

One example she gives of a fearful child is a little girl who enrolled in the nursery school last year.

"She was afraid of all of the animals, even the turtles," Mrs. Mulvey explained. "She had been frightened by big dogs when she was very small, but gradually through the year she became less and less timid and then took a liking to one of the baby bunnies. She showered so much love on that bunny, and this year she touches all of the animals and is not even afraid of dogs anymore."

NATURE STUDY is not confined to the classroom at the nursery school. One of the highlights of the school year is the hike the children take in early spring as soon as the rainy season ends.

"On the hikes the children respond to the natural setting. They catch lizards and study footprints," the teacher says. "Then they are able to relate to the animals when they get back to the classroom."

She explains that although the children love the animals they do not have any silly sentimentality about them.

"They catch and raise the worms," she says, "but they understand that worms are food for the snakes and don't hesitate to feed them."

"IT'S FUN to hold a snake," says Julie Foehr, who, along with her classmates, is learning about nature before they have a chance to develop fears for snakes, rats and other animals their teacher brings to class. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

HUGGING HIS brother's rabbit is David Anderson, who brought the bunny to nursery school to show to his classmates and his teacher, Janet Mulvey. The nursery school curriculum includes field trips, where the children can see animals in their natural surroundings and relate to them when they return to class.

It's Freedom Of Choice In Fall Dress Trends

Feminine, free and relaxed is the attitude expressed by softer silhouettes, clingier fabrics and subdued colorations.

Her mood of the moment dictates milady's mode of dressing. She may opt for classics such as the shirt-waist and the princess coat-dress, both of which are enjoying an upsurge of popularity.

OR SHE MAY aye the free-moving lines of a flippy pleated-skirt dress with interest at the hipline. Whatever her style preference, she is sure to find it this season.

The shape of fall is the shape that moves whether it is spare or full, mini, midi-or maxi-lengthed. It calls for soft, supple fabrics such as jersey or challis or nylon knits.

The limp, slithery shape is most often accompanied by a long sleeve, sometimes full blown, sometimes extra skinny but always right down to the wrist.

Necklines move up to turtles and mockturtles, shirred cowls and shirtcollars that are tiny and ladylike or narrowly pointed and cut to lie flat.

FLYAWAY SCARVES are seen everywhere — worn Isadora Duncan-like, swathed about the throat, tossed over shoulders or wrapped around waistlines. The scarf serves in as many ways as the wearer's ingenuity can muster.

Back on the scene is the little black dress which has changed its image. Once a basic in any well-dressed woman's wardrobe, the little black dress now stars in its own right.

Fall colors tend to be subtle and dark. Wine and bottle green are much in evidence. There are some lighter shades and they have a dusty cast — dusty rose, ash blue, dusty green, taupe, ivory.

Inspect Laundry

Do laundry inspection before the clothes go into the washer. Remove from pockets sand, grass, loose dirt and lint. Also remove pins, ornaments, removable shoulder pads, and unwashable trimmings. Zippers, hook fasteners and buckles should be closed and loose strings tied. Do any repairs of rips or holes before washing.

Mrs. Stephen Barker Heads Jewish Aid Unit

Mrs. Stephen M. Barker is heading the Marin Chapter of the Women's Division of the Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County and the Peninsula.

As a subordinate unit of the Jewish Welfare Federation, the women's division's purposes are to interpret to the community the aims and work of the federation and its beneficiary agencies and to participate in fund raising activities authorized by the parent organization.

Any women who in her own name contributes to the Jewish Welfare Federation is a voting member of the Women's Division.

A year around program is planned by the Marin Chapter beginning next Tuesday with a four part lecture series of seminars on "World Jewry in Crisis." Other lectures, a tea and a major fund raising event are planned.

Nancy Barker, a nine-year-member of the organization, is a former secretary of the Brandeis University Women's Committee. Her other activities are the Family Planning Clinic, and she is a room mother for her seven-year-old daughter Lori's class at Belvedere School.

The Barkers have lived in Belvedere for two years. Mr. Barker is vice president of Monogram of California, and the couple also have a son, Jonathan, four years old. Nancy is a graduate of Lowell High School is San Francisco and attended San Jose State College. She has also studied acting and appeared with the Pelican Players at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Her hobbies include hiking, painting, doing collages and cooking and on a recent trip to Yosemite she did a little mountain climbing, which added to her love of the outdoors. Working and being with people is what she enjoys most.

"They catch and raise the worms," she says, "but they understand that worms are food for the snakes and don't hesitate to feed them."

"IT'S FUN to hold a snake," says Julie Foehr, who, along with her classmates, is learning about nature before they have a chance to develop fears for snakes, rats and other animals their teacher brings to class. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

HUGGING HIS brother's rabbit is David Anderson, who brought the bunny to nursery school to show to his classmates and his teacher, Janet Mulvey. The nursery school curriculum includes field trips, where the children can see animals in their natural surroundings and relate to them when they return to class.

It's Freedom Of Choice In Fall Dress Trends

Feminine, free and relaxed is the attitude expressed by softer silhouettes, clingier fabrics and subdued colorations.

Her mood of the moment dictates milady's mode of dressing. She may opt for classics such as the shirt-waist and the princess coat-dress, both of which are enjoying an upsurge of popularity.

OR SHE MAY aye the free-moving lines of a flippy pleated-skirt dress with interest at the hipline. Whatever her style preference, she is sure to find it this season.

The shape of fall is the shape that moves whether it is spare or full, mini, midi-or maxi-lengthed. It calls for soft, supple fabrics such as jersey or challis or nylon knits.

The limp, slithery shape is most often accompanied by a long sleeve, sometimes full blown, sometimes extra skinny but always right down to the wrist.

Necklines move up to turtles and mockturtles, shirred cowls and shirtcollars that are tiny and ladylike or narrowly pointed and cut to lie flat.

FLYAWAY SCARVES are seen everywhere — worn Isadora Duncan-like, swathed about the throat, tossed over shoulders or wrapped around waistlines. The scarf serves in as many ways as the wearer's ingenuity can muster.

Back on the scene is the little black dress which has changed its image. Once a basic in any well-dressed woman's wardrobe, the little black dress now stars in its own right.

Fall colors tend to be subtle and dark. Wine and bottle green are much in evidence. There are some lighter shades and they have a dusty cast — dusty rose, ash blue, dusty green, taupe, ivory.

Inspect Laundry

Do laundry inspection before the clothes go into the washer. Remove from pockets sand, grass, loose dirt and lint. Also remove pins, ornaments, removable shoulder pads, and unwashable trimmings. Zippers, hook fasteners and buckles should be closed and loose strings tied. Do any repairs of rips or holes before washing.

Marin Women

Mrs. Stephen Barker Heads Jewish Aid Unit

Mrs. Stephen M. Barker is heading the Marin Chapter of the Women's Division of the Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County and the Peninsula.

As a subordinate unit of the Jewish Welfare Federation, the women's division's purposes are to interpret to the community the aims and work of the federation and its beneficiary agencies and to participate in fund raising activities authorized by the parent organization.

Any women who in her own name contributes to the Jewish Welfare Federation is a voting member of the Women's Division.

A year around program is planned by the Marin Chapter beginning next Tuesday with a four part lecture series of seminars on "World Jewry in Crisis." Other lectures, a tea and a major fund raising event are planned.

Nancy Barker, a nine-year-member of the organization, is a former secretary of the Brandeis University Women's Committee. Her other activities are the Family Planning Clinic, and she is a room mother for her seven-year-old daughter Lori's class at Belvedere School.

The Barkers have lived in Belvedere for two years. Mr. Barker is vice president of Monogram of California, and the couple also have a son, Jonathan, four years old. Nancy is a graduate of Lowell High School is San Francisco and attended San Jose State College. She has also studied acting and appeared with the Pelican Players at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Her hobbies include hiking, painting, doing collages and cooking and on a recent trip to Yosemite she did a little mountain climbing, which added to her love of the outdoors. Working and being with people is what she enjoys most.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She Can't Stop Her Fiance From Taking Over The Housework

DEAR HELEN:

I am getting married in a couple of months, and my fiance likes to do all the housework.

Ted has lived alone for three years and before that was in the Army. He keeps a neat apartment.

He says if he gets home from work before I do he'll have supper on the table. Every time I start to mop the floor or dust, he takes over. I don't mind once in a while, when I am sick or something, but I want to be in charge of my house. Would I be off base to tell him the kitchen-cleaning detail is off-limits? — CONCERNED

DEAR CON:

I think you'd be off your rocker!

When husband and wife both work, they should share equal responsibility for housecleaning, cooking, etc. If your man runs true to form, he'll happily allow you access to broom and range (that's where husbands and boy friends differ), but if you get huffy and don't praise him for his help, you may soon be writing, "Ted used to be so good around the house, and now he doesn't lift a finger." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can you ever make amends to a girl who won't tell you what you did wrong? My wife suddenly stops speaking. She makes me feel so little I could walk under a pregnant dachshund. I check back on all the things I should feel guilty over—sometimes I even confess things she doesn't know about, which makes her mad on two scores. I stay in the dog house for a couple of days, and then everything is okay again. If I ask her what was wrong, she says, "Oh, nothing . . . " and sighs like how could I be so stupid? We've been married six months, are both 21, but she's aging me fast.

Would you please tell women, Helen, to level with their husbands? We prefer a good fight to the silent treatment. — DOUG

DEAR DOUG:

I tell 'em, and tell 'em, but they only listen to what they want to hear.

So again: Gals: Let it all hang out. Be honest, expressive, open. Don't silently build little rifts into big chasm. If you think things you can't say, perhaps it's because you realize how foolish they'd sound, out loud.

1. Affectionate teasing, well timed, can head off wifely silence. She'll forgive a lot, if you're lovable. And afterwards she may even tell you what she has forgiven.

2. Pretend you don't notice. It's awfully hard staying mad at someone who isn't aware of it. She'll either explode and tell you why you're a skunk, or realize you aren't one after all.

3. If she persists, deliver an ultimatum: "Look, honey, it's 7 p.m. By 8 p.m. you'll get over your sulks and tell me what's wrong or I'LL" — a.) "Walk right out the front door!" b.) "Give you the spanking you deserve!" c.) "Call your mother!" d.) "Invite my mother for a two-week visit." (Take your choice.)

Above all, Doug (and this goes for wives too) don't let the silent treatment become a habit in your household. Marriages can thrive on good healthy fights, but few survive non-communication. — H.

Michelle Abraham Will Become Bride

Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Michael K. Abraham of Novato are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Michelle Lynne Abraham, to Thomas J. Steiner.

MICHELLE ABRAHAM

Michelle is the sister of Diane and Jacqueline Abraham of Novato. She was graduated from Novato High School and is a senior at St. Joseph's College of Nursing in San Francisco.

Ross Hospital Service Names Outstanding Volunteer Of Year

The award for outstanding volunteer of the year went to Mrs. James Bonner yesterday at the Ross Volunteer Service annual business luncheon. Mrs. Coulter McKeever received the special award for volunteer work.

Other volunteers recognized for hours of service are: Mmes. Edwin Christie, 5000; Tyler Seeley, Howard Hetzner, 2000; Miss Ruth Mason, John Roth, 1000; John Camiccia, Alfred Perlin, Raymound Dallara, 500; Frank Foster, M. M. McElwaine, Stanley Lehmann, Travis Devin and Alexander Coutts, 100.

Mrs. Guy Ryerson, chairman of the nominating committee, announced that the officers for this term are: Mmes. John Gaylord, president; Carl Carlsen, executive vice president; Robert Cortopassi, vice president, ways and means; Ray Ferrari vice president, orientation; William Manuel, recording secretary; David Sederquist, corresponding secretary; Guy Ryerson, treasurer; Christopher Corr, publicity.

THE DRAMA-Literary Section of the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club will meet for luncheon and bridge Friday at 12:30 p.m., Mmes. Thomas P. Cusick and A.M. Komora are chairmen.

DANCE INTO fashion with Marin County Legal Secretaries is the theme of the fashion show and luncheon to be held at the Holiday Inn, Terra Linda, Saturday.

The fashions will be modeled by legal secretaries of Marin County, with some teen-age participants.

No host cocktails at 11:30, luncheon at 12:30, and the program begins at 1:30 p.m. Reservations chairman is Mrs. Joseph Caminita Jr. of San Rafael.

A "SHIPWRECK Sale" with new and undamaged merchandise which was slavaged from maritime accidents will be held on Saturday by the Poplar Branch of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers.

The sale will be at the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association clubhouse, 1317 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with all proceeds going to the Cobalt Fund at Marin General.

Merchandise such as toys, clothing, table mats, burlap and coconuts has been donated and will be sold at "rock bottom" prices, according to Mrs. Edwin Hurt of San Anselmo, who is in charge of the sale.

All of the items come from cases damaged in ship wrecks, but the merchandise itself is as new.

Assisting Mrs. Hurt with the "Shipwreck Sale" are Mrs. Philip Dunning, Novati; Mrs. Richard Keith and Mrs. Owen Merritt, both of San Anselmo.

AN ALL-DAY bridge tournament is planned Friday by the Marin Foundation Toyon Unit at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda. Bridge will follow brunch at 11 a.m.

The Italian designer, a Californian since 1967, is a native of Torino, Italy, where he received his training.

Champagne and canapes at 7:30 will precede the fashion show at 8:30 p.m.

THE SAN Rafael P-TA Council announces a workshop to be held 9:30 a.m., Thursday, at the First Methodist Church.

State P-TA leaders who will conduct the workshop for council and unit officials are Mrs. S. O. Thorlaksson Jr., state director of education and Mrs. Vincent P. Anderson, state chairman, elementary service.

Luncheon will be served at noon. Mrs. Paul VandenBos is the San Rafael Council president.

"LET YOURSELF Go!" will be the theme discussed and demonstrated by Mill Valley interior designer Lorette Larson tomorrow at the annual fund-raising event before the monthly meeting of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Women's Club.

It will take place at 8 p.m. at the parish hall in Mill Valley.

Funds will go toward furnishing the parlors of the rectory of the church.

Some of the subjects Miss Larson will discuss are decorating as a deeply personal and emotional experience and avoidance of drabness disguised as practicality. She is an advocate of colorful, warm rooms rather than pretentious, formal ones.

Miss Larson is noted not only for her residential work in Marin but also throughout the psychiatric profession for her work in environmental design for the emotionally disturbed and handicapped as demonstrated locally by her work for the Community Mental Health Center and with the Catholic Social Service Agency of Marin. She is presently involved in the remodeling of St. Vincent School for boys.

MILL VALLEY Bethel 119 of the International Order of Job's Daughters will hold its visiting bethel meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Mill Valley Masonic Temple. Visiting Job's Daughters are invited to attend.

Honored queen Trudy Ellis will preside, and refreshments chairman will be Sue Jaeger. Initiated at the last meeting were Nancy Treisch, Lynda Duncan, Kelline Lang and Jann Glasner.

CONCERT REVIEW

Stokowski Launches 60th Season In Style

NEW YORK (AP) — Leopold Stokowski opened his 60th season of conducting in America last night with a flash of his old-time temperament that brought cheers from a first-night audience at Carnegie Hall.

The orchestra responded to his batonless direction and played up a storm with the rousing old warhorse of a tune. The listeners—some had paid $50 for an orchestra seat—shouted for an encore and got it.

It was a great night for music lovers, provided they loved Liszt's 2nd Hungarian Rhapsody.

Stokowski's white hair was considerably thinner than during the quarter century he led the Philadelphia Orchestra, and his well-known stride to the podium has become more a halting walk, but the music he drew from the orchestra was as youthful and vivid as ever.

"Through some alchemy, Stokowski has found the secret of how to stay young forever," said Philippe de Seynes, U.N. undersecretary-general for economic affairs, in an intermission speech.

The evening was billed as a tribute to the United Nations and the flags of the 126 members hung from the boxes.

There was no mention of retirement and no public mention that this was the 60th anniversary of Stokowski becoming conductor of the Cincinnati Orchestra in 1909.

Stokowski started the concert with Rimsky-Korsakov's arrangement of the traditional Russian song of student protest "Dubinushka," and then played the orchestral version of Mousorgsky's opera "Boris Goudonov" he arranged for the Philadelphia orchestra in 1929. Jerome Hines of the Metropolitan was the soloist.

In the second half of the program he played the "Montevideo" symphony by Louis Moreau Gottschalk to commemorate the death 100 years ago of its composer who, born in New Orleans, was America's first internationally acclaimed musician.

France is expected to resume nuclear weapons testing in the Pacific next summer.

Fairfax Fete Improvement Study Starts

Attempts to solve problems created by the 1969 Fairfax Festival have begun, following vehement protest to the city council on the noise, trash, lack of parking and other difficulties.

The festival committee has met with Mayor Francis J O'Connell and Police Officer Mel Dollahite and has planned a meeting for next month with the council, according to Priscilla Gray of the festival committee.

She reported plans for better trash disposal have begun and arrangements will be made with the Marin County Humane Society to have the area patrolled for stray dogs. Bicycle racks will be provided by the committee next year, she added.

The committee also agreed to try for a film festival by all Marin high schools; improve the kiddie karnival; reduce entertainment areas from three to two; restore military band concerts, and to urge more volunteers to participate in the planning and work.

To help provide financing, the committee agreed to take over a concession booth, Mrs. Gray said.

The committee also agreed to retain Fairfax Post Office Box 6 throughout the year so interested citizens may offer suggestions, she said.

State Agrees To Eye Canal's Effect On Bay

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Water Resources Control Board will look into effects of the proposed peripheral canal on water quality standards for San Francisco Bay and the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

It agreed yesterday to consider effects of the canal on water rights and the ecology of the delta and bay in response to a request by the Contra Costa County Water Agency.

The Assembly Water Committee also announced yesterday it will hold a public hearing Oct. 28 in Sacramento on a recommendation further studies be made of sewage disposal in the San Francisco Delta area.

Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, the chairman, noted the final report of the San Francisco Bay-Delta water quality control program urged more study of its recommendation San Francisco area sewage be treated and exported into the Pacific Ocean.

"The effects of such discharges must be examined very closely," Porter said. "Other areas of the state are discharging treated effluent directly into the ocean and we must know what the short and long-range effect of this process will be."

The board, while agreeing to the Contra Costa request, decided against considering the economic feasibility of the proposed canal skirting the Delta carrying northern water for pumping to the south.

The Contra Costa Water Agency argued the state did not have the $250 million to $300 million it is estimated the canal will cost.

The Department of Water Resources and the Bureau of Reclamation asked the agency's request be denied as "untimely."

But the board decided to study the canal's effects because it "believes that its broad administrative discretion should not be controlled unnecessarily by technicalities."

Bardot Divorce Is Confirmed

CHUR, Switzerland (AP) — French film star Brigitte Bardot and German millionaire Gunther Sachs were secretly divorced in the Swiss resort of Lenzerheide four months ago, local officials confirmed today.

The couple had been estranged for more than a year.

Lawyers for the two refused to comment. Local officials would say only that the divorce had been granted in June.

Miss Bardot, now 34, married Sachs on July 14, 1966, in a surprise ceremony in Las Vegas. Her two previous marriages—to movie director Roger Vadim and actor Jacques Charrier—also ended in divorce. Sachs' first wife died in 1958.

Hallinan Cleared In Contempt Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court has cleared San Francisco attorney Vincent Hallinan of contempt of court charges resulting from the trial of Hallinan's son, Terance, also a lawyer.

The 12-page unanimous decision was mailed to Hallinan yesterday. It annuled the contempt citation issued by Superior Court Judge Carl H. Allen.

The elder Hallinan was acting as defense attorney for Terrance, who was charged with assaulting a police officer during a disturbance at San Francisco State College last semester. During the trial, the elder attorney repeatedly accused the judge of being unfair to the defense in rulings on objections.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Of Store

Peter McClelland Perdue, 21, of no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing Jack's Drug Store in San Anselmo Sept. 23.

A jury trial was set for the week of Nov. 17 for the youth who is being held in Marin County Jail in lieu of bail.

Goldenaires Will Hold Flea Market

A flea mart will be held by the San Rafael Goldenaires tomorrow and Thursday at the city recreation center, Second and Brooks streets, San Rafael.

The center will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days and from 7 to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Pay TV To Be Taken To Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Theater owners say they will take the issue of pay television to the Supreme Court. A U.S. Court of Appeals last week authorized the Federal Communications Commission to begin licensing pay television stations.

Martin H. Newman, chairman of the National Association of Theater Owners Fight Pay TV Committee said the decision will be appealed "because we feel that the FCC ruling is legally incorrect and contrary to public interest."

The association will seek a court ruling prohibiting licensing of pay television stations until the Supreme Court acts on the appeal, he said.

Teen Addict Escapes Clinic

An 18-year-old youth who told a judge Friday that he was suffering painful withdrawal symptoms from a $75-a-day heroin habit, escaped yesterday from the Marin Community Mental Health Center.

A bench warrant with bail set at $10,000 was issued yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court for James Anthony Gardner.

The youth who is free on bail while awaiting trial on an earlier burglary charge was arrested last Wednesday and charged with the burglary of a Mill Valley home that day.

Both Thursday and Friday he was taken to Marin General Hospital for treatment of withdrawal symptoms, and Friday afternoon Judge Peter Allen Smith sent him to the mental health center for a 72-hour commitment.

Gardner and two-17-year-old companions have been linked to at least 20 burglaries in the past few months in the Mill Valley area, according to police and juvenile officers.

Quakers Attack Nixon On War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon's conduct of the war in Vietnam has taken on the same flawed style of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, say members of a Quaker group who have huddled with a top administration policy adviser.

"The Nixon administration has not been able to bring peace off as yet and is caught in a tragedy syndrome that trapped Lyndon Johnson," said one delegate who met Monday with presidential advisor Dr. Henry Kissinger.

Novato Dedicates Tiny Park To Firefighter

The parkette at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue, Novato, was dedicated yesterday to the memory of the late Fire Chief George J. Cavallero.

Mayor pro-tem Babe Silva pulled the string that unveiled a plaque on a stone dedicating the parkette while the members of Cavallero's immediate family looked on.

A brief thank you for the family was made by the late Chief's brother, Lt. Louis Cavallero of the fire department.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack was the master of ceremonies. Brief dedicatory remarks were made by Fire Commissioner Henry J. Alvernaz, Supervisor William A. Gnoss and Silva. Approximately 80 persons attended the ceremony at the tiny landscaped memorial.

Israeli Warplanes Stage Heavy Assault In Jordan

TEL AVIV (AP) -- Wave after wave of Israeli warplanes dived through a hail of Jordanian antiaircraft fire today to bomb Arab guerrilla positions in the northern Jordan Valley two miles inside Jordan, newsmen on the scene reported.

It was one of the heaviest air attacks on targets in Jordan in several months.

Despite the heavy antiaircraft fire, "all our planes returned safely," the Israeli military command said.

A Jordanian spokesman said five civilians including a child were seriously injured when two Israeli jets attacked the Midraj area in the northern Jordan Valley with rockets and machine guns. Six houses were damaged, he said.

The 20-minute raid was in retaliation for mortar and rocket barrages fired at Israeli settlements in the Beisan and Jordan valleys south of the Sea of Galilee, the command said.

A Kennedy Blueprint For American Indians

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts called today for a White House conference to develop a "blueprint for reform and change" for America's Indians.

Kennedy, the Senate majority whip, said Indian policies have been "a national tragedy and a national disgrace."

He said a White House Conference on Indian Affairs is needed to provide policy, legislative and program recommendations to serve "as the blueprint for reform and change over the next generation."

His proposal came in a speech before the National Congress if American Indians attended by about 400 delegates.

Kennedy also suggested establishment of a select Senate committee on the human needs of American Indians, reorganization of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, removal of the bureau from the Interior Department, an Indian development corporation and Indian control over Indian education.

The Massachusetts senator offered to sponsor any necessary legislation to carry out his suggested changes.

"We need no more buck-passing," he declared. "We know where the blame lies. We need no more promises; we know they are empty."

Kennedy met yesterday with members of the Congress' Education Committee to hear their views on proposals discussed by the Senate Subcommittee on Indian Education. He is the subcommittee chairman.

In order to meet increasing demands, the U.S. mint plans to increase production of coins to 7.5 billion a year.

The North Atlantic Treaty is not only a military alliance but also calls for participation in economic and social fields.

U.S. population has increased by about 22.6 million since 1960, the Census Bureau reports.

Fourth Air Force Commander Retires

Brig. Gen. Eugene L. Strickland, commander of the Fourth Air Force has retired after 30 years of active service.

He entered the service in February 1939 and received his commission on completion of the Army Air Corps pilot training at Kelly Field, Tex. He served with the Chinese-American Composite Wing at Eglin Field, Fla., from July 1943 until August 1945. During World War II, he flew 265 hours of combat in P-40 Warhawks and P-51 Mustangs, destroying six Japanese aircraft.

He has compiled more than 4,500 hours of flying time and flown in 45 different types of aircraft since being in the service.

He was assigned as vice commander of the Aerospace Defense Command's Fourth Air Force on Aug. 11, 1967 and on Aug. 1 of this year, he was named commander on the retirement of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns.

Strickland is married to the former Marion Davis of McAllen, Tex. They have three children, Eugene L. Jr., Donald W. and Leslie Jo.

The Bishop of Chester, John Wilkins, worried in 1638 that spacemen might starve to death on the long flight to the moon which he believed might take half a year. "No inns to entertain passengers, nor any castles in the air to receive poor pilgrims," he lamented.

Innocent Plea To Murder Count

Judge E. Warren McGuire set a trial, estimated to run three weeks before a jury, to begin the week of Feb. 9.

Housekeeper Resigns Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California woman has decided not to keep the job of supervising housekeeping of the 132-room presidential mansion.

Peggy Carey, 55, of Long Beach said the move to Washington would be too difficult for her elderly mother. She agreed to take the job on a temporary basis Sept. 3.

Miss Carey has now returned home to resume her job as a regional supervisory housekeeper for the Sheraton Hotel Corp.

Fund Event Slated For Boyd Museum

A fund raising party for the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday at the Lodge in Novato.

A fashion show and folk singing by Barbara Riordan and friends will be featured.

'No Contest' Plea Over Campaign Deduction Try

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Northern California's largest wholesale liquor company pleaded "no contest" in U.S. District Court Monday to charges of disguising $13,557 in campaign contributions as legitimate business expenses in violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

The U.S. Attorney's office said it did not intend to reveal the names of the politicians who recieved the funds, noting that political candidates frequently are not aware of the source of campaign funds.

"We see no reason why names of the beneficiaries or recipients are relevant," said U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole. "We will only give you what's in the indictment."

The illegal campaign gifts were made by Max Sobel Wholesale Liquors, Inc., in the fiscal years 1964 and 1965. The company's attorneys also entered a plea of no contest to charges of filing false federal corporate income tax returns in which the contributions were disguised.

Aquarius Rising To Give Dance Sunday

Aquarius Rising, directed by Margot Jones, will present "Celebration of the Word" at 10 a.m. Sunday at Saint Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

The dance will present the group's interpretation of a chapter from the Gospel according to St. Luke. Miss Jones has been director of the church's cultural development for the past two years.

Fourth Air Force Commander Retires

Brig. Gen. Eugene L. Strickland, commander of the Fourth Air Force has retired after 30 years of active service.

He entered the service in February 1939 and received his commission on completion of the Army Air Corps pilot training at Kelly Field, Tex. He served with the Chinese-American Composite Wing at Eglin Field, Fla., from July 1943 until August 1945. During World War II, he flew 265 hours of combat in P-40 Warhawks and P-51 Mustangs, destroying six Japanese aircraft.

He has compiled more than 4,500 hours of flying time and flown in 45 different types of aircraft since being in the service.

He was assigned as vice commander of the Aerospace Defense Command's Fourth Air Force on Aug. 11, 1967 and on Aug. 1 of this year, he was named commander on the retirement of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns.

Strickland is married to the former Marion Davis of McAllen, Tex. They have three children, Eugene L. Jr., Donald W. and Leslie Jo.

The Bishop of Chester, John Wilkins, worried in 1638 that spacemen might starve to death on the long flight to the moon which he believed might take half a year. "No inns to entertain passengers, nor any castles in the air to receive poor pilgrims," he lamented.

Housekeeper Resigns Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California woman has decided not to keep the job of supervising housekeeping of the 132-room presidential mansion.

Peggy Carey, 55, of Long Beach said the move to Washington would be too difficult for her elderly mother. She agreed to take the job on a temporary basis Sept. 3.

Miss Carey has now returned home to resume her job as a regional supervisory housekeeper for the Sheraton Hotel Corp.

Fund Event Slated For Boyd Museum

A fund raising party for the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday at the Lodge in Novato.

A fashion show and folk singing by Barbara Riordan and friends will be featured.

'No Contest' Plea Over Campaign Deduction Try

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Northern California's largest wholesale liquor company pleaded "no contest" in U.S. District Court Monday to charges of disguising $13,557 in campaign contributions as legitimate business expenses in violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

The U.S. Attorney's office said it did not intend to reveal the names of the politicians who recieved the funds, noting that political candidates frequently are not a ware of the source of campaign funds.

"We see no reason why names of the beneficiaries or recipients are relevant," said U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole. "We will only give you what's in the indictment."

The illegal campaign gifts were made by Max Sobel Wholesale Liquors, Inc., in the fiscal years 1964 and 1965. The company's attorneys also entered a plea of no contest to charges of filing false federal corporate income tax returns in which the contributions were disguised.

Aquarius Rising To Give Dance Sunday

Aquarius Rising, directed by Margot Jones, will present "Celebration of the Word" at 10 a.m. Sunday at Saint Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

The dance will present the group's interpretation of a chapter from the Gospel according to St. Luke. Miss Jones has been director of the church's cultural development for the past two years.

Innocent Plea To Murder Count

Judge E. Warren McGuire set a trial, estimated to run three weeks before a jury, to begin the week of Feb. 9.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

NO FUNDS, NO LAWN

Michael (left), 5, and Christopher Fulton, 4, of Fairfax, scratch the unimproved grounds at the new Federal Building at Third and D streets in San Rafael. The General Services Administration says it has no money to plant a lawn, having expended all funds alloted for building renovation. The GSA said landscaping may be done by December if funds are made available. The building, including the Mission Post Office, was remodeled last winter and spring at a cost of $270,000. Boundary Dispute Smoulders

A 50-year-old boundary dispute between Corte Madera and Larkspur could be revived by a proposal now before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, Corte Madera's town manager said today.

The dispute centers around 27 parcels of land along Lucky Drive, now in an unincorporated island between Corte Madera and Larkspur. The area has petitioned for annexation to the Corte Madera Sanitary District 2, which is essentially congruent with the town of Corte Madera.

According to Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, the twin cities worked out an agreement in 1966 to settle the long-standing boundary problems, swapping several parcels and agreeing on future disposition of others.

LUCKY DRIVE AREA

The Lucky Drive area, Usher said, was to go to Corte Madera in any annexation.

Last year, the area petitioned for annexation to the sanitary district, but the local agency commission ruled it had to annex to Corte Madera as well and the annexation move died.

Now, in a memo to the commission, executive officer Michael A. Chrystal has recommended that a proposed new sanitary annexation be tied to annexation to either Larkspur or Corte Madera. "We have uncovered a less reluctant attitude on the part if the residents . . . to be anneved to Larkspur than to Corte Madera," Chrystal reported.

NO INTEREST

Larkspur has no interest in annexing the area, said Larkspur City Clerk Judy Beal. She confirmed the two cities agreed the area should eventually become part of Corte Madera, since a canal separates it from most of Larkspur.

Chrystal's recommendation, Usher said, "has the potential of opening up the whole question of the Corte Madera-Larkspur boundary again."

The town councilmen will try to lay the 50-year-old ghost Thursday by asking the commission to require annexation to Corte Madera.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chamber at the Marin Civic Center.

The California Constitution, with 75,000 words, is the third longest in the world, after Louisiana and India.

County Approves Rape Case Policy

Victims of future criminal assaults, who seek medical attention, will not get the runaround, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and county Medical Director Donovan O. Cooke declared today in a joint statement of policy.

Marin County Board of Supervisors approved the following policy outlined by Bales and Cooke:

1. Crime victims are urged to consult with their personal physician at the hospital of their choice.

2. Emergency medical care and services will continue to be furnished to all victims of crime by each of the medical hospitals with emergency facilities.

3. Emergencies where police evidence must be gathered, and where no medical treatment is indicated, should be referred to the county medical department for examination and similar services.

4. Evidentiary services combined with emergency medical care will be furnished by the victim's personal physician or by the emergency ward of any hospital to which the victim is taken.

The county supervisors wanted the statement of policy to prevent a recurrence of the experience of a Novato mother who was raped on Sept. 14 and who did not get an examination for more than two hours as she and a Novato police officer went from hospital to hospital.

West Marin Doctors Need Worries Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today asked the county medical director to see what can be done about the doctor shortage in West Marin.

On a suggestion by Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the supervisors asked Dr. Donovan O. Cooke to investigate.

Baar said the residents of West Marin are served by one physician, Dr. Richard D. Baldwin, who is off two days a week. Patients who happen to call on those two days are told by recording to go to Marin Generaf hospital if their need is critical.

Baar said the West Marin area has had trouble for years, trying to keep a full-time resident physician, and Baldwin also plans to leave in the near future.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

RETIREMENT BOARD — Reappointed Leroy Rudolph to another term on the Marin County Retirement Board.

GUARDRAIL — On a motion by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr., asked the Public Works Department to design a guard rail along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Greenbrae to protect pedestrians.

Prison Hunger Strike Still On

San Quentin Prison's hunger strike by black inmates went into its seventh day today, but prison officials said most of the men were eating "something" and the number of strikers continued to dwindle.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said 50 men in the prison's disciplinary unit refused breakfast this morning, as compared to 62 yesterday. Yesterday 55 men sent back their dinners and 28 did not eat lunch.

The hunger strike was organized last Wednesday by a group calling itself "Panther Power to the Vanguard."

It was called to reinforce 10 demands submitted by the inmates, ranging from release of the 88 blacks in the disciplinary unit to hiring of more black staff members.

San Franciscan Denies Sex Count

Nels Martin Jr., 42, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of raping a 20-year-old woman Friday in Tamalpais Valley.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 21.

Martin is accused of pulling the woman into his car while she was waiting for a taxi in San Francisco and driving to Tennessee Valley Road, where he disrobed her and raped her at gunpoint.

Mattress Stolen

Razing Of Courthouse Is Favored

A majority of the Marin County supervisors favor razing the old Courthouse structure in San Rafael to make way for more parking and a major retail business, they declared this morning. (Another courthouse story, page 1).

Supervisor Michael Wornum was the only one who wanted to save the structure. "It would be a tragedy to demolish the old courthouse," said Wornum. "The success of Ghirardelli Square and the Cannery show that old buildings can be useful."

NOT WORTH IT

Supervisor Louis H. Baar insisted that the building has so many defects that it is not worth saving.

He was backed by chairman John F. McInnis and Supervisor William A. Gnoss. McInnis pointed out that the entrance to the Courthouse had been remodeled several times, and the appearance has little resemblance to the original.

McInnis suggested that the building be razed, and the county approach federal departments like the Housing and Urban Development for funds to build an underground parking facility.

INTERIM IDEA

Baar wanted the county to agree to a temporary surface parking facility for use by the City of San Rafael in the interim.

The supervisors asked the county administrator to write down a list of suggestions that the San Rafael City Council made at its meeting last night and bring it to the supervisors or a close study.

Wornum agreed to withdraw his objection to razing the building if it can be shown that the building is a menace and unfeasible to restore.

Case Referred To Youth Court

The case of Robert Louis Johnson, 19, of Corte Madera, was referred to probation officers yesterday for possible transferral to Marin Juvenile Court.

He was told to return to municipal court Oct. 28 for a report on whether he will be accepted as a juvenile.

Transit Aides Swap Bosses

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin County Transit District directors all but voted themselves out of a job today as they balloted unanimously to give half of their staff to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

The departure of the district's $14,700-a-year projects engineer and $11,800-a-year transportation analyst, effective tomorrow, will leave the district with only two staff members, Gen. Mgr. Seymour Kashin and his secretary.

Supervisor Michael Wornum, who proposed the staff shift, told his fellow transit district directors that Kashin was "ready to let them go, but not exactly with open joy." Wornum said he informed Kashin of his proposal on Friday, just before Kashin left to attend the annual meeting of the American Transit Association in Montreal.

Wornum's motion was that the two men be loaned to the bridge district "for the indefinite future," but the bridge district's general manager, Dale W. Luehring, indicated they could become part of his permanent staff.

Wornum's motion stipulated that the two men will be paid by the bridge district during the "loan," but Luehring said he was not certain this could be done. He noted, however, he would not need his board's approval to hire them to fill two openings on the bridge district's engineering staff.

Wornum said he had called the special meeting today of the transit board because Luehring had a "desperate need" for more staff to carry out his proposed $7.7 million crash program to get the bridge district into the commuter bus business.

The two men being transferred, Y. Tito Sasaki, projects engineer, and Jerome M. Kuykendall, trnnsportation analyst, told the Independent-Journal before the meeting in the Civic Center that their expertise was limited to buses and other ground transportation, and did not extend to ferry operations.

Luehring's proposal has been stalled in committee by the bridge directors, who are sharply divided between ferry and bus advocates.

Wornum added that there was no longer any point in having the transit district plan for the future when the Legislature has turned the job in the Golden Gate corridor over to the bridge district.

The only objection to the transfer came from H. R. Carlson, coordinator of the county's balanced transportation program. Sasaki and Kuykendall were needed to help on the program during the next few weeks, Carlson said, but his argument was ignored.

Wornum also suggested that County Administrator Alan Bruce determine if Kashin needed a secretary, but Chairman John F. McInnis said Bruce had no authority over the district, and that the staff review should be done by Kashin.

McInnis won prompt agreement from the board that it also should ask Kashin to provide "his estimate on what he can contribute to the balanced transportation program."

Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Marin Education Board Drafts District Transfer Appeal Rules

Tentative guidelines for hearing appeals from district denials of transfer requests — but leaving each case to be decided on individual merits — were reviewed last night by the Marin County Board of Education.

The guidelines include such items as conditions under which appeals may be made; filing procedures; county staff action such as setting a hearing dare and gathering information, and items to be included in the hearing, according to Asst. Supt. Stanley Friese.

The board agreed to study the guidelines at November meetings of committees.

The board approved a financial policy which requires the district of residence to pay the district of attendance the full cost of a transferred child's education. Payment, less state and federal funds received by the district of attendance, will be made at the end of the school year, Friese said.

The discussion of transfers followed a board request for a report two months ago after the Sausalito School District board turned down a transfer request for LeVoy Elder.

Marin County Board Of Education Also:

SAN QUENTIN — Approved agreements with the state Department of Education to spend not more than $258,796 for education programs at San Quentin; not more than $6,268 for instruction in computer porgramming at the prison, and not more than $12,403 to provide occupational placement instruction there.

CREDENTIAL — Approved an eminence credential for Philip Harris Dizick so he can teach elementary art education in the Mill Valley School District. The credential must also be approved by the state.

DEAF — Authorized spending a maximum of $6,000 for architectural work for the new four-classroom school for the deaf on the Adaline E. Kent School campus, Kentfield.

PERSONNEL — Hired Ernest Lynch, a vocational education teacher at Redwood High School, as vocational education coordinator on a half time basis for the rest of the year with his salary to be $6,090.

DELEGATES — Voted for Marilyn Crowell, a Marin board member, and Rev. Dan Towler of the Los Angeles County board as delegates for the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

CREDENTIAL POLICY — Received definitions of provisional, partial and temporary certificates as requested.

MILL VALLEY — Received a letter from Mill Valley School District board reporting it would not accept pupils where transfer had been denied in the home district until after the county board has ruled.

ASSOCIATION — Learned the annual meeting of the Marin County School Boards Association would be at 7 p.m. Oct. 30, at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 27 instead of Nov. 3 as scheduled, and because the board is required by law to meet once each calendar month set an extra meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 17. Both meetings will be in the district office in Corte Madera.

SAN QUENTIN — Approved agreements with the state Department of Education to spend not more than $258,796 for education programs at San Quentin; not more than $6,268 for instruction in computer porgramming at the prison, and not more than $12,403 to provide occupational placement instruction there.

CREDENTIAL — Approved an eminence credential for Philip Harris Dizick so he can teach elementary art education in the Mill Valley School District. The credential must also be approved by the state.

DEAF — Authorized spending a maximum of $6,000 for architectural work for the new four-classroom school for the deaf on the Adaline E. Kent School campus, Kentfield.

PERSONNEL — Hired Ernest Lynch, a vocational education teacher at Redwood High School, as vocational education coordinator on a half time basis for the rest of the year with his salary to be $6,090.

DELEGATES — Voted for Marilyn Crowell, a Marin board member, and Rev. Dan Towler of the Los Angeles County board as delegates for the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

CREDENTIAL POLICY — Received definitions of provisional, partial and temporary certificates as requested.

MILL VALLEY — Received a letter from Mill Valley School District board reporting it would not accept pupils where transfer had been denied in the home district until after the county board has ruled.

ASSOCIATION — Learned the annual meeting of the Marin County School Boards Association would be at 7 p.m. Oct. 30, at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

MEETING — Set the next meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 27 instead of Nov. 3 as scheduled, and because the board is required by law to meet once each calendar month set an extra meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 17. Both meetings will be in the district office in Corte Madera.

Boundary Dispute Smoulders

A 50-year-old boundary dispute between Corte Madera and Larkspur could be revived by a proposal now before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, Corte Madera's town manager said today.

The dispute centers around 27 parcels of land along Lucky Drive, now in an unincorporated island between Corte Madera and Larkspur. The area has petitioned for annexation to the Corte Madera Sanitary District 2, which is essentially congruent with the town of Corte Madera.

According to Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, the twin cities worked out an agreement in 1966 to settle the long-standing boundary problems, swapping several parcels and agreeing on future disposition of others.

LUCKY DRIVE AREA

The Lucky Drive area, Usher said, was to go to Corte Madera in any annexation.

Last year, the area petitioned for annexation to the sanitary district, but the local agency commission ruled it had to annex to Corte Madera as well and the annexation move died.

Now, in a memo to the commission, executive officer Michael A. Chrystal has recommended that a proposed new sanitary annexation be tied to annexation to either Larkspur or Corte Madera. "We have uncovered a less reluctant attitude on the part if the residents . . . to be anneved to Larkspur than to Corte Madera," Chrystal reported.

NO INTEREST

Larkspur has no interest in annexing the area, said Larkspur City Clerk Judy Beal. She confirmed the two cities agreed the area should eventually become part of Corte Madera, since a canal separates it from most of Larkspur.

Chrystal's recommendation, Usher said, "has the potential of opening up the whole question of the Corte Madera-Larkspur boundary again."

The town councilmen will try to lay the 50-year-old ghost Thursday by asking the commission to require annexation to Corte Madera.

The commission will meet at 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chamber at the Marin Civic Center.

The California Constitution, with 75,000 words, is the third longest in the world, after Louisiana and India.

County Approves Rape Case Policy

Victims of future criminal assaults, who seek medical attention, will not get the runaround, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and county Medical Director Donovan O. Cooke declared today in a joint statement of policy.

Marin County Board of Supervisors approved the following policy outlined by Bales and Cooke:

1. Crime victims are urged to consult with their personal physician at the hospital of their choice.

2. Emergency medical care and services will continue to be furnished to all victims of crime by each of the medical hospitals with emergency facilities.

3. Emergencies where police evidence must be gathered, and where no medical treatment is indicated, should be referred to the county medical department for examination and similar services.

4. Evidentiary services combined with emergency medical care will be furnished by the victim's personal physician or by the emergency ward of any hospital to which the victim is taken.

The county supervisors wanted the statement of policy to prevent a recurrence of the experience of a Novato mother who was raped on Sept. 14 and who did not get an examination for more than two hours as she and a Novato police officer went from hospital to hospital.

West Marin Doctors Need Worries Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today asked the county medical director to see what can be done about the doctor shortage in West Marin.

On a suggestion by Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the supervisors asked Dr. Donovan O. Cooke to investigate.

Baar said the residents of West Marin are served by one physician, Dr. Richard D. Baldwin, who is off two days a week. Patients who happen to call on those two days are told by recording to go to Marin General hospital if their need is critical.

Baar said the West Marin area has had trouble for years, trying to keep a full-time resident physician, and Baldwin also plans to leave in the near future.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

RETIREMENT BOARD — Reappointed Leroy Rudolph to another term on the Marin County Retirement Board.

GUARDRAIL — On a motion by Supervisor Peter Arrigoni Jr., asked the Public Works Department to design a guard rail along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Greenbrae to protect pedestrians.

San Franciscan Denies Sex Count

Nels Martin Jr., 42, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of raping a 20-year-old woman Friday in Tamalpais Valley.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 21.

Prison Hunger Strike Still On

San Quentin Prison's hunger strike by black inmates went into its seventh day today, but prison officials said most of the men were eating "something" and the number of strikers continued to dwindle.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said 50 men in the prison's disciplinary unit refused breakfast this morning, as compared to 62 yesterday. Yesterday 55 men sent back their dinners and 28 did not eat lunch.

The hunger strike was organized last Wednesday by a group calling itself "Panther Power to the Vanguard."

It was called to reinforce 10 demands submitted by the inmates, ranging from release of the 88 blacks in the disciplinary unit to hiring of more black staff members.

Mattress Stolen

Razing Of Courthouse Is Favored

A majority of the Marin County supervisors favor razing the old Courthouse structure in San Rafael to make way for more parking and a major retail business, they declared this morning. (Another courthouse story, page 1).

Supervisor Michael Wornum was the only one who wanted to save the structure. "It would be a tragedy to demolish the old courthouse," said Wornum. "The success of Ghirardelli Square and the Cannery show that old buildings can be useful."

NOT WORTH IT

Supervisor Louis H. Baar insisted that the building has so many defects that it is not worth saving.

He was backed by chairman John F. McInnis and Supervisor William A. Gnoss. McInnis pointed out that the entrance to the Courthouse had been remodeled several times, and the appearance has little resemblance to the original.

McInnis suggested that the building be razed, and the county approach federal departments like the Housing and Urban Development for funds to build an underground parking facility.

INTERIM IDEA

Baar wanted the county to agree to a temporary surface parking facility for use by the City of San Rafael in the interim.

The supervisors asked the county administrator to write down a list of suggestions that the San Rafael City Council made at its meeting last night and bring it to the supervisors or a close study.

Wornum agreed to withdraw his objection to razing the building if it can be shown that the building is a menace and unfeasible to restore.

Case Referred To Youth Court

The case of Robert Louis Johnson, 19, of Corte Madera, was referred to probation officers yesterday for possible transferral to Marin Juvenile Court.

He was told to return to municipal court Oct. 28 for a report on whether he will be accepted as a juvenile.

Singer To Pay Child Support

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Millionaire singer James Brown denies fathering the child of a Sacramento woman, but has agreed to pay the boy $500 a month for 20 years.

Settlement of the paternity suit against Brown was announced yesterday in superior court.

He had been accused by Miss Mary Brown, no relation, of fathering 1-year-old Michael Deon Brown in a San Francisco area motel last year.

The settlement provides that the support for Michael can be revised in later years if needed. Brown also agreed to pay Miss Brown's lawyers $32,700 in fees and costs.

He still denies fathering the child, and the hearing was called off with no judgment either way.

Woman Admits To Cashing Of Checks

A 20-year-old Oregon woman admitted in Marin Superior Court yesterday that she cashed two checks stolen from the Atlas Paper Co. of San Francisco. Two additional counts of the same charge were dismissed in court.

Zola Mae Van Dolah was told to return to court Nov. 20 for sentencing. She was arrested Feb. 7 after she reportedly cashed one of the checks at the Emporium in Northgate.

Judge Backs Suspension Of Student

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"Don't let those pigs beat x x x x of you, don't let youselves get arrested on felonies, go down there and take the park..."

Those words, attributed to Dan Siegel, president-elect of the student body at the University of California at Berkeley, allegedly helped touch off last spring's "People's Park" riots.

The university put Siegel on disciplinary probation as a result. And yesterday, a federal court decision upheld the action.

Judge William T. Sweigert turned down Siegel's contentions that the regulations under which he was suspended were unconstitutional.

"The record does not present even a prima facie showing that plaintiff has been deprived of any constitutional right-...within the meaning of the Civil Rights Act," Sweigert ruled.

He denied Siegel's request for a preliminary injunction and granted the motion of the U.C. regents to dismiss the action.

Siegel also faces criminal charges for his "inflammatory" speech. One person was killed and several injured in the disturbances, which occurred when university authorities "re-occupied" a plot of land students and "street people" had taken over for a park.

Judge Sweigert said Siegel's conduct, "according to any reasonable educational standard, would materially and substantially intrude on the university administration..."

Fire Destroys Auto, Garage

Fire from an unknown cause yesterday destroyed a Sausalito hillside garage containing a 1967 sedan, Sausalito Fire Department reported.

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten said the blaze at 41 Monte Mar Avenue, residence of Firman Bradway, could be seen from all over Sausalito. Firemen took five minutes to bring the fire, reported at 4:25 p.m. under control, Masten said.

Only an asbestos door between the garage and house prevented the fire from spreading into the residence, Masten said. Bradway was in the house at the time, but escaped unharmed.

Damage to the garage, car and smoke damage to the house was estimated at $9,000.

Las Vegas Still An Uneasy Center

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Scattered outbreaks of violence persisted early today on the dominantly Negro West Side of this casino city, but generally the turbulence of the past two nights had abated.

Authorities listed more than 100 arrests last night, 42 injuries—one of them serious—and property damage in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Young blacks roamed the area, hurling rocks and firebombs, shattering windows, looting a few stores and overturning cars.

As the violence spread, Mayor Oran Gragson imposed a 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew, declared a state of emergency and asked Gov. Paul Laxalt to mobilize the National Guard.

The two nights of violence were the worst city officials could recall. There had been some earlier racial unrest at schools.

Authorities said this did not trigger the disturbances, however.

"There were no racial overtones in the beginning," Gragson said. "But after it got going, 'whitey' wasn't welcome over there." There are about 30,000 Negroes among the 250,000 residents of greater Las Vegas.

Some fires broke out Sunday but the crowd was dispersed.

A crowd gathered again yesterday and, as the violence intensified, more than 150 helmeted police officers and sheriff's deputies with shotguns sealed off the 40-block area, sweeping through it repeatedly.

The West Side is about a mile from the city's downtown section and about three miles from the Las Vegas Strip.

Murphy Is Gearing Machinery For Drive

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Sen. George Murphy is firmly committed to running for reelection and hopes a huge statewide dinner and a physical "clean bill of health" will quash rumors that he won't, a key adviser said today.

In an attempt to completely remove any doubt about Murphy's campaign plans, the largest of three fund raising banquets next Wednesday night will feature as its main speakers Gov. Ronald Reagan and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch.

The rare joint appearance of the two is designed to prove that Murphy enjoys broad Republican support and that neither Finch or Reagan is eyeing the Senate for himself next year.

Murphy's advisers say they regard Rep. John Tunney of Riverside as the incumbent's probable Democratic opponent. An outside chance for the nomination is given State Supreme Court Justice Stanley Mosk, Rep. George Brown of Los Angeles and Rep. Phil Burton of San Francisco. The Republican camp doesn't expect Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty to run.

Murphy's 1970 campaign intentions became almost unequivocal Monday when his office announced final plans for a "statewide dinner" next Wednesday in Los Angeles, San Diego and Fresno.

The three banquets, after all expenses, are expected to net at least $300,000 for the Murphy reelection campaign.

"That money is being collected for Sen. Murphy. It would be kind of difficult to give it to anybody else," noted De Van L. Shumway, the Senator's communications director.

Youths Booked In Drug Probe

Three San Francisco youths were arrested by Belvedere police early today for investigation of marijuana possession after their car was stopped for a registration check at 2:35 a.m.

Bruce Frederick Holmes, 19; Willie Edward Robinson, 20, and Larry Wayne Jones, 20, were booked into Marin County Jail to appear at 2 p.m. today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Jones' car was carrying out-of-state license plates without a 1969 California registration sticker. When officers stopped the car on Tiburon Boulevard at Rock Hill Drive, marijuana was observed inside the car, police said.

Aga Khan Will Marry This Month

LONDON (AP) — The engagement of the Aga Khan to Lady James Crichton-Stuart of London society was announced today.

The Aga Khan, spiritual leader of an estimated 20 million Ismaili Moslems, met the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Arthur Croker Poole of London on a skiing holiday in Switzerland last winter. He is 32, she is 29.

Lady Crichton-Stuart, the former Sarah Frances Croker Poole, was divorced from her first husband last year. She has become a Moslem since meeting her future husband.

An announcement from the Aga Khan's London headquarters said the couple probably will marry later this month. She will take the title of Begum Aga

The Aga Khan, elder son of the late Prince Aly Khan and his English wife Joan, was educated at Harvard University. He succeeded his grandfather as leader of the Ismailis in 1957.

His bride-to-be was born in New Delhi where she spent her early childhood. Her father served in the former Indian cavalry with the Sixth Lancers until retirement in 1946. The family then took up farming in England.

Grand Theft To Superior Court

Dan Hayden Willoughby, 30, and Marilyn Pearl Robbins, 25, both of San Rafael, were bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of forgery and grand theft arising from the use of allegedly stolen credit cards.

They were ordered to appear in court next Tuesday for arraignment.

They are reported to have used stolen credit cards belonging to a San Rafael man to purchase about $280 worth of merchandise on June 30 at the Emporium in Northgate.

Probation Officers Get Marijuana Case

The case of Paul Edward Giampoli, 20, of San Rafael, was referred yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court to probation officers for possible transferral to juvenile court.

Giampoli, the son of a former San Rafael police lieutenant, was told to return to court Oct. 20. He is accused of possession and cultivation of marijuana at his home Sept. 26.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Athletes Might Try New Ideas In Eating Before Competition

VAN DELLEN

Muscle tissue is protein and many athletic coaches recommend meat because it is rich in this substance. But meat will not stimulate muscle growth or promote strength.

A diet rich in this element provides the building blocks, but the athlete must exercise to enlarge and strengthen his muscle mass.

THE TRADITIONAL steak dinner at the training table makes protein available to the body, but beyond this, the selection of food is on a psychological basis. Protein supplies energy but most of the fuel for ordinary activity comes from fat.

Oxygen is needed to convert fat into energy. And, during a 100-yard dash or toward the end of a mile run, the oxygen supply depends upon how much is inhaled and how fast the heart can bring it to the working muscles.

It is here that carbohydrates enter the picture because they do not necessarily require oxygen when converted into energy. Carbohydrates, when mixed with fat, are like ethyl in gasoline. The mixture is more efficient when additional energy is needed.

THE CHEMISTRY of exercise is complicated and there are many gaps in our knowledge. Carbohydrates such as sugar supply quick energy but unfortunately the body does not store them in large amounts.

It prefers fats for energy and tends to conserve carbohydrates for brain function, especially when the person has not eaten recently.

For most athletes, a well-balanced diet is adequate. In light of our present knowledge, authorities might suggest a more sophisticated plan. A high-fat, high-protein diet should be started one week before the big event. Meanwhile, the athlete continues his workouts. A few days before the event a carbohydrate-rich diet is substituted to replenish the body's supply of sugar and improve the capacity for extra effort.

FATS ARE AVOIDED on the big day because they delay emptying of the stomach and most aghletes do better on an empty stomach. Salt and extra fluids also help, especially when the weather is warm.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HAIRBALL SYMPTOMS

Mrs. S.N. writes: What symptoms would a child have if he had a ball of hair in his stomach? He has been around a shaggy-haired dog for some time. Would this require surgery?

REPLY

HALITOSIS

A reader writes: What causes the breath to have an onion odor, even when the vegetable has not been eaten?

REPLY

Halitosis comes in many odors. An examination of the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, and gastrointestinal tract usually is in order. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on bad breath.

STRAWBERRIES AND PICKLES

A reader writes: When a woman becomes pregnant, why does she have cravings for wild concoctions such as strawberry ice cream and pickles?

REPLY

STRETCHING KINKS LEGS

A reader writes: When I get up and stretch my legs, I get kinks in them. Why does this happen?

REPLY

Overstretching of the muscle fibers leads to spasm.

Today's Health Hint—Hoarseness that lasts more than three weeks should be investigated.

Above Average

Ocean View Raven Peggy, a 7-year-old Holstein in the dairy herd of Marvin L. Nunes of Point Reyes Station has produced 19,650 pounds of milk and 823 pounds of butterfat in one year, the Holstein-Fresian Association of America has announced. The average U. S. dairy cow produces 8,821 pounds of milk and 325 pounds of butterfat in a year.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS OCEANA MARIN UNIT 3 ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on September 23, 1969 by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, said Board invites sealed proposals or bids for the grading and construction of pavement, curbs, gutters, street signs, landscaping, monuments, storm drainage facilities and appurtenances, underground television duct and appurtenances, sanitary sewerage and water transmission and distribution facilities and appurtenances, and street lighting facilities in and for Oceana Marin Unit 3, as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 69-286B, adopted by said Board on September 23, 1969, which resolutions are on file in the office of the County Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes, dimensions and materials, and to the lines, grades and elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Board on September 23, 1969.

Payments will be made in cash by said County to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor.

Notice is hereby given that on September 23, 1969, the Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, and is also on file in the office of the County Clerk and open to public inspection, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the County Clerk, amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said County in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the County.

Contractor shall furnish to County a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to Kenneth M. Allen, Engineer of Work of the County of Marin, at the office of Benjamin P. Bonelli, 935 Lootens Place, San Rafael, California (94901), on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. of the 24th day of October, 1969, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of the first publication of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour and referred to and considered by the Board of Supervisors at its meeting at 3:00 o'clock P.M. on October 28, 1969.

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from Benjamin P. Bonelli, 935 Lootens Place, San Rafael, California (94901).

Singer To Pay Child Support

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Millionaire singer James Brown denies fathering the child of a Sacramento woman, but has agreed to pay the boy $500 a month for 20 years.

Settlement of the paternity suit against Brown was announced yesterday in superior court.

He had been accused by Miss Mary Brown, no relation, of fathering 1-year-old Michael Deon Brown in a San Francisco area motel last year.

The settlement provides that the support for Michael can be revised in later years if needed. Brown also agreed to pay Miss Brown's lawyers $32,700 in fees and costs.

He still denies fathering the child, and the hearing was called off with no judgment either way.

Woman Admits To Cashing Of Checks

A 20-year-old Oregon woman admitted in Marin Superior Court yesterday that she cashed two checks stolen from the Atlas Paper Co. of San Francisco. Two additional counts of the same charge were dismissed in court.

Zola Mae Van Dolah was told to return to court Nov. 20 for sentencing. She was arrested Feb. 7 after she reportedly cashed one of the checks at the Emporium in Northgate.

Judge Backs Suspension Of Student

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"Don't let those pigs beat xxxx of you, don't let youselves get arrested on felonies, go down there and take the park..."

Those words, attributed to Dan Siegel, president-elect of the student body at the University of California at Berkeley, allegedly helped touch off last spring's "People's Park" riots.

The university put Siegel on disciplinary probation as a result. And yesterday, a federal court decision upheld the action.

Judge William T. Sweigert turned down Siegel's contentions that the regulations under which he was suspended were unconstitutional.

"The record does not present even a prima facie showing that plaintiff has been deprived of any constitutional right-...within the meaning of the Civil Rights Act," Sweigert ruled.

He denied Siegel's request for a preliminary injunction and granted the motion of the U.C. regents to dismiss the action.

Siegel also faces criminal charges for his "inflammatory" speech. One person was killed and several injured in the disturbances, which occurred when university authorities "re-occupied" a plot of land students and "street people" had taken over for a park.

Judge Sweigert said Siegel's conduct, "according to any reasonable educational standard, would materially and substantially intrude on the university administration..."

Fire Destroys Auto, Garage

Fire from an unknown cause yesterday destroyed a Sausalito hillside garage containing a 1967 sedan, Sausalito Fire Department reported.

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten said the blaze at 41 Monte Mar Avenue, residence of Firman Bradway, could be seen from all over Sausalito. Firemen took five minutes to bring the fire, reported at 4:25 p.m. under control, Masten said.

Only an asbestos door between the garage and house prevented the fire from spreading into the residence, Masten said. Bradway was in the house at the time, but escaped unharmed.

Damage to the garage, car and smoke damage to the house was estimated at $9,000.

Las Vegas Still An Uneasy Center

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Scattered outbreaks of violence persisted early today on the dominantly Negro West Side of this casino city, but generally the turbulence of the past two nights had abated.

Authorities listed more than 100 arrests last night, 42 injuries—one of them serious—and property damage in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Young blacks roamed the area, hurling rocks and firebombs, shattering windows, looting a few stores and overturning cars.

As the violence spread, Mayor Oran Gragson imposed a 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew, declared a state of emergency and asked Gov. Paul Laxalt to mobilize the National Guard.

The two nights of violence were the worst city officials could recall. There had been some earlier racial unrest at schools.

Authorities said this did not trigger the disturbances, however.

"There were no racial overtones in the beginning," Gragson said. "But after it got going, 'whitey' wasn't welcome over there." There are about 30,000 Negroes among the 250,000 residents of greater Las Vegas.

Some fires broke out Sunday but the crowd was dispersed.

A crowd gathered again yesterday and, as the violence intensified, more than 150 helmeted police officers and sheriff's deputies with shotguns sealed off the 40-block area, sweeping through it repeatedly.

The West Side is about a mile from the city's downtown section and about three miles from the Las Vegas Strip.

Murphy Is Gearing Machinery For Drive

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Sen. George Murphy is firmly committed to running for reelection and hopes a huge statewide dinner and a physical "clean bill of health" will quash rumors that he won't, a key adviser said today.

In an attempt to completely remove any doubt about Murphy's campaign plans, the largest of three fund raising banquets next Wednesday night will feature as its main speakers Gov. Ronald Reagan and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch.

The rare joint appearance of the two is designed to prove that Murphy enjoys broad Republican support and that neither Finch or Reagan is eyeing the Senate for himself next year.

Murphy's advisers say they regard Rep. John Tunney of Riverside as the incumbent's probable Democratic opponent. An outside chance for the nomination is given State Supreme Court Justice Stanley Mosk, Rep. George Brown of Los Angeles and Rep. Phil Burton of San Francisco. The Republican camp doesn't expect Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty to run.

Murphy's 1970 campaign intentions became almost unequivocal Monday when his office announced final plans for a "statewide dinner" next Wednesday in Los Angeles, San Diego and Fresno.

The three banquets, after all expenses, are expected to net at least $300,000 for the Murphy reelection campaign.

"That money is being collected for Sen. Murphy. It would be kind of difficult to give it to anybody else," noted De Van L. Shumway, the Senator's communications director.

Youths Booked In Drug Probe

Three San Francisco youths were arrested by Belvedere police early today for investigation of marijuana possession after their car was stopped for a registration check at 2:35 a.m.

Bruce Frederick Holmes, 19; Willie Edward Robinson, 20, and Larry Wayne Jones, 20, were booked into Marin County Jail to appear at 2 p.m. today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Jones' car was carrying out-of-state license plates without a 1969 California registration sticker. When officers stopped the car on Tiburon Boulevard at Rock Hill Drive, marijuana was observed inside the car, police said.

Aga Khan Will Marry This Month

LONDON (AP) — The engagement of the Aga Khan to Lady James Crichton-Stuart of London society was announced today.

The Aga Khan, spiritual leader of an estimated 20 million Ismaili Moslems, met the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Arthur Croker Poole of London on a skiing holiday in Switzerland last winter. He is 32, she is 29.

Lady Crichton-Stuart, the former Sarah Frances Croker Poole, was divorced from her first husband last year. She has become a Moslem since meeting her future husband.

An announcement from the Aga Khan's London headquarters said the couple probably will marry later this month. She will take the title of Begum Aga

The Aga Khan, elder son of the late Prince Aly Khan and his English wife Joan, was educated at Harvard University. He succeeded his grandfather as leader of the Ismailis in 1957.

His bride-to-be was born in New Delhi where she spent her early childhood. Her father served in the former Indian cavalry with the Sixth Lancers until retirement in 1946. The family then took up farming in England.

Grand Theft To Superior Court

Dan Hayden Willoughby, 30, and Marilyn Pearl Robbins, 25, both of San Rafael, were bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of forgery and grand theft arising from the use of allegedly stolen credit cards.

They were ordered to appear in court next Tuesday for arraignment.

They are reported to have used stolen credit cards belonging to a San Rafael man to purchase about $280 worth of merchandise on June 30 at the Emporium in Northgate.

Probation Officers Get Marijuana Case

The case of Paul Edward Giampoli, 20, of San Rafael, was referred yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court to probation officers for possible transferral to juvenile court.

Giampoli, the son of a former San Rafael police lieutenant, was told to return to court Oct. 20. He is accused of possession and cultivation of marijuana at his home Sept. 26.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Athletes Might Try New Ideas In Eating Before Competition

VAN DELLEN

Muscle tissue is protein and many athletic coaches recommend meat because it is rich in this substance. But meat will not stimulate muscle growth or promote strength.

A diet rich in this element provides the building blocks, but the athlete must exercise to enlarge and strengthen his muscle mass.

THE TRADITIONAL steak dinner at the training table makes protein available to the body, but beyond this, the selection of food is on a psychological basis. Protein supplies energy but most of the fuel for ordinary activity comes from fat.

Oxygen is needed to convert fat into energy. And, during a 100-yard dash or toward the end of a mile run, the oxygen supply depends upon how much is inhaled and how fast the heart can bring it to the working muscles.

It is here that carbohydrates enter the picture because they do not necessarily require oxygen when converted into energy. Carbohydrates, when mixed with fat, are like ethyl in gasoline. The mixture is more efficient when additional energy is needed.

THE CHEMISTRY of exercise is complicated and there are many gaps in our knowledge. Carbohydrates such as sugar supply quick energy but unfortunately the body does not store them in large amounts.

It prefers fats for energy and tends to conserve carbohydrates for brain function, especially when the person has not eaten recently.

For most athletes, a well-balanced diet is adequate. In light of our present knowledge, authorities might suggest a more sophisticated plan. A high-fat, high-protein diet should be started one week before the big event. Meanwhile, the athlete continues his workouts. A few days before the event a carbohydrate-rich diet is substituted to replenish the body's supply of sugar and improve the capacity for extra effort.

FATS ARE AVOIDED on the big day because they delay emptying of the stomach and most aghletes do better on an empty stomach. Salt and extra fluids also help, especially when the weather is warm.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HAIRBALL SYMPTOMS

Mrs. S.N. writes: What symptoms would a child have if he had a ball of hair in his stomach? He has been around a shaggy-haired dog for some time. Would this require surgery?

REPLY

HALITOSIS

A reader writes: What causes the breath to have an onion odor, even when the vegetable has not been eaten?

REPLY

Halitosis comes in many odors. An examination of the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, and gastrointestinal tract usually is in order. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on bad breath.

STRAWBERRIES AND PICKLES

A reader writes: When a woman becomes pregnant, why does she have cravings for wild concoctions such as strawberry ice cream and pickles?

REPLY

STRETCHING KINKS LEGS

A reader writes: When I get up and stretch my legs, I get kinks in them. Why does this happen?

REPLY

Overstretching of the muscle fibers leads to spasm.

Today's Health Hint—Hoarseness that lasts more than three weeks should be investigated.

Above Average

Ocean View Raven Peggy, a 7-year-old Holstein in the dairy herd of Marvin L. Nunes of Point Reyes Station has produced 19,650 pounds of milk and 823 pounds of butterfat in one year, the Holstein-Fresian Association of America has announced. The average U. S. dairy cow produces 8,821 pounds of milk and 325 pounds of butterfat in a year.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS
OCEANA MARIN UNIT 3
ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on September 23, 1969 by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, said Board invites sealed proposals or bids for the grading and construction of pavement, curbs, gutters, street signs, landscaping, monuments, storm drainage facilities and appurtenances, underground television duct and appurtenances, sanitary sewerage and water transmission and distribution facilities and appurtenances, and street lighting facilities in and for Oceana Marin Unit 3, as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 69-286B, adopted by said Board on September 23, 1969, which resolutions are on file in the office of the County Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes, dimensions and materials, and to the lines, grades and elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Board on September 23, 1969.

Payments will be made in cash by said County to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor.

Notice is hereby given that on September 23, 1969, the Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, and is also on file in the office of the County Clerk and open to public inspection, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the County Clerk, amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said County in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the County.

Contractor shall furnish to County a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to Kenneth M. Allen, Engineer of Work of the County of Marin, at the office of Benjamin P. Bonelli, 935 Lootens Place, San Rafael, California (94901), on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. of the 24th day of October, 1969, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of the first publication of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour and referred to and considered by the Board of Supervisors at its meeting at 3:00 o'clock P.M. on October 28, 1969.

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from Benjamin P. Bonelli, 935 Lootens Place, San Rafael, California (94901).

"Hello at last, fans! Welcome to "The Survivors'!"

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 8:30 p.m. — "From Here to the Seventies" is an NBC two-and-a-half-hour news special exploring the condition of the U. S. as it is now and what may be expected in the next decade. Paul Newman is guide. Chet Huntley, John Chancellor, Sander Vanocur, Edwin Newman, David Brinkley and other network newsmen report.

KQED (9), 9 p.m. — "NET Festival" presents "Jazz at Tanglewood" with folk singer Judy Collins and jazz trumpeter Don Ellis. The program was taped during the 1968 Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9:30 p.m. — "CBS Playhouse" offers "Appalachian Autumn," Earl Hamner's 90-minute original drama starring Arthur Kennedy, Teresa Wright and Estelle Winwood.

KQED (9), 10:30 p.m. — Milton Friedman, professor of economics from the University of Chicago and Newsweek columnist, is guest on "Speaking Freely."

College Boss Hit For Support Of War Protest

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—State Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, says support by President Hobart Burns of San Jose State College of a Vietnam War protest convocation is a "gross misuse" of his office.

The lawmaker charged Burns asked the College's Academic Council to approve a resolution joining in the Oct. 15 antiwar convocation "to dispense one-sided information."

"To place the prestige of a public, tax-supported college presidency in support of forces opposing governmental policy and asking the schools's faculty to organize for protest is a gross misuse of that public office," Richardson said.

Miner's Pan To Treasury Boss

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—U.S. Treasurer Dorothy Andrews Elston has a gold miner's pan coutesy of Gov. Ronald Reagan, plus a suggestion on its use.

"It is needed in Washington," Reagan joked when he gave Mrs. Elston the pan as a California souvenir when she paid a courtesy call on the governor and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke.

"Now I've got to find a stream and go pan for gold," the treasurer said.

Guilty Plea To Defraud Charge

Frank M. Rosania, 21, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing a money order with intent to defraud.

He had been arrested when he tried to cash the money order at a San Anselmo bar May 5, 1968.

Judge E. Warren McGuire sentenced Rosania to a one-year jail sentence to run concurrently with the three five-year federal terms he is now serving.

Drug Suspects

Three teen-agers, one from Corte Madera and two San Franciscans, were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing marijuana Sunday after their car was stopped on Tamalpais Avenue for an equipment violation, Corte Madera police reported. One of them was also booked on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs.

Guilty Plea To Defraud Charge

Frank M. Rosania, 21, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing a money order with intent to defraud.

He had been arrested when he tried to cash the money order at a San Anselmo bar May 5, 1968.

Judge E. Warren McGuire sentenced Rosania to a one-year jail sentence to run concurrently with the three five-year federal terms he is now serving.

Drug Suspects

Three teen-agers, one from Corte Madera and two San Franciscans, were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing marijuana Sunday after their car was stopped on Tamalpais Avenue for an equipment violation, Corte Madera police reported. One of them was also booked on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 8:30 p.m. — "From Here to the Seventies" is an NBC two-and-a-half-hour news special exploring the condition of the U. S. as it is now and what may be expected in the next decade. Paul Newman is guide. Chet Huntley, John Chancellor, Sander Vanocur, Edwin Newman, David Brinkley and other network newsmen report.

KQED (9), 9 p.m. — "NET Festival" presents "Jazz at Tanglewood" with folk singer Judy Collins and jazz trumpeter Don Ellis. The program was taped during the 1968 Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 9:30 p.m. — "CBS Playhouse" offers "Appalachian Autumn," Earl Hamner's 90-minute original drama starring Arthur Kennedy, Teresa Wright and Estelle Winwood.

KQED (9), 10:30 p.m. — Milton Friedman, professor of economics from the University of Chicago and Newsweek columnist, is guest on "Speaking Freely."

College Boss Hit For Support Of War Protest

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—State Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, says support by President Hobart Burns of San Jose State College of a Vietnam War protest convocation is a "gross misuse" of his office.

The lawmaker charged Burns asked the College's Academic Council to approve a resolution joining in the Oct. 15 antiwar convocation "to dispense one-sided information."

"To place the prestige of a public, tax-supported college presidency in support of forces opposing governmental policy and asking the schools's faculty to organize for protest is a gross misuse of that public office," Richardson said.

Miner's Pan To Treasury Boss

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—U.S. Treasurer Dorothy Andrews Elston has a gold miner's pan coutesy of Gov. Ronald Reagan, plus a suggestion on its use.

"It is needed in Washington," Reagan joked when he gave Mrs. Elston the pan as a California souvenir when she paid a courtesy call on the governor and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke.

"Now I've got to find a stream and go pan for gold," the treasurer said.

Passenger Injured In Off Ramp Crash

A 22-year-old San Francisco woman sustained minor injuries about 11:45 p.m. Saturday in a tow-car collision on the Highway 101 off ramp leading to Highway 1 in Mill Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

Marjorie Kaplan was treated for cuts on her leg and face at Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco after the car in which she was a passenger collided with a vehicle driven by Joanne M. Terry, 26, of 999 Greenhill Road, Mill Valley.

49er Head Man's Surprise Visit

Next season's San Francisco 49-ers-Oakland Raiders game will be played at Kezar and not Candlestick Park as many had expected.

The 49ers will fight tooth and nail against being placed in the same division with the Dallas Cowboys in the relignment of the merged National and American football leagues.

No change in ownership of the 49ers is anticipated in the forseeable future.

Coach Dick Nolan has as much authority with the 49ers as Coach-General Manager Vince Lombardi has with the Washington Redskins.

And, emphatically, NO, there is no dissension of the San Francisco team that has gone winless through its last nine games.

Those and other tidbits were dished out to the Marin 49ers Boosters Club yesterday by a surprise luncheon guest, club president Louis G. Spadia.

Boosters Get A Bonus

With 76 members on hand to hear guard Elmer Collett, wide receiver Dick Witcher and ex-linebacker Matt Hazeltine discuss Sunday's 17-17 tie with the Washington Redskins and the upcoming Kezar battle against the hated Los Angeles Rams, the Boosters were treated to a bonus when Padia walked in unannounced.

"I came here today," he said, "to apologize for last week's fiasco and to assure you that it won't happen again." He wasn't referring to anything the Niners did or didn't do on the field; but to a Boosters meeting at which fullback Ken Willard and tackle Charley Krueger inexcusably failed to appear.

"That incident," said Spadia, "may be an indication of some of the problems Dick Nolan has to contend with but were confident he is the man to correct them. Our problems have been 10 years building, but we don't think they will take 10 years to solve. I realize how much the 49ers mean to you and assure you that your support will be justified and soon."

Target For Questions

Spadia wound up as the star of the show and the target for a number of questions. He said conversion of Candlestick Park for football won't be completed until Oct. 1, 1970, meaning "at least one pre-season game — yes, against the Raiders — will be at Kezar." He plans to open the 1970 league season in Candlestick, but added: "I'm still a bit pessimistic" that it will be ready on time. The Niners, who have had it tough playing in the same division with Los Angeles and Baltimore, want a break in the upcoming realignment meetings. Baltimore will move to the American Conference and Spadia said he will fight placing both L.A. and Dallas, perennially powerful franchises, in San Francisco's division. "It would be ridiculous," he said, "to separate established rivals like Green Bay and the Bears and the 49ers and (L.A.) Rams, but we'll fight Dallas in our division. After all, we want to win a division. The last realignment meeting lasted 40 hours; the next one could last 40 days."

No Sale On The Horizon

The Niner boss said the widows of 49er founder, Tony Morabito, and his brother, Vic, have no intention of selling the franchise as some critics have suggested. "They are committed (by their husbands' will) to bring San Francisco a winner. Their only instruction to me (on appointment to the presidency in 1964) was to run the club in the tradition of the Morabitos — first class. There are no two women more interested in a business and sport. They are as close to the organization as they can be."

San Rafael furniture tycoon Milton Schwartz asked Spadia if he considered giving coach Nolan the additional role of general manager, a job now held by Jack Whites. "In a strict sense," said Spadia, "Dick is as much a general manager as Vince Lombardi is with Washington. That is, we don't concern him with stadium operation or front office problems, but he runs the football team." Spadia explained Nolan has influence in contract negotiation and the absolute final word on draft choices, in addition to X's and O's and spanking stars who don't fulfill speaking engagements in Marin.

Why Kwalick Picked No. 1

Someone wondered why the Niners, already gifted with good pass receivers, picked tight end Ted Kwalick of Penn State as their number one draft choice and are now keeping Kwalick on the bench behind Bob Windsor. "Well, if Bob Windsor's draft board did what we thought it would do," smiled Spadia, "Kwalick would have been a helluva choice." He noted that John David Crow had retired, so there was a serious shortage at the position and that Nolan had the final say on picking Kwalick No. 1 over another possible top choice, "a boy named (Eddie) Hinton of Oklahoma."

On a report of serious team dissension by CBS-TV commentator Tom Brookshire, Spadia said: "Well, I hope there would be a little dissenstion after eight losses. Every club has some bickering, but I know we don't have the type of dissension that could ruin a ball club. He (Brookshire) apologized to me. He made a mistake and admitted it."

Oops, ran out of space without giving Collett, Witcher and Hazeltine the floor. Oh, well, there are other days.

Weaver Calls His Orioles 'Amazing'

There's Joy In Baltimore

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — "Amazing!" Earl Weaver croaked. "Just amazing!"

He wasn't talking about the New York Mets.

Weaver, celebrating the greatest triumph of a 14-year managerial career that didn't hit the big time until last summer, paid hoarse-voiced tribute to his Baltimore Orioles yesterday after their three-game blitz of Minnesota in the American League's first championship playoff series.

He could afford the luxury of looking back because the Orioles, who had bombed the Twins 11-2 following a pair of extra-inning cliff-hangers, had plenty of time to worry about their upcoming World Series showdown against New York 100-1-shot Mets.

"Before this year," said the cherub-faced Baltimore skipper, "you came in first after 162 games and you were in the series. This time you had to keep winning, winning, winning. And to win three in a row is amazing to me. It shows what a great ball club this is."

The Orioles, who backed Jim Palmer's lock-up pitching with a barrage of 18 hits—Paul Blair and Don Buford combining for half of them—will have four days to regroup before taking on the National League champion Mets Saturday at Baltimore.

LONG WAIT

For some of them, the wait will be too long.

"Bring on Rod Gaspar . . . whoever the hell he is!" Frank Robinson shouted in the midst of champagne-quaffing teammates. "He said he wanted us."

Gaspar, a rookie outfielder, reportedly had expressed that sentiment after the Mets nailed the N.L.'s East Division title on the way to a three-game playoff sweep over Atlanta.

"We'll start with him and go on from there," said Robinson. "Would you believe four games? Would you believe seven in a row?"

In a more serious vein, the Baltimore slugger conceded he believed the Mets were not to be taken lightly. "I never underestimate any ball club," he said. "We think we can beat them, but we're going to give them their due.

"They've got to be good to win their division and then take three straight from the Braves."

AS WORTHY

"I'd guess that the Mets will be as worthy as adversary as anybody we've faced," Weaver added.

"I really don't know if they're for real," was Boog Powell's sum-up of the Orioles' series opponents. "But we're going to find out."

After the Orioles nipped Minnesota 4-3 on Blair's 12th inning squeeze bunt and 1-0 on Curt Motton's pinch single in the 11th, Powell admitted he'd breath easier if "we went out and scored 10 runs in the first inning."

It took the East Division champs one more inning than that to unwind against Bob Miller, first of seven Minnesota pitchers. Then, doubles by Brooks Robinson and Elrod Hendricks, plus the second of Buford's three singles keyed a three-run burst.

NO RECOVERY

The Twins never recovered.

Mark Belanger's triple, a walk and a double by Blair produced two more runs in the fourth; Buford's double and singles by Blair and Frank Robinson got another home in the sixth and Blair cracked the game's lone homer—a two-run wallop—in the eighth.

"We just ran out of pitchers," said Twins pilot Billy Martin, barely masking his deep disappointment. "But I'm very proud of my kids. It could have been a different story if we'd won those two in Baltimore . . . or even the first one. We had them and we let them get away."

Frank Robinson put it another way. "We dazzled them with our footwork in the first two," he said. "Then we knocked them out."

Cleon: 'We're Greatest'

"Met Power."

Maybe outfielder Cleon Jones said it best:

"We're the greatest team in the world right now. Nobody can stop us . . . Atlanta, Baltimore . . . nobody. We're gonna win it all."

Maybe the statistics said it best:

Three consecutive victories over Atlanta by 9-5, 11-6 and 7-4 scores, 37 hits, 27 runs, 6 homers.

Whoever or whatever said it best, the incredible implausible, impossible Mets of New York have trampled Atlanta in three straight on the way to the National League pennant and qualified to meet the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series starting next Saturday.

That there will be a four-day layoff before the resumption of play for a team that begins in every way to appear invincible can only serve to temper the feelings of those who reveled in yesterday's glorious moments.

They include the galaxy of Met heroes who were drowned in the champaigne shower in the jam-packed dressing room, homer hitters Wayne Garrett, Tommy Agee and Ken Boswell and pitcher Nolan Ryan, who limited the Braves to three hits in seven innings.

And they include the galaxy of Mets fans who poured out of the stands in full force following the final out and again stole everything in sight to take home as souvenirs—sod, home plate, the pitcher's rubber, the bases.

"We did it because we want part of the Mets—because the Mets are the greatest."

Only the Orioles can quarrel with that now. And maybe not even the team with Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson, who romped past Minnesota in three straight, will be able to win the argument.

For at this moment in history, after seven years during which they were the uncrowned clown princes of baseball, the picture has irrevocably changed.

These Mets have pitching. And when they don't have pitching, they have hitting. They proved during the regular season they have the former in aces Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman and they proved in this playoff series they had the latter.

Seaver couldn't go the distance. Koosman couldn't go the distance. And yesterday Gary Gentry couldn't go the distance. It didn't matter. A .327 team batting average took care of everything.

To Err Is Human, Even For Referees

To err is human, even for football officials.

One of them even admitted an error last week, but his decision still stands.

Drake High School physical education department chairman Bob Fitzhenry, who is current president of the Northern California Officials Association, received a call Sunday from Jerry Gillespie, head official at last Friday's Drake-San Rafael game, apologizing for an error in judgment.

Gillespie, who will be incoming president of the NCOA this summer, at the time backed up umpire Clarence Tye on a call which deprived Drake kicker John Loane of a second field goal when the Pirates were penalized for interlocking of legs by line. The call resulted in a 15-yard penalty.

A check of the rulebook showed that the guards and center could indeed interlock, but no other linemen could. And that kind of violation called for a five-yard penalty, not a 15-yarder.

Even so, Loane, who had kicked a 20-yard field goal earlier in the game, did not get credit for his second field goal and the score remained at 17-7.

"I think it would have hurt a little if we had lost the game by three points," Drake coach Bob Franceschini said.

ORIOLES 8-5 WORLD SERIES FAVORITES

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bookmakers established Baltimore as an 8-5 favorite yesterday to whip the cinderella New York Mets in baseball's World Series beginning Saturday.

Baltimore was listed as a tentative 7-5 favorite to win the Series' opening game.

"We just think Baltimore is a better team," said one legal bookie. "But the Mets could prove surprising. They could be more 'up' than Baltimore," he said.

Odds on the opening game in Baltimore will be firmed when managers name their starting pitchers.

49ers' Linebacker Beard Out For Year

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— Veteran middle linebacker Ed Beard of the San Francisco 49ers is probably out for the season after undergoing surgery for ligament damage to the left knee.

That puts a big load on Frank Nunley, third year man from Michigan. He filled in well last Sunday in the Prospectors' disappointing 17-17 tie with Washington.

The 49ers lost a shot at their first victory when the Skins scored with 26 seconds left on a disputed Washington touchdown and several pass interference calls against the 49ers.

Asked if the films proved anything concerning the questionable calls, coach Dick Nolan said "they were judgment calls. I can't comment on them."

On other aspects of the game, Nolan was more cheerful. He said he liked the 49er running game and the fact that Washington's ground attack was stopped cold. He also said that the 49er cornerbacks contained the passing to the wide receivers well.

The 49ers host rough Los Angeles Sunday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1972 U.S. Open Golf Championship will be played June 15-18 at the Pebble Beach Golf Links, the U.S. Golf Association announced today.

The Open was last played in California in 1966 when Billy Casper defeated Arnold Palmer in a playoff at the Olympic Club in San Francisco. Olympic also was the site of the 1955 Open when Jack Fleck defeated Ben Hogan in a playoff.

The 1970 Open is scheduled for the Hazeltine National Golf Club, Chaska, Minn., and the 1971 Open will be played at the Merion Golf Club, Ardmore, Pa.

AS WORTHY

"I'd guess that the Mets will be as worthy as adversary as anybody we've faced," Weaver added.

"I really don't know if they're for real," was Boog Powell's sum-up of the Orioles' series opponents. "But we're going to find out."

After the Orioles nipped Minnesota 4-3 on Blair's 12th inning squeeze bunt and 1-0 on Curt Motton's pinch single in the 11th, Powell admitted he'd breath easier if "we went out and scored 10 runs in the first inning."

It took the East Division champs one more inning than that to unwind against Bob Miller, first of seven Minnesota pitchers. Then, doubles by Brooks Robinson and Elrod Hendricks, plus the second of Buford's three singles keyed a three-run burst.

NO RECOVERY

The Twins never recovered.

Mark Belanger's triple, a walk and a double by Blair produced two more runs in the fourth; Buford's double and singles by Blair and Frank Robinson got another home in the sixth and Blair cracked the game's lone homer—a two-run wallop—in the eighth.

"We just ran out of pitchers," said Twins pilot Billy Martin, barely masking his deep disappointment. "But I'm very proud of my kids. It could have been a different story if we'd won those two in Baltimore ... or even the first one. We had them and we let them get away."

Frank Robinson put it another way. "We dazzled them with our footwork in the first two," he said. "Then we knocked them out."

Cleon: 'We're Greatest'

"Met Power."

Maybe outfielder Cleon Jones said it best:

"We're the greatest team in the world right now. Nobody can stop us ... Atlanta, Baltimore ... nobody. We're gonna win it all."

Maybe the statistics said it best:

Three consecutive victories over Atlanta by 9-5, 11-6 and 7-4 scores, 37 hits, 27 runs, 6 homers.

Whoever or whatever said it best, the incredible implausible, impossible Mets of New York have trampled Atlanta in three straight on the way to the National League pennant and qualified to meet the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series starting next Saturday.

That there will be a four-day layoff before the resumption of play for a team that begins in every way to appear invincible can only serve to temper the feelings of those who reveled in yesterday's glorious moments.

They include the galaxy of Met heroes who were drowned in the champaigne shower in the jam-packed dressing room, homer hitters Wayne Garrett, Tommy Agee and Ken Boswell and pitcher Nolan Ryan, who limited the Braves to three hits in seven innings.

And they include the galaxy of Mets fans who poured out of the stands in full force following the final out and again stole everything in sight to take home as souvenirs—sod, home plate, the pitcher's rubber, the bases.

"We did it because we want part of the Mets—because the Mets are the greatest."

Only the Orioles can quarrel with that now. And maybe not even the team with Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson, who romped past Minnesota in three straight, will be able to win the argument.

For at this moment in history, after seven years during which they were the uncrowned clown princes of baseball, the picture has irrevocably changed.

These Mets have pitching. And when they don't have pitching, they have hitting. They proved during the regular season they have the former in aces Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman and they proved in this playoff series they had the latter.

Seaver couldn't go the distance. Koosman couldn't go the distance. And yesterday Gary Gentry couldn't go the distance. It didn't matter. A .327 team batting average took care of everything.

ORIOLES 8-5 WORLD SERIES FAVORITES

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bookmakers established Baltimore as an 8-5 favorite yesterday to whip the cinderella New York Mets in baseball's World Series beginning Saturday.

Baltimore was listed as a tentative 7-5 favorite to win the Series' opening game.

"We just think Baltimore is a better team," said one legal bookie. "But the Mets could prove surprising. They could be more 'up' than Baltimore," he said.

Odds on the opening game in Baltimore will be firmed when managers name their starting pitchers.

49ers' Linebacker Beard Out For Year

That puts a big load on Frank Nunley, third year man from Michigan. He filled in well last Sunday in the Prospectors' disappointing 17-17 tie with Washington.

The 49ers lost a shot at their first victory when the Skins scored with 26 seconds left on a disputed Washington touchdown and several pass interference calls against the 49ers.

Asked if the films proved anything concerning the questionable calls, coach Dick Nolan said "they were judgment calls. I can't comment on them."

On other aspects of the game, Nolan was more cheerful. He said he liked the 49er running game and the fact that Washington's ground attack was stopped cold. He also said that the 49er cornerbacks contained the passing to the wide receivers well.

The 49ers host rough Los Angeles Sunday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1972 U.S. Open Golf Championship will be played June 15-18 at the Pebble Beach Golf Links, the U.S. Golf Association announced today.

The Open was last played in California in 1966 when Billy Casper defeated Arnold Palmer in a playoff at the Olympic Club in San Francisco. Olympic also was the site of the 1955 Open when Jack Fleck defeated Ben Hogan in a playoff.

The 1970 Open is scheduled for the Hazeltine National Golf Club, Chaska, Minn., and the 1971 Open will be played at the Merion Golf Club, Ardmore, Pa.

To Err Is Human, Even For Referees

To err is human, even for football officials.

One of them even admitted an error last week, but his decision still stands.

Drake High School physical education department chairman Bob Fitzhenry, who is current president of the Northern California Officials Association, received a call Sunday from Jerry Gillespie, head official at last Friday's Drake-San Rafael game, apologizing for an error in judgment.

Gillespie, who will be incoming president of the NCOA this summer, at the time backed up umpire Clarence Tye on a call which deprived Drake kicker John Loane of a second field goal when the Pirates were penalized for interlocking of legs by line. The call resulted in a 15-yard penalty.

A check of the rulebook showed that the guards and center could indeed interlock, but no other linemen could. And that kind of violation called for a five-yard penalty, not a 15-yarder.

Even so, Loane, who had kicked a 20-yard field goal earlier in the game, did not get credit for his second field goal and the score remained at 17-7.

"I think it would have hurt a little if we had lost the game by three points," Drake coach Bob Franceschini said.

Here's Some Useful Data For World Series Bets

Before the week is out the successful teams in baseball's first major league divisional playoffs, New York's Mets and Baltimore's Orioles, will meet in the opener of the 66th World Series.

There is nothing more American than baseball's annual fall classic. It stirs nostalgia in some, anticipation in others. Rare are the individuals without at least a superficial interest in the World Series.

For the true baseball fan it is a time for predicting and reminiscing. Arguments, rivaling the most heated of rhubarbs on the field, are inevitable. It is a time when arguments will be punctuated with "put up or shut up" money challenges. And, of course, there will be the usual flood of calls to sports desks so settle wagers with authoritative record book data.

TO RELIEVE our own sports desk of part of its research burden — and as a service to fans whose faulty memories might trick them into unwise bets — here is some data that may

DON LARSEN! pitched the only perfect World Series game Oct. 8, 1956, for the Yankees against the Dodgers. The score was 2-0. It was the fifth game of the '56 series and gave the Yankees a 3-2 lead in games. They then went on to win the series, one of seven championships under Casey Stengel, most World Series won by any manager.

MICKEY MANTLE, not Babe Ruth, hit the most World Series home runs — 18. But the immortal Babe is in the World Series record book, too. The man who hit 714 career home runs also pitched the longest World Series game — 14 innings. He pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 win in 14 over the Dodgers Oct. 9, 1916, at Boston.

LOU BROCK literally stole the 1967 World Series for the Cardinals from the Red Sox with seven thefts. Last year he stole seven more bases in the 1968 series but because he failed to slide and was tagged out at home in the fifth game, a Cardinal rally withered and the Detroit Tigers went on to win in seven after losing three of the first four games.

Brock was labeled the goat and Mickey Lolich, who won three games to tie a World Series record, became the pitching hero.

BUT BROCK'S boo boo last year was not the equal of Mickey Owen's in the 1941 series. The Dodgers that year were leading the Yankees 4-3 with two out in the ninth. It seemed that they surely would even the series at two games apiece.

Hugh Casey went to a full count on Tommy Henrich and then struck him out. But the game was not over. The strikeout pitch flicked off Owen's glove for a passed ball and Henrich raced to first base. What followed was a nightmare for Owen and the Dodgers.

JOE DiMAGGIO singled. Charley Keller doubled. Bill Dickey walked. Joe Gordon doubled. Final score Yankees 8, Dodgers 4. The Yankees also won the next game and the series, their fifth championship in six years.

Warriors Continue Court Battle For Rick Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rick Barry is busy playing basketball for the Washington Capitols but the San Francisco Warriors are doing everything they can to get him back.

The National Basketball Association Warriors, who are being sued for $10 million by the Caps of the American Basketball Association, filed an $8 million suit of their own yesterday while answering the charges in the Caps' suit.

The Warriors, for whom Barry played before signing with the Oakland Oaks — which were later bought and moved to Washington — are asking $2 million in punitive damages.

The Warriors said in U.S. District Court Barry had an agreement with the Oaks that he wouldn't have to move if the team did, which Caps' owner Earl Foreman has denied.

The Warriors also said Barry's obligations to the Caps are discharged because the sale of the club breached their agreement and that Barry and his agents had approached the National Basketball Association team saying he was free to play for it.

In addition, the Warriors said the Caps were in violation of the Sherman and Clayton antitrust acts and they have "joined in a conspiracy and acted to injure the Warriors."

Barry recently signed a five-year contract with the Warriors for $167,000 a year. He is getting $75,000 with the Caps.

POSSIBLE SCRUM

Bye For Marin Tars This Week

Tar coach Dick Read will take the time to get a closer look at his big (60 players) squad, and perhaps squeeze in a scrimmage.

"We will probably scrimmage the Cal State at Hayward junior varsity," Read said. "It's not definite yet, but it will probably be Thursday."

MINOR HURTS

The Tars are still licking some wounds, most of which are minor bumps and bruises. But running back Ron Blasingame and defensive back Jim Taylor, who sat out Saturday's 33-18 win over Sierra J.C., are still nursing knee injuries, and the extra time will probably get them ready in time for the West Valley tussle.

West Valley is currently kingpin of the conference with three straight victories — 17-0 over San Jose City College, 42-0 over Olohne and 24-21 over Cabrillo. But its real test will come Saturday in a game against American River Junior College, a 27-15 winner over Camino Norte favorite DeAnza two weeks ago.

'FUNNY'

"It's a funny conference," Read said. "You can't really tell by what's happened. For instance, Solano, which is supposed to be real tough, beat Menlo, 42-7, then lost to College of the Redwoods, 41-6, while Menlo went on to beat Santa Rosa."

Read feels his Tars are coming along, especially in the line, which has been a real problem. But reserve strength in the line remains to be shored up.

"We've got a lot of young kids on the line," Read said. "Verdean Herbold of Tamalpais, Mike Russell of Novato and Rich Simpson of Redwood, they're all young and still learning. But they're coming along. But when we put in the second team, they (Sierra) scored 18 points on us."

Read now has an excellent one-two punch at quarterback, with freshman Jim Peters of Redwood High School, pretty much settled into the number one spot.

TWO GOOD ONES

"Jim has been throwing real well," Read said. "He's thrown four scores in the last two games. And Kevin Wilson has turned into a good quarterback. That gives us two outstanding quarterbacks."

Read is a little leery of the layoff.

"I don't particularly like byes myself," he said. "We're going to have controlled practices, so that nobody gets hurt. But it's better having a week off now, then say a week after the first game. At least now we have three games under our belt."

No Eagles' Tickets For Wolman

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jerry Wolman, ex-owner of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles, says he'd like to see the team play—but he can't get tickets.

He also still has ambitions of winning a legal battle to own the club again.

"I don't want free tickets," Wolman told a newsman who telephoned him at his home near Washington, D.C. "I wanted to purchase them. I asked for good ones. But I didn't get any. I got my check back in the mail."

The Eagles ticket office said Wolman's name wasn't on its records.

Wolman said when he gets the club back from Leonard Tose, who paid more than $16 million earlier this year in an auction conducted by a bankruptcy referee he'll see that Tose gets four tickets to every game, right on the 50-yard line.

Warriors Try For 3d Straight

EUREKA (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, hoping to continue their winning ways against their foes in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, face the Seattle SuperSonics in an exhibition game tonight.

A victory would be their third in a row. San Francisco got a last-second basket from Al Attles Sunday night to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 102-100 in San Diego, then relied on Jimmy King's hot hand in the fourth quarter Last night to down the Phoenix Suns 119-109 in Los Angeles.

King pumped in 10 of his 19 points to widen the two-point edge the Warriors held as the final period began. Nate Thurmond added 18 for San Francisco while Connie Hawkins of the Suns was the game's top point man with 23.

Seals To Open Slate With Same 3 Goalies

OSHAWA, Ont. (UPI)—The Oakland Seals will open their National Hockey League season Saturday in Pittsburgh with several injuries, without several rookies and with a musical chairs situation at the crucial goal tending position.

Oakland recalled goalie Gary Smith from its Providence development team yesterday and sent veteran Marcel Paille back to Providence. The club now has the same three goalies it had last season—Smith, Chris Worthy and Charlie Hodge. None has performed consistently during the exhibition season.

TO PROVIDENCE

The Seals yesterday shipped defensemen Ron Stackhouse, Neil Nicholson, Pierre Farmer and forwards Tom Foxcroft and Barry Boughner to Providence. Defenseman Stan Fuller was sent to Salt Lake City.

The Seals ended a 3-4-1 exhibition season with a 5-1 loss and a Sunday night brawl to the minor league Buffalo Bisons. The brawl did not involve the players. But it did involve Oakland coach Fred Glover.

Glover took a swing at a boisterous Buffalo fan, inciting a brawl with 200 other fans between the second and third periods. Glover was not hurt but a fan coming to his aid received a broken ankle and Seals general manager Frank Selke sustained a cut hand.

'MICKEY MOUSE'

Glover called police protection in the Buffalo arena "Mickey Mouse," adding that "this type of thing has been going on in that building for 15 years."

49ER ACE RECEIVERS

Ram Coach Wary Of Duo

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Clifton McNeil and Gene Washington present all the problems we need," declared La Vern Torgeson, assistant coach of the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams who face the 49ers Sunday in San Francisco.

"McNeil runs more option routes and he has a natural weave. He takes off fast and has fine speed. Washington has quickness and speed," Torgeson told the Southern California Football Writers yesterday.

REMEMBERING '67

Even though the 49ers haven't won yet in National Football League competition, tying Washington in their last outing, the 3-0 Rams remember 1967 when San Francisco handed them their only regular season defeat.

"San Francisco presents real problems with those two wide receivers like McNeil and Washington playing at the same time," Torgeson declared. "And sometimes they put them on the same side at the same time."

Jack Snow, the former Notre Dame star who caught three touchdowns passes in the 36-17 victory over New Orleans last Sunday, explained the strategy on those plays which covered 35, 24 and 74 yards.

'CAPITALIZED'

"We capitalized on situations not often presented to a quarterback and his receiver," said Snow, who was voted the pro player-of-the-week by the writers. "Fortunately Gabe (quarterback Roman Gabriel) was able to capitalize."

Asked to describe the situations, Snow said that usually two defenders play in his area but that on a couple of occasions one of them was playing out of his zone.

Torgeson said there was a possibility that fullback Dick Bass, the Rams' leading all-time rusher, might be able to play against the 49ers. He missed the earlier games with a leg injury.

"Most of the hemorrhaging has been cleared up and Bass is running at almost full speed now," the assistant coach said. "There is a chance he may be able to play."

San Rafael Police Softballers Win

San Rafael Police Department's power-laden softball team, led by Ron Averiette's two home runs and another round-tripper by Dave Jones, Sunday in their second annual game at West Novato School field.

Mrs. Green Wins Putting Award

Mrs. Robert Green won the Ace of the Month putting award at the Oakview Rovers Ladies' Golf Club's medal play tournament at Peacock Gap course in San Rafael yesterday.

Dee Andros Wins Acquittal On Drunk Driving Charge

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — A six-member district court jury acquitted Dee Andros, 44, Oregon State University football coach, yesterday of a charge of driving while inder the influence of alcohol.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Burright, who arrested him, testified that Andros was driving erratically, was not able to walk a white line satisfactorily, had liquor on his breath and did not respond readily to a signal to stop.

The defense called six witnesses who testified that Andros had a long, tiring day of meetings and was extremely fatigued. He testified in his own behalf that it was fatigue, not intoxication, that caused his erratic driving.

A hearing on suspension of Andros' driving license is pending and it was not certain whether the acquittal would eliminate this.

An order for suspension of license is automatic in Oregon when a driver, arrested for being under the influence of alcohol, refuses to take a breath test, as Andros did.

Warriors Continue Court Battle For Rick Barry

Jack Snow, the former Notre Dame star who caught three touchdowns passes in the 36-17 victory over New Orleans last Sunday, explained the strategy on those plays which covered 35, 24 and 74 yards.

'CAPITALIZED'

"We capitalized on situations not often presented to a quarterback and his receiver," said Snow, who was voted the pro player-of-the-week by the writers. "Fortunately Gabe (quarterback Roman Gabriel) was able to capitalize."

Asked to describe the situations, Snow said that usually two defenders play in his area but that on a couple of occasions one of them was playing out of his zone.

Torgeson said there was a possibility that fullback Dick Bass, the Rams' leading all-time rusher, might be able to play against the 49ers. He missed the earlier games with a leg injury.

"Most of the hemorrhaging has been cleared up and Bass is running at almost full speed now," the assistant coach said. "There is a chance he may be able to play."

San Rafael Police Softballers Win

San Rafael Police Department's power-laden softball team, led by Ron Averiette's two home runs and another round-tripper by Dave Jones, Sunday in their second annual game at West Novato School field.

Mrs. Green Wins Putting Award

Mrs. Robert Green won the Ace of the Month putting award at the Oakview Rovers Ladies' Golf Club's medal play tournament at Peacock Gap course in San Rafael yesterday.

Class A — Mesdames Ned DeGrazia, 106-29—77; Bo Johnson, 103-26—77.

No Eagles' Tickets For Wolman

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jerry Wolman, ex-owner of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles, says he'd like to see the team play—but he can't get tickets.

He also still has ambitions of winning a legal battle to own the club again.

"I don't want free tickets," Wolman told a newsman who telephoned him at his home near Washington, D.C. "I wanted to purchase them. I asked for good ones. But I didn't get any. I got my check back in the mail."

The Eagles ticket office said Wolman's name wasn't on its records.

Wolman said when he gets the club back from Leonard Tose, who paid more than $16 million earlier this year in an auction conducted by a bankruptcy referee he'll see that Tose gets four tickets to every game, right on the 50-yard line.

POSSIBLE SCRUM

Bye For Marin Tars This Week

College of Marin's young football team, its first victory finally under its belt, gets a nice, long rest before opening defense of its Camino Norte Conference co-title by taking on currently unbeaten West Valley Junior College in Los Gatos Oct. 18.

Tar coach Dick Read will take the time to get a closer look at his big (60 players) squad, and perhaps squeeze in a scrimmage.

"We will probably scrimmage the Cal State at Hayward junior varsity," Read said. "It's not definite yet, but it will probably be Thursday."

MINOR HURTS

The Tars are still licking some wounds, most of which are minor bumps and bruises. But running back Ron Blasingame and defensive back Jim Taylor, who sat out Saturday's 33-18 win over Sierra J.C., are still nursing knee injuries, and the extra time will probably get them ready in time for the West Valley tussle.

West Valley is currently kingpin of the conference with three straight victories — 17-0 over San Jose City College, 42-0 over Olohne and 24-21 over Cabrillo. But its real test will come Saturday in a game against American River Junior College, a 27-15 winner over Camino Norte favorite DeAnza two weeks ago.

'FUNNY'

"It's a funny conference," Read said. "You can't really tell by what's happened. For instance, Solano, which is supposed to be real tough, beat Menlo, 42-7, then lost to College of the Redwoods, 41-6, while Menlo went on to beat Santa Rosa."

Read feels his Tars are coming along, especially in the line, which has been a real problem. But reserve strength in the line remains to be shored up.

"We've got a lot of young kids on the line," Read said. "Verdean Herbold of Tamalpais, Mike Russell of Novato and Rich Simpson of Redwood, they're all young and still learning. But they're coming along. But when we put in the second team, they (Sierra) scored 18 points on us."

Read now has an excellent one-two punch at quarterback, with freshman Jim Peters of Redwood High School, pretty much settled into the number one spot.

TWO GOOD ONES

"Jim has been throwing real well," Read said. "He's thrown four scores in the last two games. And Kevin Wilson has turned into a good quarterback. That gives us two outstanding quarterbacks."

Read is a little leery of the layoff.

"I don't particularly like byes myself," he said. "We're going to have controlled practices, so that nobody gets hurt. But it's better having a week off now, then say a week after the first game. At least now we have three games under our belt."

Warriors Try For 3d Straight

EUREKA (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, hoping to continue their winning ways against their foes in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, face the Seattle SuperSonics in an exhibition game tonight.

A victory would be their third in a row. San Francisco got a last-second basket from Al Attles Sunday night to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 102-100 in San Diego, then relied on Jimmy King's hot hand in the fourth quarter Last night to down the Phoenix Suns 119-109 in Los Angeles.

King pumped in 10 of his 19 points to widen the two-point edge the Warriors held as the final period began. Nate Thurmond added 18 for San Francisco while Connie Hawkins of the Suns was the game's top point man with 23.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Blanked On Salmon, Now Trying Trout

During the past hectic week, I did get a salmon fishing trip in with Joe and Molly Mello of Santa Venetia. Joe and his wife had taken six salmon, largest 25 pounds, so I got the "get down here" call for the next morning.

Molly proceeded to take a 25-pounder and a 22-pounder and five bonita, while Joe and I hit nothing. Joe released the first salmon, a five-pounder, because we thought we would get all big fish just like the day before. Ha!

Molly sits on the port stern side of the boat and fishes at 20 feet using three or two pound weights. I duplicated everything she did, but no dice. We fished off the Muir Beach-Slide Ranch areas. She gave me the 22-pounder, and it has roe just perfect for Sierra trout, and that's where I am now.

AT TOMALES Bay, Joe Britto of Inverness took the first striper in the Inverness Derby. He collected the champagne and the two glasses. At least one angler I know of has lost about six bass while trolling. Things are about to break out there.

Some halibut are being taken by the drift fishermen using anchovies from Hog Island to the mouth of Tomales Bay. Salmon fishing seems to be slow, but there has to be silvers around Tomasini and Millerton points.

THE ANNUAL summer herd composition counts of antelope were recently completed with a record number of 2,336 animals classified. Counted were 421 males, 1,135 females and 780 kids. Modoc County topped the list with a total of 1,417 animals.

COMPLAINTS of bear damage to mountain cabins, public campgrounds and some livestock have been numerous in the Shasta County area. One bear was killed on a depredation permit after it had killed a horse at Oakland Camp.

A NOTEWORTHY tag recovery and perhaps representing a longevity record was recently made. A red abalone recovered in Southern California had a tag attached to its shell that was placed there Sept. 14, 1956. It was recovered in July, 1969. During the nearly 13 years of liberty, the shell growth measured 24 m.m. The abalone had grown from 186 to 210 m.m. in length. An inch is .03937 m.m., so 210 m.m. is 8.26 inches and 24 m.m. would equal a one-inch growth of this abalone in 13 years.

Ralston Says Backs Ran Out Of Gas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford Coach John Ralston admits he will have to find a way to keep his defensive backfield from collapsing late in the game when his team runs up against Southern California Saturday night in Los Angeles.

Ralston told the Northern California Football Writers yesterday "the defensive backs probably just ran out of gas" in the fourth quarter of the Indians 36-35 loss to Purdue last Saturday when Boilermaker quarterback Mike Phipps completed 13 straight passes.

MORE RUNNING

"They did more running than they probably do in a week of practice," Ralston said, although he noted some good individual efforts among the defenders.

Aagainst USC, Ralston will again have to worry about a fine passer, Jimmy Jones, but how well Stanford does against the Trojans' awesome running game may well determine the outcome.

Not only is Jones a great runner himself, said the Stanford coach, but Clarence Davis, Lou Harris and Mike Berry are all near the caliber of O.J. Simpson.

Ralston said he did not think the Purdue loss would have an adverse effect on the Indians' morale, saying, "We're going down fully with the idea of winning."

EXPECTS TROUBLE

California Coach Ray Willsey said he expected trouble from Washington, even though the Huskies are winless in three games. Willsey said his defense seemed flat against Rice in a game the Bears didn't win until the final minute.

The writers named Bert Castelanelli of Hayward State as back of the week and Rand Bergstrom of Pacific as lineman of the week.

Castelanelli scored three touchdowns in a 28-21 victory over San Francisco State while Bergstrom performed well at defensive end in the Tigers' 40-21 victory over Fresno State.

MARIN PREP SPORTS NOTEBOOK

'Sophomore Jinx' Hits Tam, San Rafael

By GARY TISCHLER

It always seems that the start of league play changes things for the youngsters. You might even call it the "sophomore jinx."

That seemed to be the case for at least three heralded sophomores who met with nothing but frustration as the Marin County Athletic League football race opened last weekend.

Clifford Hall, the sophomore Tamalpais halfback ace, was held to just 14 yards by a spirited San Marin defense in a 28-13 loss to the Mustangs. Hall was the top rusher in the league over two non-league games with 224 yards.

Scott Duncan, the San Rafael soph flash, had much the same trouble after racking up 157 yards in two non-leaguers. He was held to 12 yards in eight carries in a 17-7 loss to surprisingly tough Drake. And Kirk Gonsloser, the Bulldog sophomore quarterback who had a perfect six-for-six passing record going into the Drake game, saw that go down the drain, as he failed to hit in six attempts and has two passes intercepted.

Jay Lehman, another sophomore, had a good day for Redwood, blasting out 87 yards and scoring one touchdown, the winner, in a 12-7 win over Novato.

LAST WEEKEND also was a bad time for injuries.

First, Bob Sutherland, last year's leading rusher in the MCAL, was knocked out for the year with torn ligaments of the knee. The Drake star is already in a cast.

Terra Linda lost a pair of players for the year in a rough and violent tussle with Castlemont of Oakland. Out for the year will be starting defensive halfback Mike Ditto with a compressed vertabrae, and tailback Mike Williams with a broken foot.

For Williams, the injury was an especially unlucky one. A broken toe had forced him to start practice late, and a broken shoulder had kept him out later on.

DRAKE'S KICKING unit headed by kicker John Lacne is the recipient of the Gordon Tovani kicking award this week. Loane booted two conversions and added a 20-yard field goal in a 17-7 Pirate win. Loane also had a 22-yarder called back because of a 15-yard penalty called for "inter-locking" feet on the line. He also missed in a 38-yard attempt, with the wind blowing it short and to the right.

THINGS WERE a little different for Tomales High School this week. It was Rodoni instead of Petroni.

Halfback Ron Petroni, who rushed for a 1,000 yards plus last season and who led Tomales statistically after two games this year, had to take a small back seat to quarterback Fred Rodoni, who passed for two touchdowns, two conversions and scored once. Petroni wasn't totally inactive, however, gaining 101 yards and scoring once.

THE TOTALLY abject doldrums have hit San Rafael Military Academy. The Cadets have not scored yet in three games, and last Friday wound up in the minus department in more ways than one.

They lost, 58-0 to Kelseyville, Friday, had a safety scored on them, and wound up with minus 34 yards rushing and one yard total passing.

THAT REPORTED 18-17 vote by the Redwood Letterman's Club favoring Tamalpais District superintendent Bob Torrey's decision to suspend athletic grooming regulations temporarily was apparently inconclusive, according to club president Charley Flynn and Redwood basketball star Jerry Piro.

Not all of the athletic letter winners were present and accounted for and another vote is expected to be taken. Meanwhile, according to Piro, 240 of the school's 280 athletes signed a letter in support of Redwood football coach Bob Troppmann who resigned as the school's athletic director when Torry suspended the regulations.

FATHER JOHN HEANY, football assistant coach at Marin Catholic, seems to have quite a few other interests. One of them was crewing in the Jack Daniels sailing regatta on San Francisco Bay last Saturday.

NOVATO'S 12-7 loss to Redwood wasn't indicative of the super performance by Hornet linebacker Dave Perron, which had to be seen to be believed. Time and time again, Perron shot through to make key tackles at the line and behind the line of scrimmage, also cutting down sweeps along the way. He looks a cinch to be in the running for all-league honors for the second straight year.

CAL AGGIES NEXT

Sonoma '11' Shows Big Improvement

"That game was more indicative of what type of game we're capable of," said Sonoma State College football coach Lloyd Helgeson following the Cossacks' 21-7 triumph over Hayward State College's junior varsity team.

The Sonoma Staters are getting ready for another home game, this one Saturday, 2 p.m., against the Cal Aggies junior varsity team, on Petaluma's Durst Field. Last Saturday's victory evened the Cossacks' record at 1-1 after a 65-0 opening loss to Western Arizona Junior College on Sept. 20.

"We continue to improve each week," said Helgeson. "We're still shuffling players around, and after looking at movies of the game against Hayward State we'll probably do more shuffling."

He was especially proud of his defensive team in last Saturday's game. "In the entire second half they (Hayward State) didn't cross their own 40-yard line," he beamed. He singled out defensive tackle Benny Guerra, transfer from Hartnell Junior College, and defensive end Charles Rada, transfer from College of Marin.

Offensively, Helgeson praised the play of his offensive tackles, Mike Johnson and Jim Baker. Statistics of the Cossacks' two running backs told the story of the Sonoma State running game. Herm Manuel gained 155 yards in 22 carries for a 7.1 average and Chris Alvarado carried 20 times for 90 yards, a 4.5 average. He didn't have to do much passing, but quarterback Bill Cox completed three of his six tosses for a whopping 130 yards and two touchdowns.

The Cossacks came out of the game free of injuries, Helgeson said.

Hepatitis Quickly Halts Holy Cross Grid Season

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The Holy Cross football season came to an abrupt halt yesterday when it was discovered that the entire 75-man squad had contracted infectious hepatitis.

For 22 seniors and a new head coach, Bill Whitton, the news was just a bit more difficult to swallow.

"I don't think anyone ever represented Holy Cross football better than you," Whitton told his squad in a final meeting that was not devoid of tears. "My opinion of you has always been high. I've never altered it."

Later, Whitton told a school official: "We have an outstanding group of young men. They deserve better than this."

The disease struck a majority of the team members over the weekend, and Sunday night 19 players were crammed into the school infirmary. The results of blood tests showed yesterday the entire team had been infected, along with seven coaches, four managers, a trainer and the director of sports information.

Athletic Director Vincent G. Dougherty contracted the remaining eight opponents on Holy Cross' 10-game schedule and informed them it would be impossible to fulfill the school's commitment.

Dr. John Shea, vice president for student affairs, said the college would isolate those affected to prevent the spread of the disease to the remainder of the 2,350-member student body.

Hepatitis attacks the liver, but rarely is fatal. It is prevalent chiefly among young people, and the only cure is rest, usually about six weeks.

Health officials have been conducting a general sanitation survey at the school in an effort to pinpoint the source of the disease.

In their two games this year, the Crusaders lost 13-0 to Harvard and 38-6 to Dartmouth. The remainder of the schedule included games against Colgate, Buffalo, Syracuse, Villanova, Massachusetts, Rutgers, Connecticut and Boston College.

A health official said there was no chance the disease was spread to the Dartmouth team in Saturday's game at Hanover, N.H., because the exposure time was not great enough.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Blanked On Salmon, Now Trying Trout

During the past hectic week, I did get a salmon fishing trip in with Joe and Molly Mello of Santa Venetia. Joe and his wife had taken six salmon, largest 25 pounds, so I got the "get down here" call for the next morning.

Molly proceeded to take a 25-pounder and a 22-pounder and five bonita, while Joe and I hit nothing. Joe released the first salmon, a five-pounder, because we thought we would get all big fish just like the day before. Ha!

Molly sits on the port stern side of the boat and fishes at 20 feet using three or two pound weights. I duplicated everything she did, but no dice. We fished off the Muir Beach-Slide Ranch areas. She gave me the 22-pounder, and it has roe just perfect for Sierra trout, and that's where I am now.

AT TOMALES Bay, Joe Britto of Inverness took the first striper in the Inverness Derby. He collected the champagne and the two glasses. At least one angler I know of has lost about six bass while trolling. Things are about to break out there.

Some halibut are being taken by the drift fishermen using anchovies from Hog Island to the mouth of Tomales Bay. Salmon fishing seems to be slow, but there has to be silvers around Tomasini and Millerton points.

THE ANNUAL summer herd composition counts of antelope were recently completed with a record number of 2,336 animals classified. Counted were 421 males, 1,135 females and 780 kids. Modoc County topped the list with a total of 1,417 animals.

COMPLAINTS of bear damage to mountain cabins, public campgrounds and some livestock have been numerous in the Shasta County area. One bear was killed on a depredation permit after it had killed a horse at Oakland Camp.

A NOTEWORTHY tag recovery and perhaps representing a longevity record was recently made. A red abalone recovered in Southern California had a tag attached to its shell that was placed there Sept. 14, 1956. It was recovered in July, 1969. During the nearly 13 years of liberty, the shell growth measured 24 m.m. The abalone had grown from 186 to 210 m.m. in length. An inch is .03937 m.m., so 210 m.m. is 8.26 inches and 24 m.m. would equal a one-inch growth of this abalone in 13 years.

MARIN PREP SPORTS NOTEBOOK

'Sophomore Jinx' Hits Tam, San Rafael

By GARY TISCHLER

It always seems that the start of league play changes things for the youngsters. You might even call it the "sophomore jinx."

That seemed to be the case for at least three heralded sophomores who met with nothing but frustration as the Marin County Athletic League football race opened last weekend.

Clifford Hall, the sophomore Tamalpais halfback ace, was held to just 14 yards by a spirited San Marin defense in a 28-13 loss to the Mustangs. Hall was the top rusher in the league over two non-league games with 224 yards.

Scott Duncan, the San Rafael soph flash, had much the same trouble after racking up 157 yards in two non-leaguers. He was held to 12 yards in eight carries in a 17-7 loss to surprisingly tough Drake. And Kirk Gonsloser, the Bulldog sophomore quarterback who had a perfect six-for-six passing record going into the Drake game, saw that go down the drain, as he failed to hit in six attempts and has two passes intercepted.

Jay Lehman, another sophomore, had a good day for Redwood, blasting out 87 yards and scoring one touchdown, the winner, in a 12-7 win over Novato.

LAST WEEKEND also was a bad time for injuries.

First, Bob Sutherland, last year's leading rusher in the MCAL, was knocked out for the year with torn ligaments of the knee. The Drake star is already in a cast.

Terra Linda lost a pair of players for the year in a rough and violent tussle with Castlemont of Oakland. Out for the year will be starting defensive halfback Mike Ditto with a compressed vertabrae, and tailback Mike Williams with a broken foot.

For Williams, the injury was an especially unlucky one. A broken toe had forced him to start practice late, and a broken shoulder had kept him out later on.

DRAKE'S KICKING unit headed by kicker John Laone is the recipient of the Gordon Tovani kicking award this week. Loane booted two conversions and added a 20-yard field goal in a 17-7 Pirate win. Loane also had a 22-yarder called back because of a 15-yard penalty called for "inter-locking" feet on the line. He also missed in a 38-yard attempt, with the wind blowing it short and to the right.

THINGS WERE a little different for Tomales High School this week. It was Rodoni instead of Petroni.

Halfback Ron Petroni, who rushed for a 1,000 yards plus last season and who led Tomales statistically after two games this year, had to take a small back seat to quarterback Fred Rodoni, who passed for two touchdowns, two conversions and scored once. Petroni wasn't totally inactive, however, gaining 101 yards and scoring once.

THE TOTALLY abject doldrums have hit San Rafael Military Academy. The Cadets have not scored yet in three games, and last Friday wound up in the minus department in more ways than one.

They lost 58-0 to Kelseyville, Friday, had a safety scored on them, and wound up with minus 34 yards rushing and one yard total passing.

THAT REPORTED 18-17 vote by the Redwood Letterman's Club favoring Tamalpais District superintendent Bob Torrey's decision to suspend athletic grooming regulations temporarily was apparently inconclusive, according to club president Charley Flynn and Redwood basketball star Jerry Piro.

Not all of the athletic letter winners were present and accounted for and another vote is expected to be taken. Meanwhile, according to Piro, 240 of the school's 280 athletes signed a letter in support of Redwood football coach Bob Troppmann who resigned as the school's athletic director when Torry suspended the regulations.

FATHER JOHN HEANY, football assistant coach at Marin Catholic, seems to have quite a few other interests. One of them was crewing in the Jack Daniels sailing regatta on San Francisco Bay last Saturday.

NOVATO'S 12-7 loss to Redwood wasn't indicative of the super performance by Hornet linebacker Dave Perron, which had to be seen to be believed. Time and time again, Perron shot through to make key tackles at the line and behind the line of scrimmage, also cutting down sweeps along the way. He looks a cinch to be in the running for all-league honors for the second straight year.

CAL AGGIES NEXT

Sonoma '11' Shows Big Improvement

"That game was more indicative of what type of game we're capable of," said Sonoma State College football coach Lloyd Helgeson following the Cossacks' 21-7 triumph over Hayward State College's junior varsity team.

The Sonoma Staters are getting ready for another home game, this one Saturday, 2 p.m., against the Cal Aggies junior varsity team, on Petaluma's Durst Field. Last Saturday's victory evened the Cossacks' record at 1-1 after a 65-0 opening loss to Western Arizona Junior College on Sept. 20.

"We continue to improve each week," said Helgeson. "We're still shuffling players around, and after looking at movies of the game against Hayward State we'll probably do more shuffling."

He was especially proud of his defensive team in last Saturday's game. "In the entire second half they (Hayward State) didn't cross their own 40-yard line," he beamed. He singled out defensive tackle Benny Guerra, transfer from Hartnell Junior College, and defensive end Charles Rada, transfer from College of Marin.

Offensively, Helgeson praised the play of his offensive tackles, Mike Johnson and Jim Baker. Statistics of the Cossacks' two running backs told the story of the Sonoma State running game. Herm Manuel gained 155 yards in 22 carries for a 7.1 average and Chris Alvarado carried 20 times for 90 yards, a 4.5 average. He didn't have to do much passing, but quarterback Bill Cox completed three of his six tosses for a whopping 130 yards and two touchdowns.

The Cossacks came out of the game free of injuries, Helgeson said.

Hepatitis Quickly Halts Holy Cross Grid Season

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The Holy Cross football season came to an abrupt halt yesterday when it was discovered that the entire 75-man squad had contracted infectious hepatitis.

For 22 seniors and a new head coach, Bill Whitton, the news was just a bit more difficult to swallow.

"I don't think anyone ever represented Holy Cross football better than you," Whitton told his squad in a final meeting that was not devoid of tears. "My opinion of you has always been high. I've never altered it."

Later, Whitton told a school official: "We have an outstanding group of young men. They deserve better than this."

The disease struck a majority of the team members over the weekend, and Sunday night 19 players were crammed into the school infirmary. The results of blood tests showed yesterday the entire team had been infected, along with seven coaches, four managers, a trainer and the director of sports information.

Athletic Director Vincent G. Dougherty contracted the remaining eight opponents on Holy Cross' 10-game schedule and informed them it would be impossible to fulfill the school's commitment.

Dr. John Shea, vice president for student affairs, said the college would isolate those affected to prevent the spread of the disease to the remainder of the 2,350-member student body.

Hepatitis attacks the liver, but rarely is fatal. It is prevalent chiefly among young people, and the only cure is rest, usually about six weeks.

In their two games this year, the Crusaders lost 13-0 to Harvard and 38-6 to Dartmouth. The remainder of the schedule included games against Colgate, Buffalo, Syracuse, Villanova, Massachusetts, Rutgers, Connecticut and Boston College.

A health official said there was no chance the disease was spread to the Dartmouth team in Saturday's game at Hanover, N.H., because the exposure time was not great enough.

Ralston Says Backs Ran Out Of Gas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford Coach John Ralston admits he will have to find a way to keep his defensive backfield from collapsing late in the game when his team runs up against Southern California Saturday night in Los Angeles.

Ralston told the Northern California Football Writers yesterday "the defensive backs probably just ran out of gas" in the fourth quarter of the Indians 36-35 loss to Purdue last Saturday when Boilermaker quarterback Mike Phipps completed 13 straight passes.

MORE RUNNING

"They did more running than they probably do in a week of practice," Ralston said, although he noted some good individual efforts among the defenders.

Aagainst USC, Ralston will again have to worry about a fine passer, Jimmy Jones, but how well Stanford does against the Trojans' awesome running game may well determine the outcome.

Not only is Jones a great runner himself, said the Stanford coach, but Clarence Davis, Lou Harris and Mike Berry are all near the caliber of O.J. Simpson.

Ralston said he did not think the Purdue loss would have an adverse effect on the Indians' morale, saying, "We're going down fully with the idea of winning."

EXPECTS TROUBLE

California Coach Ray Willsey said he expected trouble from Washington, even though the Huskies are winless in three games. Willsey said his defense seemed flat against Rice in a game the Bears didn't win until the final minute.

The writers named Bert Castelanelli of Hayward State as back of the week and Rand Bergstrom of Pacific as lineman of the week.

Castelanelli scored three touchdowns in a 28-21 victory over San Francisco State while Bergstrom performed well at defensive end in the Tigers' 40-21 victory over Fresno State.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1863 William Gladstone, British chancellor of the Exchequer, predicted that the American confederacy would remain separated from the northern United States permanently.

In 1963 Bobby Baker, 34, resigned as Senate secretary for the Democrats after being charged in a $300,000 civil suit with using his influence for personal monetary gain.

A thought for the day: James Matthew Barry said, "Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves."

Mobile Oil To Hear Fate On Remodeling

The Sausalito City Council will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today at city hall on an appeal by Mobil Oil Corp. of the community appearances advisory board's denial of its design application for reconstruction of the Mobil station at Second and Main Street.

Also on the council's agenda are reports from City Mgs. George M. Patterson on the No. 4 bond election and the new animal control program.

Nothing Is Lost By Delaying Finesse For The Missing Queen

If a missing queen is in favorable position at the first trick, it will still be there a few tricks later. This means that you lose nothing by postponing a finesse for the queen from the first trick to some later stage of the play. And if it turns out that the queen was in unfavorable position from the very start, you may be glad that you postponed the finesse.

"FREE" FINESSE

West led the ten of hearts, and South tried a "free" finesse with dummy's jack. East covered with the queen, and South won with the ace. He thought the finesse was free because he could win the trick if East had the queen, but the maneuver turned out to be very costly.

South went after the diamonds, and West took the ace at once in order to lead the nine of hearts. Declarer couldn't gain by holding up, and West managed to establish his suit.

South had only eight tricks in spades, hearts and diamonds, but as soon as declarer touched clubs, West took the ace of clubs and defeated the contract with the rest of the hearts. Down one.

WAITING ADVANTAGE

South would make his contract if he didn't try the heart finesse at the first trick. He should play low from dummy and win the first trick with the ace of hearts.

South tackles diamonds, and West takes the ace of diamonds and leads the nine of hearts. Now declarer tries a finesse with the jack, losing to the queen. The advantage of waiting is that East happens to be out of hearts. (And if East had another heart, the suit would not be long enough to threaten the contract.)

MUST SWITCH

East must switch to another suit, and South can knock out the ace of clubs while he still has the king of hearts to control the play. South wins ten tricks instead of only eight, a difference of 730 points.

Leading Indicators By Commerce Dept.

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In reading about current business trends, I have noted several references to "leading indicators." What are they? — R. W.

A. They are a statistical development of our government's effort to measure basic economic processes and to compare these at regular intervals. The indicated movement of these processes has predictive value in determining the change in direction of major business cycles.

As these processes tend to move in concert, though not always to the same timing, those that typically reach peaks or troughs ahead of direct measures of economic activity are called leading (or advance) indicators. Monthly reports on 36 such leaders are published by the U. S. Department of Commerce in Business Conditions Digest. They are closely watched by the experts all the way up to the top levels of the federal government, and sometimes they provoke adverse criticism when economists and politicians do not agree on government's "fine tuning" policies.

Federal authorities since 1938 have been accumulating data on 72 series of economic indicators — leading, coincident and laggard. More recently, a shorter list of 26 series has proved reliable in summarizing business conditions. In abbreviated form the 12 leading indicators are: average work week (hours); nonagricultural placement of workers; net business formations; new orders of durable goods; contracts for plant and equipment; new building permits; manufacturing and trade inventories; industrial materials prices; corporate profits after taxes; ratio of price to unit labor cost; change in consumer installment debt and prices on 500 common stocks.

Because stock prices themselves tend to move in concert with the other 11, the leading indicators are not a primary factor in stock-market forecasting. Since stock prices discount future economic probabilities, they act as a single leading indicator of fair or foul business conditions.

A chart of market movements since World War II shows clearly that bull markets of the past 20 years made their best initial gains in recessionary periods which preceded cyclical business upturns.

Oregon Factor

BEAVERTON, Ore. (UPI) — Tektronix, Inc., will build a $2.8 million factory for die casting and plastics fabrication in the Beaverton Industrial Park. It will employ about 900.

Weak-Side Finish For Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks finished on the weak side today in moderately active trading.

Electronics moved a point or better in each direction, but steels and motors traded in narrowly irregular ranges.

Rails, airlines and aircrafts also traded narrowly and in both directions.

Oils were mixed. So were golding mining and conglomerate issues.

NEW BUILDING FOR NORTHGATE — Slightly different from its original concept proposed earlier this year, this 20,000-square-foot L-shaped building will soon go under construction on Northgate Drive for Western Traveler's Life Insurance Co. The company, now occupying temporary offices at Northgate Industrial Park, will be joined by an affiliate, Mutual Fund Associates, Inc., moving from its present offices in San Francisco. Completion is expected by the end of March 1970.

Conditional Approval Given New Kinney Shoe Location

Conditional approval has been granted by the San Rafael Planning Commission to Kinney Shoe Stores, Inc. of New York to construct a 5,400-square-foot building at the northwest corner of Fourth Street and Alexander Avenue on the Miracle Mile.

The property here was purchased through Herman Deitch, Realtor and the project involves demolishing three homes. This is expected to take place next month. Planned are 21 off-street parking spaces and extensive landscaping.

Kinney operates over 700 family shoe stores throughout the United States and has three factories in Pennsylvania.

CANTERBURY CARPET MARTS has made its second move in about four years, while in San Rafael — this time a block east from the 1435 Fourth Street location and closer to the heart of downtown shopping activity.

New quarters are at 1337 Fourth Street, where Moore's Stationery used to be. This gives store manager Bernard Ill about one-third more space to expand his inventories. It may be another week or two before he fills it up with additional stocks.

Canterbury opened its first San Rafael store at 422 Fourth Street and remained there about 18 months before moving to its last location.

CONSTRUCTION is now expected to start soon on the new home offices of Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. on Northgate Drive, just south of the Northgate Shopping Center. The company has been occupying temporary offices at Northgate Industrial Park since coming to Marin.

The new building of 20,000 square feet on a two-acre site will also house Mutual Fund Associates, which will move its home office here from San Francisco. Both companies are affiliated with Putnam Management Co. of Boston, manager of Putnam mutual funds.

Completion is expected by the end of March 1970.

RICHARD A. EMERY of Novato has been transferred from the Vallejo office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank to the 1 Montgomery Street office in San Francisco. An installment loan officer, he joined the bank in 1963 and has served in Mill Valley, Richmond and Petaluma. He has been at the Vallejo office since 1967.

MRS. LAURIEN S. HANDLEY of Marinwood has been promoted to assistant trust officer in Wells Fargo Bank's private trust department. She has served in the trust department since she joined the bank in 1957.

THE CHARLES J. FRANCIS CO., San Rafael investment securities firm, has announced the publication of a pamphlet on "How to Take a Tax Loss as a Tax Shelter," covering the selling and reacquisition of stock. The pamphlets are available without charge.

RICHARD A. SCOTT of Corte Madera has joined the real estate firm of Earle and Solvason, Inc. and will work on residential and investment properties. He was formerly sales manager for Kaemper and Barrett Distributors in San Francisco.

INSURANCE. Frank A. Tallarida and Andrew B. Andeweil of State Mutual Life's office at Northgate Industrial Park will take special training this month at the home office school in Worcester, Mass. . . . William W. Leading Indicators By Commerce Dept.

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In reading about current business trends, I have noted several references to "leading indicators." What are they? — R. W.

A. They are a statistical development of our government's effort to measure basic economic processes and to compare these at regular intervals. The indicated movement of these processes has predictive value in determining the change in direction of major business cycles.

As these processes tend to move in concert, though not always to the same timing, those that typically reach peaks or troughs ahead of direct measures of economic activity are called leading (or advance) indicators. Monthly reports on 36 such leaders are published by the U. S. Department of Commerce in Business Conditions Digest. They are closely watched by the experts all the way up to the top levels of the federal government, and sometimes they provoke adverse criticism when economists and politicians do not agree on government's "fine tuning" policies.

Federal authorities since 1938 have been accumulating data on 72 series of economic indicators — leading, coincident and laggard. More recently, a shorter list of 26 series has proved reliable in summarizing business conditions. In abbreviated form the 12 leading indicators are: average work week (hours); nonagricultural placement of workers; net business formations; new orders of durable goods; contracts for plant and equipment; new building permits; manufacturing and trade inventories; industrial materials prices; corporate profits after taxes; ratio of price to unit labor cost; change in consumer installment debt and prices on 500 common stocks.

Because stock prices themselves tend to move in concert with the other 11, the leading indicators are not a primary factor in stock-market forecasting. Since stock prices discount future economic probabilities, they act as a single leading indicator of fair or foul business conditions.

A chart of market movements since World War II shows clearly that bull markets of the past 20 years made their best initial gains in recessionary periods which preceded cyclical business upturns.

Oregon Factor

BEAVERTON, Ore. (UPI) — Tektronix, Inc., will build a $2.8 million factory for die casting and plastics fabrication in the Beaverton Industrial Park. It will employ about 900.

Weak-Side Finish For Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks finished on the weak side today in moderately active trading.

Volume of around 10,000,000 shares was ahead of Monday's pace.

Electronics moved a point or better in each direction, but steels and motors traded in narrowly irregular ranges.

Rails, airlines and aircrafts also traded narrowly and in both directions.

Oils were mixed. So were golding mining and conglomerate issues.

NEW BUILDING FOR NORTHGATE — Slightly different from its original concept proposed earlier this year, this 20,000-square-foot L-shaped building will soon go under construction on Northgate Drive for Western Traveler's Life Insurance Co. The company, now occupying temporary offices at Northgate Industrial Park, will be joined by an affiliate, Mutual Fund Associates, Inc., moving from its present offices in San Francisco. Completion is expected by the end of March 1970.

Conditional Approval Given New Kinney Shoe Location

Conditional approval has been granted by the San Rafael Planning Commission to Kinney Shoe Stores, Inc. of New York to construct a 5,400-square-foot building at the northwest corner of Fourth Street and Alexander Avenue on the Miracle Mile.

The property here was purchased through Herman Deitch, Realtor and the project involves demolishing three homes. This is expected to take place next month. Planned are 21 off-street parking spaces and extensive landscaping.

Kinney operates over 700 family shoe stores throughout the United States and has three factories in Pennsylvania.

CANTERBURY CARPET MARTS has made its second move in about four years, while in San Rafael — this time a block east from the 1435 Fourth Street location and closer to the heart of downtown shopping activity.

New quarters are at 1337 Fourth Street, where Moore's Stationery used to be. This gives store manager Bernard Ill about one-third more space to expand his inventories. It may be another week or two before he fills it up with additional stocks.

Canterbury opened its first San Rafael store at 422 Fourth Street and remained there about 18 months before moving to its last location.

CONSTRUCTION is now expected to start soon on the new home offices of Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. on Northgate Drive, just south of the Northgate Shopping Center. The company has been occupying temporary offices at Northgate Industrial Park since coming to Marin.

The new building of 20,000 square feet on a two-acre site will also house Mutual Fund Associates, which will move its home office here from San Francisco. Both companies are affiliated with Putnam Management Co. of Boston, manager of Putnam mutual funds.

Completion is expected by the end of March 1970.

RICHARD A. EMERY of Novato has been transferred from the Vallejo office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank to the 1 Montgomery Street office in San Francisco. An installment loan officer, he joined the bank in 1963 and has served in Mill Valley, Richmond and Petaluma. He has been at the Vallejo office since 1967.

MRS. LAURIEN S. HANDLEY of Marinwood has been promoted to assistant trust officer in Wells Fargo Bank's private trust department. She has served in the trust department since she joined the bank in 1957.

THE CHARLES J. FRANCIS CO., San Rafael investment securities firm, has announced the publication of a pamphlet on "How to Take a Tax Loss as a Tax Shelter," covering the selling and reacquisition of stock. The pamphlets are available without charge.

RICHARD A. SCOTT of Corte Madera has joined the real estate firm of Earle and Solvason, Inc. and will work on residential and investment properties. He was formerly sales manager for Kaemper and Barrett Distributors in San Francisco.

INSURANCE. Frank A. Tallarida and Andrew B. Andeweil of State Mutual Life's office at Northgate Industrial Park will take special training this month at the home office school in Worcester, Mass. . . . William W. Ryan of Sausalito, general agent for National Life of Vermont in San Francisco and Northern California, attended the company's general agents management seminar in Montpelier, Vt., last week.

ANDREW J. BARACAO of Novato, parts manager with Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury, San Rafael, has been graduated from the advanced retail selling courses conducted by the San Francisco Ford Marketing Institute.

DAVID SEDERQUIST, head of Action Alarm Co., Tiburon and distributor for Dictograph Security Systems, was presented the "President's Cup" at Dictograph's recent convention in Miami Beach.

Star Chamber Lives, In Smog Control District

Three hundred and twenty-eight years later, however, some of its practices remain in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The star chamber was a creation of the kings of England to reserve rights of inquisition and punishment not allotted to the ordinary courts. According to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, writing in "An Almanac of Liberty," it served a worthy purpose in the turbulent 15th Century, reducing lawlessness at a time when the regular courts were too corrupt to act.

But the star chamber itself became corrupt. That it would do so was foreordained, because it could act on its own initiative, be both accuser and judge, dispense with rules of evidence, make up its own punishments — and do it all in secret.

That is why the long parliament, on Aug. 6, 1641, abolished it forever.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Bay Area Air Pollution Control District was created to fill a worthy purpose. Control of air pollution was beyond the reach of the ordinary agencies of law enforcement and the ordinary courts.

And so, when the people of the Bay Area voted to create the air pollution control district, they empowered it to act on its own initiative, be both accuser and judge, dispense with rules of evidence, and make up its own punishments.

THE DISTRICT HAS, however, usurped this power — where it suits its purpose.

Last week, the district board had before it a request from a citizen for information about what industrial firms were polluting the air, and what amounts and what kinds of pollutants they were emitting. He wanted it, he said, to find out whether the district's regulations were effective.

D. J. Callaghan, the district's chief administrative officer, said that "this is privileged information ... collected for use in a possible enforcement action by an investigative agency," and therefore it would be illegal to release it.

And the district's directors, public officials appointed by counties and cities, accepted that and denied the citizen's request.

CALLAGHAN'S EXPLANATION strikes us as a good deal thinner than the air is over Marin on some days when the wind blows west across the Bay.

The smog district puts out information about how many tons of this or that it has eliminated from the atmosphere, about how pollutants have been reduced by such-and-such percentage. But on those days when the wind blows west, our eyes and noses cause us to wonder whether its regulations — or its enforcement of them — really amount to much. We have a right to know just what is polluting the air — besides automobile exhaust fumes.

SUCH INFORMATION as the citizen asked should be covered by Assemblyman William T. Bagley's Open Records Act. If it is not, we suggest the act be amended so that it will be.

We suggest, also, that the boards of supervisors and city councils who appointed the members of the smog board call on their appointees for reports of their stewardship — reports that are long overdue.

California Taxpayers Benefit From 'Old-Fashioned' Buying

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Startling price gaps in purchases by California and the federal government have been discovered in a survey by the U.S. controller general's office.

The same electric typewriter that costs the state $218.50, for example, costs the feds $414. And the state pays $16.85 for tires that cost Washington $29.60.

The explanation for the price gaps, according to a report by the Oakland Tribune, is that California uses the old-fashioned, but impartial, system of competitive bidding, while Washington generally uses the "modern" system of negotiating contracts with suppliers.

The state spells out specifications for merchandise it wants, then lets suppliers bid on it. But the feds set a price mutually agreeable to the government and several selected suppliers, then buy from any of the suppliers at the agreed price.

IT DOESN'T TAKE a political scientist to figure out that hanky-panky is far harder to conceal under the state's system than under the loose federal system.

There certainly must be some proper explanation of why the feds pay $31.60 for a radio part that costs the state only $10.40, and $650 for a piano that costs the state $525.

The price gap, which extends to hundreds of items, is doubly startling because Washington buys in much larger volume from the same manufacturers.

If the state's buying record is as good as it seems, then local governments should do more of their purchasing through the state.

Taxpayers probably wouldn't detect any relief, but more of them would be able to stay off relief after the tax collector's visit.

ANOTHER STRIKING difference between state and federal costs came in estimates for new government offices in Sacramento and Washington.

Office space in the new twin-tower state capitol proposed by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, would cost about $40 a square foot. But, according to the American Institute of Architects, the proposed extension of the west front of the national capitol would provide new offices costing $166.95 a square foot.

AND THEN THERE was a special delivery letter from Washington, sent by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. It cost the taxpayers 51 cents to mail, and announced his then pending visit to Marin — almost three weeks after it was widely reported in the press.

Hot statistics just worked out by fact hounds at the Golden Gate Bridge show it cost $365 a linear inch to build. Also, if the seven million rivets in it were placed end to end, without their heads, they would stretch some 500 miles.

Thought you'd like to know.

Due to unfortunate circumstances, on Sept. 15 I called the Marin County Humane Society to have them send a man to my home to pick up our pet dog.

Not realizing it at the time but later I was to find out that I was a very ill person and hospitalized the same day. Evidently the man from the Humane Society was aware of this and he stayed at my home much longer than was necessary to take the dog. He was concerned as to my well being.

I wish to publicly thank him and all others working with the Humane Society, as my case proves their concern is not only with the animals of Marin County but the human aspect too.

Parents Support Coach's Position

We were proud to have our son's picture in the I-J on Thursday, Sept. 25, alongside a man of such fine character as Coach (Robert J.) Troppmann. He exemplifies the character in a man that we hope our son will attain some day. We support the coaching staff at Redwood High School 100 per cent and believe in the right of the coach to have rules and regulations for their teams whether they pertain to drinking, smoking, hours, hair, dress and conduct. We can assemble a great many parents of Redwood High School students of the same opinion.

Young Athletes Free To Choose

I have been active in the field of physical education and coaching for 30 years, but I have never been so outraged by anything as much as I have at the treatment of Mr. Bob Troppmann.

Coach Troppmann has been an outstanding member of our profession for many years, and by his examples, his methods and his teaching of values has proved himself an invaluable friend to the youth whom he has influenced, and an almost irreplacable asset to the community.

Now he is being attacked because he adheres to these values. Every youth at Redwood has the right to try out for any team, if he is eligible. Every youth does not have the right to play on any team unless the coach finds him physically and morally acceptable, and seems that he will be an asset to the team. Any youth or group of youths who question the coach's authority can hardly be considered assets to that coach.

If you expect your coach to lead and set an example then support him. If a youngster really wants to play ball he won't get hung up on what he considers a coach's whim. The youth of today must learn (as we did) that sometimes we must make a choice — so the boys at Redwood can take their first step forward to manhood and make a choice, "If I really want to play ball, I'll get a haircut; if not, I'm free to let it grow and watch the games."

How then, in this face of freedom of choice option, can the administrators give in to those forces who are trying to coerce them into abrogating Mr. Troppmann's authority?

Litter, Gym Problems Annoy

I'm a student at San Rafael High School, and their are two problems with this school that I think ought to be brought to the public.

One is the litter problem they have here. You should see the lovely view we get from the classrooms upstairs after our lunch break of the football and baseball area. It's nothing but a garbage mess, brown lunch bags all over the field, and other bits of trash from the people who eat their lunch out there to avoid being caught for smoking. Why can't they at least put some garbage cans out there that should help?

The second problem is why they suddenly decided to make the old gym and boys' locker room earthquake proof. Because of this action we will not be able to suit up for P.E. Why wasn't this construction job started and completed during our summer vacation for it would be ready when school opened and therefore we could have P.E. all year?

Why and how do situations such as these even occur in our high schools?

Cal Coolidge, one of the most underrated wits in political annals, one day was called upon for the usual imbecilic chore of scratching out the first shovelful of dirt for a new post office project. He did so grudgingly and was about to make a beeline for his limousine when an aide reminded him he had been expected to say a few words. Coolidge scowled at his audience, observed, "You've got some nice fishworms in this ground," and departed.

A lady who simply could not resist nibbling fruit, candy, and nuts between meals finally got so fat that a desperate remedy seemed called for. She elected to paste inside her refrigerator door a cut-out of a slender, perfectly built, unclad nymph.

The reminder worked like a charm. In one month she lost 11 pounds. Unfortunately, during the same period, her husband peered inside the refrigerator so often, he gained 12.

Population Explosion At Root Of Troubles In Latin America

WASHINGTON — In a curious atmosphere of unreality the Nixon administration seems increasingly to be trying to cope with problems not of the future nor even of the present, but with a past that is in itself irrelevant to the point of unreality.

The White House and the State Department are brewing up a policy for Latin America. Presumably, the new mixture will be grounded on the findings of Gov. Nelson Rockerfeller, whose unhappy mission to the Americas to the south generated violence and destruction in almost every capital.

WHAT ROCKEFELLER could have added to the voluminous reports of the diplomatic and aid missions the United States maintains throughout the hemisphere was never clear. The simple truth is that there is one overwhelming reality and it is written in letters of fire across the southern sky — the population explosion. The figures for 1969 from the Population Reference Bureau show Latin America with the highest net increase of any area in the world.

This tidal wave of human fertility swamps the grandiose plans of the Alliance for Progress. All that the Agency for International Development pours in is absorbed by new mouths to feed and the pressing demand for education and technical training.

Unless population planning on a vastly enlarged scale is central to a new policy for Latin America, it will be wasted money and effort. The old politics and the old diplomacy are as outmoded as the stagecoach.

LITTLE COSTA RICA holds the record with a net increase of 3.8 per cent, which means doubling the population in roughly 20 years. But the big countries of South America are not far behing Colombia and Ecuador are each 3.4 and, given the nature of statistics in underdeveloped areas, the actual figure is probably closer to 4. Brazil is 2.8; Chile, where population planning has at least had a start, 2.3; Paraguay 3.4; Peru 3.1. By comparison, in Western Europe where the rate of increase has been steadily dropping, Belgium is 0.1, West Germany 0.4, France 1, the Netherlands 1.1. The rate if increase in the United Sstates is 1 per cent.

Throughout Latin America illegitimacy is steadily rising, as is the incidence of illegal abortion. In desperately poor countries, such as Colombia, septicemia and other illnesses growing out of crude induced abortions absorb the painfully small supply of penicillin and other therapeutics. The human misery that results is incalculable. It is one more penalty for the poverty in which most Latin Americans live.

With half the population throughout most of the nations to the south under 25 or even under 20, education and training are all but impossible, measures against the need. Crime and subversion are the end result, as more and more of the young find no place in organized society. Even a highly developed nation with advanced technology would find it difficult to asborb the fllood of youths in search of education and some means of livelihood.

WHETHER AID could be made conditional on expanding programs of population control is a ticklish question. This gets into national pride and religious and political prejudice. But it should not be impossible to find a way to relate the menace of the tidal wave of people to the form that American assistance takes.

The pessimists can find many reasons why population control will never work — inertia; prejudice; the inability, including lack of funds and trained personnel, to set up proper methods of birth control; and ignorance. These may defeat the best intentions and mock the direct warnings. But unless the enormous strides in death control are matched by population control the world by the year 2000 will founder with an estimated seven and a half billion people.

Democracy Wins In Ghana But Faces Hard Tasks

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In 1957 Ghana became black Africa's first independent state. This week it became black Africa's first state to return to civilian rule via free elections after three years of military government.

His Progress Party won 101 of the 140 seats in the Ghanaian assembly in last month's elections which soundly repudiated all links with the ousted regime of Ghana's first president, Kwame Nkrumah.

AT A TIME when many African leaders consider democracy old-fashioned, Busia made it his platform.

"All peoples can achieve and practice democracy if they have enough faith and conviction in its values," he once wrote.

He had served as the leader of Nkrumah's opposition in parliament and then had fled in 1959 to carry on his fight in exile.

In the three years it had held power, the council had done a good job.

It had renegotiated payments on the Nkrumah debts of more than $800 million and it had turned Ghana's foreign trade from a deficit to a surplus of about $68 million.

It had kept its promise to restore democracy and as it turned the government over to civilian rule it could say that not a single political prisoner remained in jail.

AMONG GHANA'S assets is its energetic and intelligent population of a little more than seven million.

But, besides its huge national debt, the new government faces problems of inflation, unemployment and the question of what to do with the uneconomic state enterprises established by Nkrumah.

The Liberation Council sought to persuade foreign companies to take over some of the losing state enterprises but with limited success. The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. operates a tire factory and rubber plantations.

It must step up the production of cocoa, its principal product, which has been losing ground to other countries.

It must somehow try to satisfy a middle tier in its population which liked neither the country's earlier flirtation with the Communists nor its later dependence on the West.

And it must find a solution to a problem exemplified by the civil war in Nigeria, which is mounting tribal differences.

Star Chamber Lives, In Smog Control District

Three hundred and twenty-eight years later, however, some of its practices remain in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The star chamber was a creation of the kings of England to reserve rights of inquisition and punishment not allotted to the ordinary courts. According to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, writing in "An Almanac of Liberty," it served a worthy purpose in the turbulent 15th Century, reducing lawlessness at a time when the regular courts were too corrupt to act.

But the star chamber itself became corrupt. That it would do so was foreordained, because it could act on its own initiative, be both accuser and judge, dispense with rules of evidence, make up its own punishments — and do it all in secret.

That is why the long parliament, on Aug. 6, 1641, abolished it forever.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Bay Area Air Pollution Control District was created to fill a worthy purpose. Control of air pollution was beyond the reach of the ordinary agencies of law enforcement and the ordinary courts.

And so, when the people of the Bay Area voted to create the air pollution control district, they empowered it to act on its own initiative, be both accuser and judge, dispense with rules of evidence, and make up its own punishments.

But they did not empower it to do it all in secret.

THE DISTRICT HAS, however, usurped this power — where it suits its purpose.

Last week, the district board had before it a request from a citizen for information about what industrial firms were polluting the air, and what amounts and what kinds of pollutants they were emitting. He wanted it, he said, to find out whether the district's regulations were effective.

D. J. Callaghan, the district's chief administrative officer, said that "this is privileged information ... collected for use in a possible enforcement action by an investigative agency," and therefore it would be illegal to release it.

And the district's directors, public officials appointed by counties and cities, accepted that and denied the citizen's request.

CALLAGHAN'S EXPLANATION strikes us as a good deal thinner than the air is over Marin on some days when the wind blows west across the Bay.

The smog district puts out information about how many tons of this or that it has eliminated from the atmosphere, about how pollutants have been reduced by such-and-such percentage. But on those days when the wind blows west, our eyes and noses cause us to wonder whether its regulations — or its enforcement of them — really amount to much. We have a right to know just what is polluting the air — besides automobile exhaust fumes.

SUCH INFORMATION as the citizen asked should be covered by Assemblyman William T. Bagley's Open Records Act. If it is not, we suggest the act be amended so that it will be.

We suggest, also, that the boards of supervisors and city councils who appointed the members of the smog board call on their appointees for reports of their stewardship — reports that are long overdue.

In 1957 Ghana became black Africa's first independent state. This week it became black Africa's first state to return to civilian rule via free elections after three years of military government.

His Progress Party won 101 of the 140 seats in the Ghanaian assembly in last month's elections which soundly repudiated all links with the ousted regime of Ghana's first president, Kwame Nkrumah.

AT A TIME when many African leaders consider democracy old-fashioned, Busia made it his platform.

"All peoples can achieve and practice democracy if they have enough faith and conviction in its values," he once wrote.

He had served as the leader of Nkrumah's opposition in parliament and then had fled in 1959 to carry on his fight in exile.

In the three years it had held power, the council had done a good job.

It had renegotiated payments on the Nkrumah debts of more than $800 million and it had turned Ghana's foreign trade from a deficit to a surplus of about $68 million.

It had kept its promise to restore democracy and as it turned the government over to civilian rule it could say that not a single political prisoner remained in jail.

AMONG GHANA'S assets is its energetic and intelligent population of a little more than seven million.

But, besides its huge national debt, the new government faces problems of inflation, unemployment and the question of what to do with the uneconomic state enterprises established by Nkrumah.

It must encourage foreign investment.

The Liberation Council sought to persuade foreign companies to take over some of the losing state enterprises but with limited success. The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. operates a tire factory and rubber plantations.

It must step up the production of cocoa, its principal product, which has been losing ground to other countries.

It must somehow try to satisfy a middle tier in its population which liked neither the country's earlier flirtation with the Communists nor its later dependence on the West.

And it must find a solution to a problem exemplified by the civil war in Nigeria, which is mounting tribal differences.

Long Effort For Teen Centers; Now, Novato May Get Two

Recreation for teen-agers has been a problem in Novato for many years. It was discussed before the city incorporated 10 years ago. Since incorporation, the recreation department has tried to provide it, but there is still a cry for more.

Several years ago a boys' club was organized, but after years of indifference among the people, it folded its tents and silently disappeared from public view. The nucleus of the organization still exists, but has been inactive for so long that few people remember it.

Then interest rose in a teen center for the city. Last summer a group of teen-agers from low income families formed the teen action committee. The group had about 20 members and tried to get help to start a teen center from the Economic Opportunity Council and other organizations.

Nor was this the only attempt. The city found that it had some "surplus" money which could be used, so the city council authorized negotiating for the Rodoni house directly north of the Community House for a teen center.

AT THE LAST council meeting, the council voted to offer the appraiser's price for the property, so the city may be able to buy the house for a teen center. It has not happened yet, but it looks very promising.

Then a week ago last Friday, the Marin County Office of the Economic Opportunity Council leased the empty store building formerly occupied by Irving Linds Mens' store at 875 Grant Avenue.

A big portion of this building will be used for a teen center for teen-agers from low-income families.

NOW, IF THE CITY of Novato is able to open a teen center on Machin Avenue just north of the Community House, the city will have two of them. It may wind up with one for low-income families and the other for the rest of the teen-agers.

If one walks out of the back door at 875 Grant Avenue and across the narrow Cain Lane, he will be on the Rodoni property, so the two teen centers may be just a few feet apart.

This could lead to some class distinction and possibly some clashes between the two. It might turn out like the town in the nursery rhyme which had two cats that fought until it had no cats.

WITH A SCHOOL bus accident last Tuesday and three school children being injured on their way home from Sinaloa Junior High School last Thursday, maybe Novato had better take a long, hard look at the priorities for spending its money.

What does it need the most? A big city park, a teen center, or street improvements to give the school children sidewalks to walk on?

Proponents of a park have had an influential voice in determining city policy. Proponents have an equally influential voice in trying to get a teen center.

So far no one has raised a powerful voice for the school children walking down streets so narrow that two cars can barely pass each other on them. It was on such a street that last Thursday's accident happened. Novato has many miles of them, and school children will walk over them.

It is a decision of play, parks, or safety.

There is measure in everything. There are fixed limits beyond which and short of which right cannot find resting-place. — Horace.

Creeping Consumerism Poses Menace Congress Must Meet

WASHINGTON — Is the consumer revolution doing more harm than good? Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans seems to think so. In a recent meeting with trade association officials in Washington, he expressed the fear that the consumer revolution in which consumers demand more protection from the federal government could get out of hand. He said the country should evaluate where it was heading, and ask ". . . whether we are going to let the wave of consumerism move too far and destroy the freedom of choice of the consumer."

It was the first time any high official of the government had mentioned the dangers of "consumerism" which, if allowed to go unchecked, could destroy the free enterprise system.

FBI STATISTICS show that there are more unhappy consumers in this country than Communists, and efforts must be made to eradicate "consumerism" before it spreads throughout the nation.

The best way to do this would be to hold hearings in front of the House Anticonsumerism Committee. Harold Feldkamp, an unfriendly witness, is called to the stand.

"Feldkamp, we understand that on Jan. 20, 1969, you showed up at the Godfather Motor Co. and made a scene in front of the customers. Is this true?"

"Yes, sir. You see, I bought a new car and the first day I drove to work the door fell off it."

"WE DIDN'T ask you to make a statement, Feldkamp."

"But I paid $4,500 for the car, and I figured the door shouldn't have fallen off it — at least not the first day."

"I'm sorry."

"ALL RIGHT, let's proceed. Feldkamp, have you now or have you ever been a member of the Consumer Party?"

"No, I've never been a member of the party."

"But you have flirted with consumerism?"

"Let's say I've been on the fringes. I'm not for the violent overthrow of the National Association of Manufacturers. But gee whiz, you'd think you could get a car with a door that would stay on. I'd also like to say I'm not too thrilled with tires either."

"FELDKAMP, I must warn you again that you are not here to make speeches. Now, how many consumers are in your cell?"

"I don't belong to a cell."

"Don't tell us, Feldkamp, that you operate alone. We all know that consumerism is a world-wide conspiracy."

"I'm not a member of any conspiracy."

"DO YOU KNOW a Milton Orshefsky?"

"Yes, I play poker with him."

"Did you know he was a consumer?"

"No, I didn't."

"Did you know he bought a new washing machine, and when the lint filter on it wouldn't work, he threatened to sue the company that manufactured it?"

"No, I didn't know that."

"DO YOU KNOW a Frank White?"

"Yes, he was in my car pool until the door fell off my car."

"Did you know his wife went to school with Ralph Nader?"

"No, I didn't. He never talked about his wife."

"Does the name Dmitri Kessel mean anything to you?"

"I played golf with him once or twice."

"Did you know that Dmitri Kessel's wife bought some bad hamburger at a supermarket and reported the store to the health authorities?"

"I wasn't aware of it."

"FELDKAMP, it would be easier for you if you told us the names of all the consumers you know. If you confess, the Department of Commerce will show some leniency toward you."

"I'm innocent."

"All right, Feldkamp. You've had your chance. We're turning over your file to Secretary of Commerce Stans. He's not as broadminded about these matters as we are."

Tam Trustees Name Discipline Committee

The board did take several minor actions, however, while waiting for the hearing to shift to the more spacious gymnasium and after the hearing was concluded at 12:10 a.m. today.

Twenty-one persons were appointed to the 1969-70 discipline committee, one of two committees which will report their findings on the hair rules Nov. 3.

Committee members will be Ken Bullock and Robert Morgan, Sir Francis Drake High School students; Diane Newton and Charlene Jessup, Redwood High School students; Merrill Convis, Drake teacher; John Thompson, Redwood teacher; Edward R. McClellan, Tamalpais High School teacher; Donald Kreps, Redwood principal; Francis E. Mulholland, Drake dean of boys; Norman I. Cady, Tam administration; George T. Janicula and Edward J. Neumeier, district office.

Citizens on the board will be Ruth Downing, Ellen Binckley and Helen Washington, representing Tamalpais; Marge McGee, Elaine Brockbank and Margaret Jones, representing Redwood; George Stone, James Miller and Mary Olive, representing Drake.

The board set a closed meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 13 to discuss firing a classified employee.

The Tamalpais High School District Board also:

MANAGEMENT — Named a management committee to follow up recommendations in the Arthur D. Little report on the district administration. Members are the trustees; Supt. Robert D. Torrey, James L. Pierce and Frank A. Cassou of the administration; principals Raymond J. Bell, Harold Allison and Donald Kreps; teachers Robert O. Bachelder, Duane F. Miller and Richard J. Mason, and students Jerry Piro, Mark Shepherd and Karen Howard.

PORTABLES — Was told that portable classrooms being installed will take until Nov. 10 to complete. One at Drake may be ready this week, three at Tamalpais next week, one for the Opportunity School on Nov. 1 and one for art and music classes at Redwood on Nov. 10, Torrey said.

FIRE PROTECTION — Was told that more fire hydrants may be needed at the three campuses because of the new portables.

LEAVES — Granted maternity leave to Karen Emmon, teacher at Drake, for the spring semester and military leave to Milton Johnson, Drake teacher, from Oct. 6 through 22.

Nursery Workshop Is Scheduled Saturday

The fall workshop of the North Bay Chapter, Association for the Education of Young Children, will be held 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday at Granada School in Corte Madera.

A folk guitar teacher will demonstrate group music with several children and Sonoma State College students will exhibit science projects and discuss ways of increasing science experience with pre-schoolers.

Members Of Panels Due Meeting Funds

Members of five Corte Madera town commissions last night were authorized $10-per-meeting salaries after the town council received a legal opinion from the state that the payment was proper.

Receiving the $10 per diem for regular meetings and $5 for special sessions will be the members of the town's planning commission, board of adjustments, board of design review, park and recreation and sanitary commissions.

The town council had approved the pay last May, but held up actual payment until it had received a legal opinion from the state's Legislative Counsel.

The members will now receive payment retroactive to July 1, the start of the current fiscal year. The money for the payments, approximately $5,000, has been included in this year's budget.

The councilmen are already paid $150 a month.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

PROBATION PERIOD — Approved lengthening from six months to one year the probation period for town employees hired after Oct. 20. Raises and vacation benefits will not be altered by the policy change.

TINY TOTS PARK — Approved including the San Clemente and Marin Estates tot parks in the city maintenance system.

GOLF HATS — Approved a home occupation permit allowing Mrs. Donald C. Roberts to design and sew womens' golfing hats in her home at 26 Foremast Cove.

TURFING CONTRACT — Approved the final plans and specifications for turfing the east section of Town Park, a project which is estimated to cost about $13,000. Bids will be opened Oct. 20 at 10 a.m. on the project.

LAGOON PUMP — Authorized $350 to be used to construct an extension of the lagoon pump discharge pipe to below water level in order to abate the noise caused currently by the fall of 8,000 gallons per minute. Neighbors in the lagoon area had complained about the noise.

Park Damage Will Be Written Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will write off a claim of $71,795 against the Southern Christian Leadership Conference for damage to a Washington park during the Poor People's Campaign if it gets $10,500, the Justice Department says.

Asst. Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus, chief of the civil division, said the reduced settlement was agreed upon during extensive negotiations with the SCLC.

'OUTHOUSE' RETURNS TO CORTE MADERA

The Ozark Outhouse has returned —albeit temporarily — to Corte Madera.

The Ozark Outhouse, so dubbed by the Marin Estates Homeowners Association, is the small wooden shack which used to serve as protection during inclement weather for the crossing guard at El Camino Avenue and Paradise Drive.

It did, indeed, look like an outhouse.

Because of this, the homeowner's association several months ago persuaded the town council to remove the shack, which they said diminished the value of their homes and property with its somewhat homey, humble look.

But the council last night authorized the return of the "outhouse" to its former station temporarily while the city hurridely constructs another, more attractive hut, designed by a homeowners association member.

Closed Talks Slated On Marin City Issues

The possibility that the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency may go to court over the development — or lack o fit — by the Marin Development Corp. in Marin City was raised today as the two panels scheduled a joint closed meeting at the Homestead Terrace Community room in Mill Valley tonight.

The closed meeting, to discuss "potential litigation" involving the development firm, which bowed out of its exclusive development contract for Marin City two months ago, was set following the housing authority's 7:30 p.m. and the redevelopment agency's 8:30 p.m. meetings.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of both, would not elaborate on what legal action may be taken but did suggest that counter suits might be filed by the county agencies and the New York-based developers.

Negotiation of Marin Development's (formerly California Development Corp.) withdrawal has been stalled since the company announced it was getting out of Marin City. The firm for years was the target of some Marin City residents who contended the pace of development in the city was far too slow.

Stutsma nhas been negotiating with the firm for purchase of the ridgeland property above Marin City and also on terms of the withdrawal from the rest of Marin City.

San Francisco Adopts Own Song

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A composition that's already sold 23 million single records, "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," is now the official song of the city of windy hills and cable cars.

The song's composer and lyricist, George Cory and Douglass Cross, were present yesterday for the Board of supervisors unanimous decision.

Since singer Tony Bennett recorded the tune in 1962, it has been translated into 25 laungua-ges and sold approximately 2 million discs abroad.

The composers, who live in Lake County north of San Francisco, were later honored at a cocktail party at the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

False Honey Maker Sentenced

MOSCOW (AP) — An enterprising beekeeper near Moscow has been sentenced to seven years in confinement for manufacturing 20 tons of artificial honey and selling it for 24,000 rubles, or $26,400 at the official rate.

The labor union newspaper Trud reported today that N. Poladov was convicted of engaging in free enterprise and misrepresenting his product as natural honey.

The fake honey was sold at several markets near Moscow for a year before he was exposed, the paper said.

Members of five Corte Madera town commissions last night were authorized $10-per-meeting salaries after the town council received a legal opinion from the state that the payment was proper.

Receiving the $10 per diem for regular meetings and $5 for special sessions will be the members of the town's planning commission, board of adjustments, board of design review, park and recreation and sanitary commissions.

The town council had approved the pay last May, but held up actual payment until it had received a legal opinion from the state's Legislative Counsel.

The members will now receive payment retroactive to July 1, the start of the current fiscal year. The money for the payments, approximately $5,000, has been included in this year's budget.

The councilmen are already paid $150 a month.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

! PROBATION PERIOD — Approved lengthening from six months to one year the probation period for town employees hired after Oct. 20. Raises and vacation benefits will not be altered by the policy change.

TINY TOTS PARK — Approved including the San Clemente and Marin Estates tot parks in the city maintenance system.

GOLF HATS — Approved a home occupation permit allowing Mrs. Donald C. Roberts to design and sew womens' golfing hats in her home at 26 Foremast Cove.

TURFING CONTRACT — Approved the final plans and specifications for turfing the east section of Town Park, a project which is estimated to cost about $13,000. Bids will be opened Oct. 20 at 10 a.m. on the project.

LAGOON PUMP — Authorized $350 to be used to construct an extension of the lagoon pump discharge pipe to below water level in order to abate the noise caused currently by the fall of 8,000 gallons per minute. Neighbors in the lagoon area had complained about the noise.

Park Damage Will Be Written Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will write off a claim of $71,795 against the Southern Christian Leadership Conference for damage to a Washington park during the Poor People's Campaign if it gets $10,500, the Justice Department says.

Asst. Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus, chief of the civil division, said the reduced settlement was agreed upon during extensive negotiations with the SCLC.

'OUTHOUSE' RETURNS TO CORTE MADERA

The Ozark Outhouse has returned —albeit temporarily — to Corte Madera.

The Ozark Outhouse, so dubbed by the Marin Estates Homeowners Association, is the small wooden shack which used to serve as protection during inclement weather for the crossing guard at El Camino Avenue and Paradise Drive.

Because of this, the homeowner's association several months ago persuaded the town council to remove the shack, which they said diminished the value of their homes and property with its somewhat homey, humble look.

But the council last night authorized the return of the "outhouse" to its former station temporarily while the city hurridely constructs another, more attractive hut, designed by a homeowners association member.

Tiburon Author To Be Featured Speaker

Louise Teather of Tiburon, author of "Island of Six Names," will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Friends of the Larkspur Library at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 16 at the Larkspur library.

Closed Talks Slated On Marin City Issues

The possibility that the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency may go to court over the development — or lack o fit — by the Marin Development Corp. in Marin City was raised today as the two panels scheduled a joint closed meeting at the Homestead Terrace Community room in Mill Valley tonight.

The closed meeting, to discuss "potential litigation" involving the development firm, which bowed out of its exclusive development contract for Marin City two months ago, was set following the housing authority's 7:30 p.m. and the redevelopment agency's 8:30 p.m. meetings.

Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of both, would not elaborate on what legal action may be taken but did suggest that counter suits might be filed by the county agencies and the New York-based developers.

Negotiation of Marin Development's (formerly California Development Corp.) withdrawal has been stalled since the company announced it was getting out of Marin City. The firm for years was the target of some Marin City residents who contended the pace of development in the city was far too slow.

Stutsma nhas been negotiating with the firm for purchase of the ridgeland property above Marin City and also on terms of the withdrawal from the rest of Marin City.

San Francisco Adopts Own Song

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A composition that's already sold 23 million single records, "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," is now the official song of the city of windy hills and cable cars.

The song's composer and lyricist, George Cory and Douglass Cross, were present yesterday for the Board of supervisors unanimous decision.

Since singer Tony Bennett recorded the tune in 1962, it has been translated into 25 laungua-ges and sold approximately 2 million discs abroad.

The composers, who live in Lake County north of San Francisco, were later honored at a cocktail party at the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

False Honey Maker Sentenced

MOSCOW (AP) — An enterprising beekeeper near Moscow has been sentenced to seven years in confinement for manufacturing 20 tons of artificial honey and selling it for 24,000 rubles, or $26,400 at the official rate.

The labor union newspaper Trud reported today that N. Poladov was convicted of engaging in free enterprise and misrepresenting his product as natural honey.

The fake honey was sold at several markets near Moscow for a year before he was exposed, the paper said.
